Ohio Sunshine Laws 2017

Dear Ohioans,

My number one priority as Attorney General is to protect Ohio families. My office does this in a variety of ways, but one important way is by fostering a spirit of open government and by promoting Ohio's Public Records Law and Open Meetings Law. Together, these laws are known as the "Ohio Sunshine Laws," and they are among the most comprehensive open government laws in the nation.

The Attorney General's Office and its Public Records Unit stand as one of the state's foremost authorities on open government law. The 2017 Ohio Sunshine Laws Manual draws on that expertise to give the public (and public officials) a one-stop resource for up-to-date information on Ohio's Sunshine Laws. The electronic version of this edition has clickable links to court decisions and other online resources to help readers quickly find the information they need.

Additionally, my office provides a number of other Ohio Sunshine Laws resources:

- Along with the Ohio Auditor of State's Office, we provide Ohio Sunshine Laws training across the state for elected officials and the public. This training is also available in a convenient online option.
- My office has created a model public records policy that local governments can use as a guide for creating their own public records policies.

By providing elected officials, public employees, and Ohio citizens with information about public records and compliance, we help ensure accountability and transparency in the conduct of public business. Please visit my office's Ohio Sunshine Laws website, www.OhioAttorneyGeneral.gov/Sunshine, to find all of these resources.

This manual is intended as a guide. Because much of open government law comes from interpretation of the Ohio Sunshine Laws by the courts, we encourage local governments to seek guidance from their legal counsel for specific questions.

Thank you for your part in promoting open government in Ohio.

Very respectfully yours,

Mike DeWine
Ohio Attorney General

Over 200 Years of Sunshine: Reflections on Open Government

Ohio Supreme Court Justice Charles Zimmerman:

“ The rule in Ohio is that public records are the people’s records, and that the officials in whose custody they happen to be are merely trustees for the people; therefore anyone may inspect such records at any time, subject only to the limitation that such inspection does not endanger the safety of the record, or unreasonably interfere with the discharge of the duties of the officer having custody of the same. State ex rel. Patterson v. Ayers, 171 Ohio St. 369, 371 (1960). ”

Thomas Jefferson:

Patrick Henry:

“ The liberties of a people never were, nor ever will be, secure, when the transactions of their rulers may be concealed from them. ... [T]o cover with the veil of secrecy the common routine of business, is an abomination in the eyes of every intelligent man. ”

James Madison:

“ A popular government, without popular information, or the means of acquiring it, is but a prologue to a farce or a tragedy; or, perhaps both. Knowledge will forever govern ignorance: And a people who mean to be their own governors, must arm themselves with the power which knowledge gives. ”

John Adams:

“ Liberty cannot be preserved without a general knowledge among the people, who have a right ... and a desire to know; but besides this, they have a right, an indisputable, unalienable, indefeasible, divine right to that most dreaded and envied kind of knowledge, I mean, of the characters and conduct of their rulers. ”

Glossary

When learning about the Ohio Sunshine Laws, you may confront some legal terms that are unfamiliar to you. Below are the more common terms used in this handbook.

Charter

A charter is an instrument established by the citizens of a municipality, which is roughly analogous to a state's constitution. A charter outlines certain rights, responsibilities, liberties, or powers that exist in the municipality.

Discovery

Discovery is a pre-trial practice by which parties to a lawsuit disclose to each other documents and other information in an effort to avoid any surprises at trial. The practice serves the dual purpose of permitting parties to be well prepared for trial and enabling them to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of their case.

In camera

In camera means "in chambers." A judge will often review records that are at issue in a public records dispute in camera to evaluate whether they are subject to any exemptions or defenses that may prevent disclosure.

Injunction

An injunction is a court order commanding that a person act or cease to act in a certain way. For instance, a person who believes a public body has violated the Open Meetings Act will file a complaint seeking injunctive relief. The court may then issue an order enjoining the public body from further violations of the act and requiring it to correct any damage caused by past violations.

Litigation

The term "litigation" refers to the process of carrying on a lawsuit, i.e., a legal action and all the proceedings associated with it.

Mandamus

The term means literally "we command." In this area of law, it refers to the legal action that a party files when they believe they have been wrongfully denied access to public records. The full name of the action is a petition for a writ of mandamus. If the party filing the action, or "relator," prevails, the court may issue a writ commanding the public office or person responsible for the public records, or "respondent," to correctly perform a duty that has been violated.

Pro se

The term means "for oneself," and is used to refer to people who represent themselves in court, acting as their own legal counsel.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Overview of the Ohio Public Records Act

Ohio law has long provided for public scrutiny of state and local government records.¹

Ohio's Public Records Act details how to request public records. The Act also excludes certain records from disclosure and enforces production when an office denies a proper public records request. The pages that follow will explain the details of this process; below is an overview of the basic principles.

Any person may request to inspect or obtain copies of public records from a public office that keeps those records. A public office must organize and maintain its public records in a manner that meets its duty to respond to public records requests and must keep a copy of its records retention schedules at a location readily available to the public. When it receives a proper public records request, and unless part or all of a record is exempt from release, a public office must provide inspection of the requested records promptly and at no cost or provide copies at cost within a reasonable period of time.

Unless a specific law states otherwise, a requester does not have to provide a reason for wanting records, provide his or her name, or make the request in writing. However, the request does have to be clear and specific enough for the public office to reasonably identify what public records the requester seeks. A public office can refuse a request if the office no longer keeps the records (pursuant to their records retention schedules), if the request is for documents that are not records of the office, or if the requester does not revise an ambiguous or overly broad request.

The Ohio General Assembly has passed a number of laws that protect certain records by requiring or permitting a public office to withhold them from public release. When a public office invokes one of these exemptions, the office may only withhold a record or part of a record clearly covered by the exemption and must tell the requester on what legal authority it is relying to withhold the record.

A person aggrieved by the alleged failure of a public office to comply with an obligation of the Public Records Act may choose to either (1) file a complaint against the public office in the Court of Claims, or (2) file a mandamus lawsuit against the public office. The new Court of Claims procedures were established by the General Assembly in September 2016 to provide an expedited process for resolving public records disputes. To commence an action in the Court of Claims, the requester must file a specified complaint form, attaching the original public records request and any written responses. The case will first be referred to mediation, and then, if mediation is unsuccessful, proceed on a "fast track" resolution process that is overseen by a special master. In a mandamus lawsuit, the requester will have the burden of showing that they made a proper public records request, and the public office will have the burden of showing the court that it complied with the obligation(s) allegedly violated. If it cannot, the court will order the public office to provide any improperly withheld record, and the public office may be required to pay a civil penalty and attorney fees.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter One: Public Records Defined

I. Chapter One: Public Records Defined

The Public Records Act applies only to “public records,” which the Act defines as “records kept by a public office.”² When making or responding to a public records request, it is important to first establish whether the items sought are really “records,” and if so, whether they are currently being “kept by” an organization that meets the definition of a “public office.” This chapter will review the definitions of each of these key terms and how Ohio courts have applied them.

One of the ways that the Ohio General Assembly removes certain records from the operation of the Public Records Act is to simply remove them from the definition of “public record.” Chapter Three addresses how exemptions to the Act are created and applied.

A. What Is a “Public Office”?

1. Statutory definition – R.C. 149.011(A)

“Public office” includes “any state agency, public institution, political subdivision, or other organized body, office, agency, institution, or entity established by the laws of this state for the exercise of any function of government.”³ An organization that meets the statutory definition of a “public body” (see Open Meetings Act, Chapter One: A. “Public Body”) does not automatically meet the definition of a “public office.”⁴

This definition includes all state and local government offices, and also many agencies not directly operated by a political subdivision, such as police departments operated by private universities.⁵ Examples of entities that previously have been determined to be “public offices” (prior to the *Oriana House*⁶ decision) include:

- Some public hospitals;⁷
- Community action agencies;⁸
- Private non-profit water corporations supported by public money;⁹
- Private non-profit PASSPORT administrative agencies;¹⁰
- Private equity funds that receive public money and are essentially owned by a state agency;¹¹
- Non-profit corporations that receive and solicit gifts for a public university and receive support from taxation;¹²
- Private non-profit county ombudsman offices;¹³ and
- County emergency medical services organizations.¹⁴

³ R.C. 149.011(A). JobsOhio, the non-profit corporation formed under R.C. 187.01, is not a public office for purposes of the Public Records Act, pursuant to R.C. 187.03(A) and R.C. 149.011(A).

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter One: Public Records Defined

2. Private entities can be “public offices”

If there is clear and convincing evidence that a private entity is the “functional equivalent” of a public office, that entity will be subject to the Public Records Act.¹⁵ Under the functional-equivalency test, a court must analyze all pertinent factors, including: (1) whether the entity performs a governmental function; (2) the level of government funding; (3) the extent of government involvement or regulation; and (4) whether the entity was created by the government or to avoid the requirements of the Public Records Act.¹⁶ The functional-equivalency test “is best suited to the overriding purpose of the Public Records Act, which is ‘to allow public scrutiny of public offices, not of all entities that receive funds that at one time were controlled by the government.’”¹⁷ In general, the more it can be shown that a private entity is performing a government function, as well as the extent to which the entity is funded, controlled, regulated, and/or created by the government, the more likely a court will determine that it is a “public institution,” and therefore, a “public office” subject to the Public Records Act.

3. Quasi-agency – A private entity, even if not a “public office,” can be “a person responsible for public records”

When a public office contracts with a private entity to perform government work, the resulting records may be public records, even if they are solely in the possession of the private entity.¹⁸ These records are public records when three conditions are met: (1) the private entity prepared the records to perform responsibilities normally belonging to the public office; (2) the public office is able to monitor the private entity’s performance; and (3) the public office may access the records itself.¹⁹ Under these circumstances, the public office is subject to requests for these public records under its jurisdiction, and the private entity itself may have become a “person²⁰ responsible for public records”²¹ for purposes of the Public Records Act.²² For example, a public office’s obligation to turn over application materials and resumes extends to records of private search firms the public

Commrs.*, 128 Ohio St.3d 256, 2011-Ohio-625, ¶ 51 (holding that no clear and convincing evidence that private groups were functionally equivalent to public office when groups were comprised of unpaid, unguided county leaders and citizens, not created by governmental agency, and submitted recommendations as coalitions of private citizens).

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter One: Public Records Defined

office used in the hiring process.²³ Even if the public office does not have control over or access to such records, the records may still be public.²⁴ A public office cannot avoid its responsibility for public records by transferring custody of records or the record-making function to a private entity.²⁵ However, a public office may not be responsible for records of a private entity that performs related functions that are not activities of the public office.²⁶ A person who works in a governmental subdivision and discusses a request is not thereby a “person responsible” for records outside of his or her own public office within the governmental subdivision.²⁷

4. Public office is responsible for its own records

Only a public office or person who is actually responsible for the record sought is responsible for providing inspection or copies.²⁸ When statutes impose a duty on a particular official to oversee records, that official is the “person responsible” within the meaning of the Public Records Act.²⁹ A requester may wish to avoid any delay by initially asking a public office to whom in the office they should make the public records request, but the courts will construe the Public Records Act liberally in favor of broad access when, for example, the request is served on any member of a committee from which the requester seeks records.³⁰ The same document may be kept as a record by more than one public office.³¹ One appellate court has held that one public office may provide responsive documents on behalf of several related public offices that receive the same request and are keeping identical documents as records.³²

B. What are “records”?

1. Statutory definition – R.C. 149.011(G)

The term “records” includes “any document, device, or item, regardless of physical form or characteristic, including an electronic record as defined in [R.C. 1306.01], created or received by or coming under the jurisdiction of any public office of the state or its political subdivisions, which serves to document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the office.”

2. Records and non-records

If a document or other item does not meet all three parts of the definition of a “record,” then it is a non-record and is not subject to the Public Records Act or Ohio’s records retention requirements. The next paragraphs explain how items in a public office might meet or fail to meet the three parts of the definition of a record in R.C. 149.011(G).³³

Chapter One: Public Records Defined

Part 1: “Any document, device, or item, regardless of physical form or characteristic, including an electronic record as defined in section 1306.01 of the Revised Code ...”

This first element of the definition of a record focuses on the existence of a recording medium; in other words, something that contains information in fixed form. The physical form of an item does not matter so long as it can record information. A paper or electronic document, email,³⁴ video,³⁵ map, blueprint, photograph, voicemail message, or any other reproducible storage medium could be a record. This element is fairly broad. With the exemption of one’s thoughts and unrecorded conversation, most public office information is stored on a fixed medium of some sort. A request for unrecorded or not-currently-recorded information (a request for advice, interpretation, referral, or research)³⁶ made to a public office, rather than a request for a specific, existing document, device, or item containing such information, would fail this part of the definition of a “record.”³⁷ A public office has discretion to determine the form in which it will keep its records.³⁸ Further, a public office has no duty to fulfill requests that do not specifically and particularly describe the records the requester is seeking. (See Chapter Two: A. 4. “A request must be specific enough for the public office to reasonably identify responsive records”).

Part 2: “...created, received by, or coming under the jurisdiction of a public office ...”

It is usually clear when items are created or received by a public office. However, even if an item is not in the public office’s physical possession, it may still be considered a “record” of that office.³⁹ If records are held or created by another entity that is performing a public function for a public office, those records may be “under the public office’s jurisdiction.”⁴⁰

Part 3: “...which serves to document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the office.”

In addition to obvious non-records such as junk mail and electronic “spam,” some items found in the possession of a public office do not meet the definition of a record because they do not “document the activities of a public office.”⁴¹ It is the message or content, not the medium on which it exists, that makes a document a record of a public office.⁴² The Ohio Supreme Court has noted that “disclosure [of non-records] would not help to monitor the conduct of state government.”⁴³ Some items that have been found not to document the activities, etc., of public offices include public employee home addresses kept by the employer solely for administrative (i.e., management) convenience,⁴⁴ retired municipal government employee home addresses kept by the municipal retirement system,⁴⁵ mailing lists,⁴⁶ personal calendars and appointment books,⁴⁷ juror contact information and other juror questionnaire responses,⁴⁸ personal information about children who use public recreational facilities,⁴⁹ personal identifying information in housing authority lead-poisoning documents⁵⁰ and non-record items and information contained in employee personnel files.⁵¹ The names and contact information of some licensees,⁵² contractors,⁵³ lessees,⁵⁴ customers,⁵⁵ and other non-employees of a public office⁵⁶ have been found to be “records” when they actually document the formal activities of a particular office. Proprietary software needed to access stored records on magnetic tapes or other similar format, which meets the first two parts of the definition, is a means to provide access, not a record because it does not itself document the activities, etc., of a public office.⁵⁷ Personal correspondence or personal email addresses that do not document any activity of the office are non-records.⁵⁸ Finally, the Attorney General has opined that a piece of physical evidence in the hands of a prosecuting attorney (e.g., a cigarette butt) is not a record of that office.⁵⁹

3. The effect of “actual use”

An item received by a public office is not a record simply because the public office could use the item to carry out its duties and responsibilities.⁶⁰ However, if the public office actually uses the item, it may thereby document the office’s activities and become a record.⁶¹ For example, where a school board invited job applicants to send applications to a post office box, any applications received in that post office box did not become records of the office until the board retrieved and reviewed, or otherwise used and relied on them.⁶² Personal, otherwise non-record correspondence that is actually used to document a decision to discipline a public employee qualifies as a “record.”⁶³

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter One: Public Records Defined

4. “Is this item a record?” – Some common applications

a. Email

A public office must analyze an email message like any other item to determine if it meets the definition of a record. As electronic documents, all emails are items containing information stored on a fixed medium (the first part of the definition). If an email is received by, created by, or comes under the jurisdiction of a public office (the second part of the definition), then its status as a record depends on the content of the message. If an email created by, received by, or coming under the jurisdiction of a public office also serves to document the activities, etc., of the public office, then it meets all three parts of the definition of a record.⁶⁴ If an email does not serve to document the activities of the office, then it does not meet the definition of a record.⁶⁵

Although the Ohio Supreme Court has not ruled directly on whether communications of public employees to or from private email accounts that otherwise meet the definition of a record are subject to the Public Records Act,⁶⁶ the issue is analogous to mailing a record from one’s home, versus mailing it from the office – the location from which the item is sent does not change its status as a record. Records transmitted via email, like all other records, must be maintained in accordance with the office’s relevant records retention schedules, based on content.⁶⁷

b. Notes

Not every piece of paper on which a public official or employee writes something meets the definition of a record.⁶⁸ Personal notes generally do not constitute records.⁶⁹ Employee notes have been found not to be public records if they are:

- kept as personal papers, not official records;
- kept for the employee’s own convenience (for example, to help recall events); and
- other employees did not use or have access to the notes.⁷⁰

Such personal notes do not meet the third part of the definition of a record because they do not document the activities, etc., of the public office. The Ohio Supreme Court has held in several cases ⁶⁴ State ex rel. Toledo Blade Co. v. Seneca Cty. Bd. of Comms., 120 Ohio St.3d 372, 2008-Ohio-6253 (holding public office email can constitute public records under R.C. 149.011(G) and 149.43 if it documents the organization, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the public office); State ex rel. Zidonis v. Columbus State Community College, 133 Ohio St.3d 122, 2012-Ohio-4228, ¶¶ 28-32; State ex rel. Bowman v. Jackson City School Dist., 4th Dist. No. 10CA3, 2011-Ohio-2228 (finding personal emails on public system to be “records” when relied upon for discipline).

⁶⁸ *Internatl. Union, United Auto., Aerospace & Agricultural Implement Workers of Am. v. No. 13AP-457, 2014-Ohio-5660, ¶¶ 16-17, 23-35 (holding investigators’ handwritten notes, used to convey information for oral or written reports and then disposed of, were not public records subject to disclosure); State ex rel. Doe v. Tetrault, 12th Dist. No. CA2011-10-070, 2012-Ohio-3879, ¶¶ 38, citing Cranford v. Cleveland; State ex rel. Santefort v. Wayne Twp. Bd. of Trustees, 12th Dist. The Ohio Public Records Act that, in the context of a public court hearing or administrative proceeding, personal notes that meet the above criteria need not be retained as records because no information will be lost to the public.⁷¹ However, if any one of these factors does not apply (for instance, if the notes are used to create official minutes), then the notes are likely to be considered a record.⁷²

c. Drafts

If a draft document kept by a public office meets the three-part definition of a record, it is subject to both the Public Records Act and records retention law.⁷³ For example, the Ohio Supreme Court found that a written draft of an oral collective bargaining agreement submitted to a city council for its approval documented the city's version of the oral agreement, and therefore, met the definition of a record.⁷⁴ A public office may address the length of time it must keep drafts through its records retention schedules.⁷⁵

d. Electronic database contents

A database is an organized collection of related data. The Public Records Act does not require a public office to search a database for information and compile or summarize it to create new records.⁷⁶ However, if the public office already uses a computer program that can perform the search and produce the compilation or summary described by the requester, the Ohio Supreme Court has determined that the output already “exists” as a record for the purposes of the Public Records Act.⁷⁷ In contrast, where the public office would have to reprogram its computer system to produce the requested output, the Court has determined that the public office does not have that output as an existing record of the office.⁷⁸

C. What is a “public record”?

1. Statutory definition – R.C. 149.43(A)(1): “Public record” means records kept by any public office⁷⁹

This short definition joins the previously detailed definitions of “records” and “public office,” with the words “kept by.”

2. What “kept by” means

A record is only a public record if it is “kept by”⁸⁰ a public office.⁸¹ Records that do not yet exist – for example, future minutes of a meeting that has not yet taken place – are not records, much less

⁷² State ex rel. Verhovec v. Marietta, 4th Dist. No. 12CA32, 2013-Ohio-5415, ¶ 30 (holding that handwritten notes that are later transcribed are records because city clerk used them not merely as personal notes, but in preparation of official minutes in clerk’s official capacity).

⁷³ Kish v. Akron, 109 Ohio St.3d 162, 2006-Ohio-1244, ¶ 20 (noting that “document need not be in final form to meet the statutory definition of ‘record’”); State ex rel. Cincinnati Enquirer, Div. of Gannett Satellite Information Network, Inc. v. Dupuis, 98 Ohio St.3d 126, 2002-Ohio-7041, ¶ 20 (“[E]ven if a record is not in final form, it may still constitute a ‘record’ for purposes of R.C. 149.43 if it documents the organization, policies, functions, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of a public office.”); see also State ex rel. Wadd v. Cleveland, 81 Ohio St.3d 50, 53 (1998) (granting access to preliminary, unnumbered accident reports not yet processed into final form); State ex rel. Cincinnati Post v. Schweikert, 38 Ohio St.3d 170 (1988) (granting access to preliminary work product that had not reached its final stage or official destination); State ex rel. Dist. 1199, Health Care & Social Serv. Union v. Gulyassy, 107 Ohio App.3d 729, 733 (10th Dist. 1995).

⁷⁷ State ex rel. Scanlon v. Deters, 45 Ohio St.3d 376, 379 (1989) (overruled on different grounds).

⁷⁸ State ex rel. Kerner v. State Teachers Retirement Bd., 82 Ohio St.3d 273, 275 (1998) (finding that the agency would have had to reprogram its computers to create the requested names and addresses of a described class of members).

⁷⁹ The definition goes on to expressly include specific entities, by title, as “public offices,” and specific records as “public records,” as follows: “... including, but not limited to, state, county, city, village, township, and school district units, and records pertaining to the delivery of educational services by an alternative school in this state kept by the nonprofit or for-profit entity operating the alternative school pursuant to section 3313.533 of the Revised Code.” R.C. 149.43(A)(1).

⁸⁰ Prior to July 1985, the statute read, “records required to be kept by any public office,” which was a very different requirement, and which no longer applies to the Ohio definition of “public record.” State ex rel. Cincinnati Post v. Schweikert, 38 Ohio St.3d 170, 173 (1988).

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter One: Public Records Defined

public records, until actually in existence and “kept” by the public office.⁸² A public office has no duty to furnish records that are not in its possession or control.⁸³ Similarly, if the office kept a record in the past, but has properly disposed of the record and no longer keeps it, then it is no longer a record of that office.⁸⁴ For example, where a school board first received and then returned superintendent candidates’ application materials to the applicants, those materials were no longer “public records” responsive to a newspaper’s request.⁸⁵ But “so long as a public record is kept by a government agency, it can never lose its status as a public record.”⁸⁶

D. Exemptions

Both within the Public Records Act and in separate statutes throughout the Ohio Revised Code, the Ohio General Assembly has identified items and information that are either removed from the definition of public record or are otherwise required or permitted to be withheld.⁸⁷ (See Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records, for definitions, application, and examples of exemptions to the Public Records Act).

Opperman*, 135 Ohio St.3d 298, 2013-Ohio-761, ¶ 16 (holding that, in responding to request for copies of maps and aerial photographs, a county engineer’s office has no duty to create requested records because the public office generates such records by inputting search terms into program).

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

II. Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

The Public Records Act sets out procedures, limits, and requirements designed to maximize requester success in obtaining access to public records, and to minimize the burden on public offices when possible. When making or responding to a public records request, it is important to be familiar with these statutory provisions to achieve a cooperative, efficient, and satisfactory outcome.

A. Rights and Obligations of Public Records Requesters and Public Offices

Every public office must organize and maintain public records in a manner that they can be made available in response to public records requests. A public office must also maintain a copy of its current records retention schedule at a location readily available to the public.

Any person can make a request for public records by asking a public office or person responsible for public records for specific, existing records. The requester may make a request in any manner the requester chooses: by phone, in person, or in an email or letter. A public office cannot require the requester to identify him or herself or indicate why he or she is requesting the records, unless a specific law permits or requires it. Often, however, a discussion about the requester's purposes or interest in seeking certain information can aid the public office in locating and producing the desired records more efficiently.

Upon receiving a request for specific, existing public records, a public office must provide prompt inspection at no cost during regular business hours, or provide copies at cost within a reasonable period of time. The public office may withhold or redact specific records that are covered by an exemption to the Public Records Act but is required to give the requester an explanation, including legal authority, for each denial. In addition, a public office may deny a request in the extreme circumstance when compliance would unreasonably interfere with the discharge of the office's duties. The Public Records Act provides for negotiation and clarification to help identify, locate, and deliver requested records if: 1) a requester makes an ambiguous or overly broad request; or 2) the public office believes that asking for the request in writing, or the requester's identity, or the intended use of the requested information would enhance the ability of the public office to provide the records.

1. Organization and maintenance of public records

"To facilitate broader access to public records, a public office ... shall organize and maintain public records in a manner that they can be made available for inspection or copying" in response to public records requests.⁸⁸ The fact that the office uses an organizational system that is different from, and inconsistent with, the form of a given request does not mean that the public office has violated this duty.⁸⁹ For instance, if a person requests copies of all police service calls for a particular geographical area identified by street names and the request does not match the office's method of retrieval, it is not one that the office has a duty to fulfill.⁹⁰ At least one court has held that the primary concern of a retrieval system is to accommodate the mission of the office, and that providing reasonable access for citizens is secondary.⁹¹ The Public Records Act does not require a public office or person responsible for public records to post its public records on the office's website⁹² (but doing so may reduce the number of public records requests the office receives for posted records). A public office is not required to create new records to respond to a public records request, even if it is only a matter of compiling information from existing records.⁹³

⁸⁹ See State ex rel. Zidonis v. Columbus State Community College, 133 Ohio St.3d 122, 2012-Ohio-4228, ¶ 30 (noting that Public Records Act "does not expressly require public offices to maintain e-mailrecords so that they can be retrieved based on sender and recipient status"); State ex rel. Bardwell v. Cleveland, 126 Ohio St.3d 195, 2010-Ohio-3267 (noting that police department kept and made available its pawnbroker reports on 3x5 notecards; while keeping these records on 8 ½ x 11 paper could reduce delays in processing requests, there was no requirement to do so); State ex rel. Oriana House v. Montgomery, 10th Dist. Nos. 04AP-492, 04AP-504, 2005-Ohio-3377, ¶ 89, rev'd on other grounds, 110 Ohio St.3d 456, 2006-Ohio-4854 (holding that the fact that requester made what it believed to be a specific request does not mandate that the public office keep its records in such a way that access to the records was possible).

A public office must have a copy of its current records retention schedule at a location readily available to the public.⁹⁴ The records retention schedule can be a valuable tool for a requester to obtain in advance to plan a specific and efficient public records request or for the public office to use to inform a requester how the records kept by the office are organized and maintained.

2. “Any person” may make a request

The requesting “person” need not be an Ohio or United States resident. In fact, in the absence of a law to the contrary, foreign individuals and entities domiciled in a foreign country are entitled to inspect and copy public records.⁹⁵ The requester need not be an individual, but may be a corporation, government agency, or other body.⁹⁶

3. The request must be for the public office’s existing records

The proper subject of a public records request is a record that actually exists at the time of the request,⁹⁷ not unrecorded or dispersed information the requester seeks to obtain.⁹⁸ For example, if a person asks a public office for a list of court cases pending against it, but the office does not keep such a list, the public office is under no duty to create a list to respond to the request.⁹⁹ Additionally, there is no duty to provide records that were not in existence at the time of the request¹⁰⁰ or that the public office does not possess,¹⁰¹ including records that later come into existence.¹⁰²

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

4. A request must be specific enough for the public office to reasonably identify responsive records

A requester must identify the records he or she is seeking “with reasonable clarity,”¹⁰³ so that the public office can identify responsive records based on the manner in which it ordinarily maintains and accesses the public records it keeps.¹⁰⁴ The request must fairly and specifically describe what the requester is seeking.¹⁰⁵ A court will not compel a public office to produce public records when the underlying request is ambiguous or overly broad, or the requester has difficulty making a request such that the public office cannot reasonably identify what public records are being requested.¹⁰⁶

What is An Ambiguous or Overly Broad Request?

An ambiguous request is one that lacks the clarity a public office needs to ascertain what the requester is seeking and where to look for records that might be responsive. The wording of the request is vague or subject to interpretation.¹⁰⁷

A request can be overly broad when it is so inclusive that the public office is unable to identify the records sought based on the manner in which the office routinely organizes and accesses records. Public records requests that are worded like legal discovery requests¹⁰⁸ – for example, a request for “any and all records pertaining in any way” to a particular activity or employee of the office – are often overly broad for purposes of the Public Records Act because they lack the specificity the office needs to identify and locate only responsive records. The courts have also found a request overly broad when it seeks what amounts to a complete duplication of a major category of a public office’s records. Examples of overly broad requests include requests for:

- All records containing particular names or words,¹⁰⁹
- Duplication of all records having to do with a particular topic, or all records of a particular type;¹¹⁰

(cont'd from previous page)

- Every report filed with the public office for a particular time period (if the office does not organize records in that manner);¹¹¹
- “[A]ll e-mails between” two employees (when email not organized by sender and recipient).¹¹²
- “[A]ll documents which document any and all instances of lead poisoning in the last 15 years in any dwelling owned or operated by [the office].”¹¹³

Whether a public records request is “proper” will be considered in the context of the circumstances surrounding it.¹¹⁴ Courts differ as to whether an office that does not deny a request as ambiguous or overly broad before litigation commences has waived its ability to challenge the validity of the request.¹¹⁵

5. Denying, and then clarifying, an ambiguous or overly broad request

R.C. 149.43(B)(2) permits a public office to deny any part of a public records request that is ambiguous or overly broad as defined above. However, the statute then requires the public office to give the requester the opportunity to revise the denied request, by informing the requester how the office ordinarily maintains and accesses its records.¹¹⁶ Thus, the Public Records Act expressly promotes cooperation to clarify and narrow requests that are ambiguous or overly broad, in order to craft a successful, revised request.

The public office can inform the requester how the office ordinarily maintains and accesses records through verbal or written explanation.¹¹⁷ Giving the requester a copy of the public office’s relevant records retention schedules can be a helpful starting point in explaining the office’s records organization and access.¹¹⁸ Retention schedules categorize records based on how they are used and the purpose they serve, and well-drafted schedules provide details of record subcategories, content, and duration, which can help a requester revise and narrow the request. Ohio courts have noted favorably an office’s invitation to discuss revision of an overly broad request as a circumstance supporting compliance.¹¹⁹

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

6. Unless a specific law provides otherwise, requests can be for any purpose, and need not identify the requester or be made in writing

A public records request does not need to be in writing or identify the person making the request.¹²⁰ If the request is verbal, it is recommended that the public employee receiving the request write down the complete request and confirm the wording with the requester to assure accuracy. In most circumstances, the Public Records Act neither requires the requester to specify the reason for the request¹²¹ nor use particular wording to make a request.¹²² Any requirement by the public office that the requester disclose his or her identity or the intended use of the requested public record constitutes a denial of the request.¹²³

7. Optional negotiation when identity, purpose, or request in writing would assist identifying, locating, or delivering requested records

However, in the event that a public office believes that either 1) a written request, 2) knowing the intended use of the information, or 3) knowing the requester's identity would benefit the requester by enhancing the ability of the public office to identify, locate, or deliver the requested records, the public office must first inform the requester that giving this information is not mandatory and then ask if the requester is willing to provide that information to assist the public office in fulfilling the request.¹²⁴ As with the negotiation required for an ambiguous or overly broad request, this optional negotiation regarding purpose, identity, or writing can promote cooperation and efficiency. Reminder: Before asking for the information, the public office must let a requester know that they may decline this option.

8. Requester can choose media on which copies are made

A requester must specify whether he or she would like to inspect the records or obtain copies.¹²⁵ If the requester asks for copies, he or she has the right to choose the copy medium (paper, film, electronic file, etc.).¹²⁶ The requester can choose to have the record copied: (1) on paper, (2) in the same medium as the public office keeps them,¹²⁷ or (3) on any medium upon which the public office or person responsible for the public records determines the record can "reasonably be duplicated as an integral part of the normal operations of the public office."¹²⁸ The public office may charge the requester the actual cost of copies made and may require payment of copying costs in advance.¹²⁹

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

9. Requester can choose pick-up, delivery, or transmission of copies; public office may charge delivery costs

A requester may personally pick up requested copies of public records or may send a designee.¹³⁰ Upon request, a public office must transmit copies of public records via the U.S. mail “or by any other means of delivery or transmission,” at the choice of the requester.¹³¹ Although a public office has no duty to post public records online, if a requester lists posting on the office’s website as a satisfactory alternative to providing copies, then the public office has complied when it posts the requested records online.¹³² The public office may require prepayment of postage or other actual delivery costs, as well as the actual cost of supplies used in mailing, delivery, or transmission.¹³³ (See paragraph 12 below for “costs” detail).

10. Prompt inspection, or copies within a reasonable period of time

There is no set, predetermined time period for responding to a public records request. Instead, the requirement to provide “prompt” production of records for inspection and to make copies available in a “reasonable amount of time”¹³⁴ have both been interpreted by the courts as being “without delay” and “with reasonable speed.”¹³⁵ The reasonableness of the time taken in each case depends on the facts and circumstances of the particular request.¹³⁶ These terms do not mean “immediately,” or “without a moment’s delay,”¹³⁷ but the courts will find a violation of this requirement when an office cannot show that the time taken was reasonable.¹³⁸ Time spent on the following response tasks may contribute to the calculation of what is “prompt” or “reasonable” in a given circumstance:

Identification of Responsive Records:

- Clarify or revise request;¹³⁹ and
- Identify records.¹⁴⁰

Location and Retrieval:

- Locate records¹⁴¹ and retrieve from storage location, e.g., file cabinet, branch office, off-site storage facility.

Review, Analysis, and Redaction:

- Examine all materials for possible release;¹⁴²
- Perform necessary legal review¹⁴³ or consult with knowledgeable parties;
- Redact exempt materials,¹⁴⁴ and
- Provide explanation and legal authority for all redactions and/or denials.¹⁴⁵

Preparation:

- Obtain requester’s choice of medium;¹⁴⁶ and
- Make copies.¹⁴⁷

Delivery:

- Wait for advance payment of costs;¹⁴⁸ and
- Deliver copies or schedule inspection.¹⁴⁹

The Ohio Supreme Court has held that no pleading of too much expense, or too much time involved, or too much interference with normal duties can be used by the public office to evade the public’s right to inspect or obtain a copy of public records within a reasonable time.¹⁵⁰

11. Inspection at no cost during regular business hours

A public office must make its public records available for inspection at all reasonable times during regular business hours.¹⁵¹ “Regular business hours” means established business hours.¹⁵² When a public office operates twenty-four hours a day, such as a police department, the office may adopt hours that approximate normal administrative hours during which inspection may be provided.¹⁵³

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

Public offices may not charge requesters for inspection of public records.¹⁵⁴ Posting records online is one means of providing them for inspection -- the public office may not charge a fee just because a person could use their own equipment to print or otherwise download a record posted online.¹⁵⁵ Requesters are not required to inspect the records themselves; they may designate someone to inspect the requested records.¹⁵⁶

12. Copies, and delivery or transmission, “at cost”

A public office may charge costs for copies and/or for delivery or transmission, and it may require payment of both costs in advance.¹⁵⁷ “At cost” includes the actual cost of making copies,¹⁵⁸ packaging, postage, and any other costs of the method of delivery or transmission chosen by the requester.¹⁵⁹ The cost of employee time cannot be included in the cost of copies or of delivery.¹⁶⁰ A public office may choose to employ the services, and charge the requester the costs of, a private contractor to copy public records so long as the decision to do so is reasonable.¹⁶¹

When a statute sets the cost of certain records or for certain requesters, the specific takes precedence over the general, and the requester must pay the cost set by the statute.¹⁶² For example, because R.C. 2301.24 requires that parties to a common pleas court action must pay court reporters the compensation rate set by the judges for court transcripts, a requester who is a party to the action may not use R.C. 149.43(B)(1) to obtain copies of the transcript at the actual cost of duplication.¹⁶³ However, when a statute sets a fee for certified copies of an otherwise public record, and the requester does not request that the copies be certified, the office may only charge actual cost.¹⁶⁴ Similarly, when a statute sets a fee for “photocopies” and the request is for electronic copies rather than photocopies, the office may only charge actual cost.¹⁶⁵

There is no obligation to provide free copies to someone who indicates an inability or unwillingness to pay for requested records.¹⁶⁶ The Public Records Act neither requires a public office to allow those seeking a copy of the public record to make copies with their own equipment¹⁶⁷ nor prohibits the public office from allowing this.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

13. What responsive documents can the public office withhold?

a. Duty to withhold certain records

A public office must withhold records subject to a mandatory, “must not release” exemption to the Public Records Act in response to a public records request. (See Chapter Three: A.1. “Must not release”).

b. Option to withhold or release certain records

Records subject to a discretionary exemption give the public office the option to either withhold or release the record. (See Chapter Three: A.2. “May release but may choose to withhold”).

c. No duty to release non-records

A public office need not disclose or create¹⁶⁸ items that are “non-records.” There is no obligation that a public office produce items that do not document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the office.¹⁶⁹ A record must document something that the office does.¹⁷⁰ The Ohio Supreme Court expressly rejected the notion that an item is a “record” simply because the public office could use the item to carry out its duties and responsibilities.¹⁷¹ Instead, the public office must actually use the item; otherwise, it is not a record.¹⁷² The Public Records Act itself does not restrict a public office from releasing non-records, but other laws may prohibit a public office from releasing certain information in non-records.¹⁷³

A public office is not required to create new records to respond to a public records request, even if it is only a matter of compiling information from existing records.¹⁷⁴ For example, if a person asks a public office for a list of cases pending against it, but the office does not keep such a list, the public office is under no duty to create a list to respond to the request.¹⁷⁵ The office also need not conduct a search for and retrieve records that contain described information that is of interest to the requester.¹⁷⁶

14. Denial of a request, redaction, and a public office’s duties of notice

Both the withholding of an entire record and the redaction of any part of a record are considered a denial of the request to inspect or copy that particular item.¹⁷⁷ Any requirement by the public office

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

that the requester disclose the requester's identity or the intended use of the requested public record also constitutes a denial of the request.¹⁷⁸

a. Redaction – statutory definition

“Redaction” means obscuring or deleting any information that is exempt from the duty to permit public inspection or copying from an item that otherwise meets the definition of a “record.”¹⁷⁹ For records on paper, redaction is the blacking or whiting out of non-public information in an otherwise public document. A public office may redact audio, video, and other electronic records by processes that obscure or delete specific content. “If a public record contains information that is exempt from the duty to permit public inspection or to copy the public record, the public office or the person responsible for the public record shall make available all of the information within the public record that is not exempt.”¹⁸⁰ Therefore, a public office may redact only that part of a record subject to an exemption or other valid basis for withholding. However, an office may withhold an entire record when exempted information is “inextricably intertwined” with the entire content of a particular record such that redaction cannot protect the exempted information.¹⁸¹

The Public Records Act states that “[a] redaction shall be deemed a denial of a request to inspect or copy the redacted information, except if a federal or state law authorizes or requires the public office to make the redaction.”¹⁸²

b. Requirement to notify of and explain redactions and withholding of records

Public offices must either “notify the requester of any redaction or make the redaction plainly visible.”¹⁸³ In addition, if an office denies a request in part or in whole, the public office must “provide the requester with an explanation, including legal authority, setting forth why the request was denied.”¹⁸⁴ If the requester made the initial request in writing, then the office must also provide its explanation for the denial in writing.¹⁸⁵

c. No obligation to respond to duplicate request

When a public office denies a request, and the requester sends a follow-up letter reiterating a request for essentially the same records, the public office is not required to provide an additional response.¹⁸⁶

d. No waiver of unasserted, applicable exemptions

If the requester later files a mandamus action against the public office, the public office is not limited to the explanation(s) previously given for denial, but may rely on additional reasons or legal authority in defending the mandamus action.¹⁸⁷

15. Burden or expense of compliance

A public office cannot deny or delay response to a public records request on the grounds that responding will interfere with the operation of the public office.¹⁸⁸ However, when a request unreasonably interferes with the discharge of the public office's duties, the office may not be obligated to comply.¹⁸⁹ For example, a requester does not have the right to the complete duplication of voluminous files of a public office.¹⁹⁰

B. Statutes that Modify General Rights and Duties

Through legislation, the General Assembly can change the preceding rights and duties for particular records, for particular public offices, for particular requesters, or in specific situations. Be aware that the general rules of public records law may be modified in a variety and combination of ways. Below are a few examples of modifications to the general rules.

1. Particular records

- (a) Although most DNA records kept by the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation (BCI) are protected from disclosure by exemptions,¹⁹¹ Ohio law requires that the results of DNA testing of an inmate who obtains post-conviction testing must be disclosed to any requester,¹⁹² which would include results of testing conducted by BCI.
- (b) Certain Ohio sex offender records must be posted on a public website without waiting for an individual public records request.¹⁹³
- (c) Ohio law specifies that a public office's release of an "infrastructure record" or "security record" to a private business for certain purposes does not waive these exemptions,¹⁹⁴ despite the usual rule that voluntary release to a member of the public waives any exemption(s).¹⁹⁵
- (d) Journalists may inspect, but not copy, some of the records to which they have special access, despite the general right to choose either inspection or copies.¹⁹⁶
- (e) Contracts and financial records of moneys expended in relation to services provided under those contracts to federal, state, or local government by another governmental entity or agency, or by most nonprofit corporations or associations, shall be deemed to be public records, except as otherwise provided by R.C. 149.431.¹⁹⁷
- (f) Regardless of whether the dates of birth of office officials and employees fit the statutory definition of "records," every public office must maintain a list of the names and dates of birth of every official and employee, which “is a public record and shall be made available upon request.”¹⁹⁸

2. Particular public offices

- (a) The Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles is authorized to charge a non-refundable fee of four dollars for each highway patrol accident report for which it receives a request,¹⁹⁹ and a coroner’s office may charge a record retrieval and copying fee of twenty-five cents per page, with a minimum charge of one dollar,²⁰⁰ despite the general requirement that a public office may only charge the “actual cost” of copies.²⁰¹
- (b) Ohio courts’ case records and administrative records are not subject to the Public Records Act. Rather, courts apply the records access rules of the Ohio Supreme Court Rules of Superintendence.²⁰²
- (c) Information in a competitive sealed proposal and bid submitted to a county contracting authority becomes a public record subject to inspection and copying only after the contract is awarded. After the bid is opened by the contracting authority, any information that is subject to an exemption set out in the Public Records Act may be redacted by the contracting authority before the record is made public.²⁰³

3. Particular requesters or purposes

- (a) Directory information concerning public school students may not be released if the intended use is for a profit-making plan or activity.²⁰⁴
- (b) Incarcerated persons, commercial requesters, and journalists are subject to combinations of modified rights and obligations, discussed below.

4. Modified records access for certain requesters

The rights and obligations of the following requesters differ from those generally provided by the Public Records Act. Some are required to disclose the intended use of the records or motive behind the request. Others may be required to provide more information or make the request in a specific fashion. Some requesters are given greater access to records than other persons, and some are more restricted. These are only examples. Changes to the law are constantly occurring, so be sure to check for any current law modifying access to the particular public records with which you are concerned.

a. Prison inmates

Prison inmates may request public records,²⁰⁵ but they must follow a statutorily-mandated process if requesting records concerning any criminal investigation or prosecution or a juvenile delinquency investigation that otherwise would be a criminal investigation or prosecution if the subject were an adult.²⁰⁶ This process applies to both state and federal inmates²⁰⁷ and reflects the General Assembly's public-policy decision to restrict a convicted inmate's unlimited access to public records, in order to conserve law enforcement resources.²⁰⁸ An inmate's designee may not make a public records request on behalf of the inmate that the inmate is prohibited from making directly.²⁰⁹ The criminal investigation records subject to this process when requested by an inmate are broader than those defined under the Confidential Law Enforcement Investigatory Records (CLEIRs) exemption, and include offense and incident reports.²¹⁰ A public office is not required to produce such records in response to an inmate request unless the inmate first obtains a finding from the judge who sentenced or otherwise adjudicated the inmate's case that the information sought is necessary to support what appears to be a justiciable claim, i.e., a pending proceeding with respect to which the requested documents would be material.²¹¹ The inmate's request must be filed in the inmate's original criminal action, not in a separate, subsequent forfeiture action involving the inmate.²¹² If an inmate requesting public records concerning a criminal prosecution does not follow these requirements, any suit to enforce his or her request will be dismissed.²¹³ The appropriate remedy for an inmate who is denied a 149.43(B)(8) order is an appeal of the sentencing judge's findings, not a mandamus action.²¹⁴ Any public records that were obtained by a litigant prior to the ruling in Steckman v. Jackson are not excluded for use in the litigant's post-conviction proceedings.²¹⁵

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

b. Commercial requesters

Unless a specific statute provides otherwise,²¹⁶ it is irrelevant whether the intended use of requested records is for commercial purposes.²¹⁷ However, if an individual or entity is making public records requests for commercial purposes, the public office receiving the requests can limit the number of records "that the office will physically deliver by United States mail or by another delivery service to ten per month."²¹⁸

For purposes of this limitation, the term "commercial purposes"²¹⁹ is to be narrowly construed and does not include the following activities:

- Reporting or gathering news;
- Reporting or gathering information to assist citizen oversight or understanding of the operation or activities of government; or
- Nonprofit educational research.²²⁰

c. Journalists

Several statutes grant “journalists”²²¹ enhanced access to certain records that are not available to other requesters. This enhanced access is sometimes conditioned on the journalist providing information or representations not normally required of a requester.

For example, a journalist may obtain the actual residential address of a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, or federal law enforcement officer. If the individual’s spouse, former spouse, or child is employed by a public office, a journalist may obtain the name and address of that spouse or child’s employer in this manner as well.²²² A journalist may also request customer information maintained by a municipally-owned or operated public utility, other than social security numbers and any private financial information such as credit reports, payment methods, credit card numbers, and bank account information.²²³ To obtain this information, the journalist must:

- Make the request in writing and sign the request;
- Identify himself or herself by name, title, and employer’s name and address; and
- State that disclosure of the information sought would be in the public interest.²²⁴

²²⁰ R.C. 149.43(B)(7)(c)(iii).

²²¹ R.C. 149.43(B)(9)(c) states; “As used in division (B)(9) of [R.C. 149.43], ‘journalist’ means a person engaged in, connected with, or employed by any news medium, including a newspaper, magazine, press association, news agency, or wire service, a radio or television station, or a similar medium, for the purpose of gathering, processing, transmitting, compiling, editing, or disseminating information for the general public.”

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Two: Requesting Public Records

5. Modified access to certain public offices' records

As with requesters, the rights and obligations of public offices can be modified by law. Some of these modifications impose conditions on obtaining records in volume and setting permissible charges for copying. The following provisions are only examples. The law is subject to change, so be sure to check for any current law modifying access to particular public records with which you are concerned.

a. Bulk commercial requests from Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles

"The bureau of motor vehicles may adopt rules pursuant to Chapter 119. of the Revised Code to reasonably limit the number of bulk commercial special extraction requests made by a person for the same records or for updated records during a calendar year. The rules may include provisions for charges to be made for bulk commercial special extraction requests for the actual cost of the bureau, plus special extraction costs, plus ten percent. The bureau may charge for expenses for redacting information, the release of which is prohibited by law."²²⁵ The statute sets out definitions of "actual cost," "bulk commercial extraction request," "commercial," "special extraction costs," and "surveys, marketing, solicitation, or resale for commercial purposes."²²⁶

b. Copies of Coroner's Records

Generally, all records of a coroner's office are public records subject to inspection by the public.²²⁷ A coroner's office may provide copies to a requester upon a written request and payment by the requester of a statutory fee.²²⁸ However, the following are not public records: preliminary autopsy and investigative notes and findings; photographs of a decedent made by the coroner's office; suicide notes; medical and psychological records of the decedent provided to the coroner; records of a deceased individual that are part of a confidential enforcement investigatory record; and laboratory reports generated from analysis of physical evidence by the coroner's laboratory that is discoverable under Ohio Criminal Rule 16.²²⁹ The following three classes of requesters may request some or all of the records that are otherwise exempted from disclosure: 1) next of kin of the decedent or the representative of the decedent's estate (copy of full records),²³⁰ 2) journalists (limited right to inspect),²³¹ and 3) insurers (copy of full records).²³² The coroner may notify the decedent's next of kin if a journalist or insurer has made a request.²³³

C. Going "Above and Beyond," Negotiation, and Mediation

1. Think outside the box – go above and beyond your duties

Requesters may become impatient with the time a response is taking, and public offices are often concerned with the resources required to process a large or complex request, and either may believe that the other is pushing the limits of the public records laws. These problems can be minimized if one or both parties go above and beyond their duties in search of a result that works for both. Some examples:

- If a request is made for paper copies, and the office keeps the records electronically, the office might offer to email digital copies instead (particularly if this is easier for the office). The requester may not know that the records are kept electronically or that sending by email is cheaper and faster for the requester. The worst that can happen is the requester declines.

- If a requester tells the public office that one part of a request is very urgent for them and the rest can wait, then the office might agree to expedite that part in exchange for relaxed timing for the rest.
- If a township fiscal officer's ability to copy 500 pages of paper records is limited to a slow ink-jet copier, then either the fiscal officer or the requester might suggest taking the documents to a copy store, where the copying will be faster and likely cheaper.

2. How to find a win-win solution: negotiate

The Public Records Act requires negotiated clarification when an ambiguous or overly broad request is denied (see Section A.5. above) and offers optional negotiation when a public office believes that sharing the reason for the request or the identity of the requester would help the office identify, locate, or deliver the records (see Section A.7. above). But negotiation is not limited to these circumstances. If you have a concern or a creative idea (see Section C.1. above), remember that "it never hurts to ask." If the other party appears frustrated or burdened, ask them, "Is there another way to do this that works better for you?"

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

III. Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records²³⁴

While the Public Records Act presumes and favors public access to government records, Ohio and federal laws provide limited exemptions to protect certain records from mandatory release. These laws can include constitutional provisions,²³⁵ statutes,²³⁶ common law,²³⁷ or properly authorized administrative codes and regulations.²³⁸

However, local ordinances and local court rules²³⁹ cannot create public records exemptions. A contract between a public office and other parties also cannot create a public records exemption.²⁴⁰ The federal Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) and the exemptions it contains do not apply to Ohio public offices.

A. Categories of Exemptions

There are two types of public records exemptions: 1) those that mandate that a public office cannot release certain documents; and 2) those that allow the public office to choose whether to release certain documents.

1. “Must not release”

The first type of exemption prohibits a public office from releasing specific records or information to the public, sometimes under civil or criminal penalty. Such records are prohibited from release in response to a public records request and the public office has no choice but to deny the request. These mandatory restrictions are expressly included as exemptions to the Public Records Act by what is referred to as the “catch-all” exemption in R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(v): “records the release of which is prohibited by state or federal law.”

A few “must not release” exemptions apply to public offices on behalf of, and are subject to the decisions of, another person. For example, a public legal or medical office may be restricted by the attorney-client or physician-patient privilege from releasing certain records of its clients or patients.²⁴¹ In such cases, if the client or patient chooses to waive the privilege, the public office would be released from the otherwise mandatory exemption.²⁴²

2. “May release, but may choose to withhold”

The other type of exemption, a “discretionary” exemption, gives a public office the choice of either withholding or releasing specific records, often by excluding certain records from the definition of public records.²⁴³ This means that the public office does not have to disclose these records in response to a public records request; however, it may choose to do so without fear of punishment under the law.²⁴⁴ Such provisions are usually state or federal statutes. Some laws contain ²³⁴ In this section, the term “exemption” will be used to describe laws authorizing the withholding of records from public records requests. Note that the term “exception” also is used often in public records law and court cases.

²⁴⁴ Bentkowski v. Trafis, 8th Dist. No. 102540, 2015-Ohio-5139 (holding that the Public Records Act does not explicitly and directly impose a duty upon officials to withhold records that are exempt from disclosure).

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

ambiguous titles or text such as “confidential” or “private,” but the test for public records purposes is whether a particular law applied to a particular request actually prohibits release of a record or just gives the public office the choice to withhold the record.

3. Contracts and FOIA cannot create exemptions

a. Contractual terms of confidentiality

Parties to a public contract, including settlement agreements,²⁴⁵ memoranda of understanding,²⁴⁶ and collective bargaining agreements,²⁴⁷ cannot nullify the Public Records Act’s guarantee of public access to public records.²⁴⁸ Nor can an employee handbook confidentiality provision alter the status of public records.²⁴⁹ In other words, a contract cannot nullify or restrict the public’s access to public records.²⁵⁰ Absent a statutory exemption, a “public entity cannot enter into enforceable promises of confidentiality regarding public records.”²⁵¹

b. FOIA does not apply to Ohio public offices

The federal Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) is a federal law that does not apply to state or local agencies or officers.²⁵² A request for government records from a state or local agency in Ohio is governed only by the Public Records Act. Requests for records and information from federal agencies located in Ohio (or anywhere else in the country or the world) are governed by FOIA.²⁵³

B. Multiple and Mixed Exemptions

Many records are subject to more than one exemption. Some may be subject to both a discretionary exemption (giving the public office the option to withhold), as well as a mandatory exemptions (prohibiting release), so it is important for public offices to find all exemptions that apply to a particular record, rather than acting on the first one that is found to apply.

C. Waiver of an Exemption

If a valid discretionary exemption applies to a particular record, but the public office voluntarily discloses it, the office is deemed to have waived²⁵⁴ (abandoned) that exemption for that particular record, especially if the disclosure was to a person whose interests are antagonistic to those of the public office.²⁵⁵ However, “waiver does not necessarily occur when the public office that possesses the information makes limited disclosures [to other public officials] to carry out its business.”²⁵⁶ Under such circumstances, the information has never been disclosed to the public.²⁵⁷

D. Applying Exemptions

In Ohio, the public records of a public office belong to the people, not to the government officials holding them.²⁵⁸ Accordingly, the public records law must be liberally interpreted in favor of disclosure, and any exemptions in the law that permit certain types of records to be withheld from disclosure must be narrowly construed.²⁵⁹ The public office has the burden of establishing that an exemption applies and does not meet that burden if it has not proven that the requested records fall squarely within the exemption.²⁶⁰ The Ohio Supreme Court has stated that “in enumerating very narrow, specific exceptions to the public records statute, the General Assembly has already weighed and balanced the competing public policy considerations between the public’s right to know how its state agencies make decisions and the potential harm, inconvenience or burden imposed on the agency by disclosure.”²⁶¹

A “well-settled principle of statutory construction [is] that ‘when two statutes, one general and the other special, cover the same subject matter, the special provision is to be construed as an exception to the general statute which might otherwise apply.’”²⁶² This means that when two different statutes apply to one issue, the more specific of the two controls. For example, when county coroner’s statutes set a 25 cent per page (one dollar minimum) retrieval and copying fee for public records of the coroner’s office,²⁶³ the coroner’s statute prevails over the general Public Records Act provision that copies of records must be provided “at cost.” But the statutes must actually conflict – if a special statute sets a two dollar fee for “photocopies” of an office’s records²⁶⁴ and a person instead requests those records as “electronic copies” on a CD, then there is no conflict, and the specific charge for photocopying does not apply.²⁶⁵ (See Chapter Two: B. “Statutes That Modify General Rights and Duties”).

Even if a statute expressly states that specific records of a public office are public, it does not mean that all other records of that office are exempt from disclosure.²⁶⁶ The Public Records Act still applies to all the public records of the office.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

When an office can show that non-exempt records are “inextricably intertwined” with exempt materials, the non-exempt records are not subject to disclosure under R.C. 149.43 insofar as they are inseparable.²⁶⁷ Finally, a public office has no duty to submit a “privilege log” to preserve a claimed public records exemption.²⁶⁸

To summarize, if a record does not clearly fit into one of the exemptions listed by the General Assembly, and is not otherwise prohibited from disclosure by other state or federal law, it must be disclosed.

E. Exemptions Enumerated in the Public Records Act

The Public Records Act contains a list of records and types of information removed from the definition of “public records.”²⁶⁹ The full text of those exemptions appears in R.C. 149.43(A)(1), a copy of which is included in Appendix A. Here, these exemptions are addressed in brief summaries. Note that, although the language of R.C. 149.43(A)(1) – “Public record” does not mean any of the following -- gives the public office the choice of withholding or releasing the records, many of these same records are further subject to other statutes that prohibit their release.²⁷⁰

(a) Medical records, which are defined as any document or combination of documents that:

- 1) pertain to a patient’s medical history, diagnosis, prognosis, or medical condition;
- and
- 2) were generated and maintained in the process of medical treatment.²⁷¹

Records meeting this definition need not be disclosed.²⁷² Birth, death, and hospital admission or discharge records are not considered medical records for purposes of Ohio’s public records law.²⁷³ Reports generated for reasons other than medical diagnosis or treatment, such as for employment or litigation purposes, are not “medical records” exempt from disclosure under the Public Records Act.²⁷⁴ However, other statutes or federal constitutional rights may prohibit disclosure,²⁷⁵ in which case the records or information are not public records under the “catch-all exemption,” R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(v).

(b) Records pertaining to probation and parole proceedings or proceedings related to the imposition of community control sanctions²⁷⁶ and post-release control sanctions.²⁷⁷ Examples of records covered by this exemption include:

- Pre-sentence investigation reports;²⁷⁸
- Records relied on to compile a pre-sentence investigation report;²⁷⁹

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

- Documents reviewed by the Parole Board in preparation for a parole hearing;²⁸⁰ and
- Records of parole proceedings.²⁸¹

(c) All records associated with the statutory process through which unmarried and unemancipated minors may obtain judicial approval for abortion procedures in lieu of parental consent. This exemption includes records from both trial- and appellate-level proceedings.²⁸²

(d), (e), and (f) These three exemptions all relate to the confidentiality of adoption proceedings.

Documents removed from the definition of “public record” include:

- Records pertaining to adoption proceedings;²⁸³
- Contents of an adoption file maintained by the Department of Health;²⁸⁴
- A putative father registry;²⁸⁵ and
- An original birth record after a new birth record has been issued.²⁸⁶

In limited circumstances, release of adoption records and proceedings may be appropriate. For example:

- The Department of Job and Family Services may release a putative father’s registration form to the mother of the minor or to the agency or attorney who is attempting to arrange the minor’s adoption.²⁸⁷
- Forms pertaining to the social and medical histories of the biological parents may be inspected by an adopted person who has reached majority or to the adoptive parents of a minor.²⁸⁸
- An adopted person at least eighteen years of age may be entitled to the release of identifying information or access to his or her adoption file.²⁸⁹

(g) Trial preparation records: “trial preparation record,” for the purposes of the Public Records Act, is defined as “any record that contains information that is specifically compiled in reasonable anticipation of, or in defense of, a civil or criminal action or proceeding, including the independent thought processes and personal trial preparation of an attorney.”²⁹⁰

Documents that a public office obtains through discovery during litigation are considered trial preparation records.²⁹¹ In addition, material compiled for a public attorney’s personal trial preparation constitutes a trial preparation record.²⁹² The trial preparation exemption does not apply to settlement agreements or settlement proposals,²⁹³ or when there is insufficient evidence that litigation was reasonably anticipated at the time the records were prepared.²⁹⁴

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

- (h) Confidential Law Enforcement Investigatory Records (see Chapter Six: A. “CLEIRs: Confidential Law Enforcement Investigatory Records Exemption”): CLEIRs are defined²⁹⁵ as records that (1) pertain to a law enforcement matter, and (2) have a high probability of disclosing any of the following:
- The identity of an uncharged suspect;
 - The identity of an information source or witness to whom confidentiality has been “reasonably promised”;
 - Information provided by an information source or witness to whom confidentiality has been reasonably promised, that would tend to reveal the identity of the source or witness;
 - Specific confidential investigatory techniques or procedures, or specific investigatory work product; or
 - Information that would endanger the life or physical safety of law enforcement personnel, a crime victim, a witness, or a confidential information source.
- (i) Records containing confidential “mediation communications” (R.C. 2710.03) or records of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission made confidential under R.C. 4112.05.²⁹⁶
- (j) DNA records stored in the state DNA database pursuant to R.C. 109.573.²⁹⁷
- (k) Inmate records released by the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction to the Department of Youth Services or a court of record pursuant to R.C. 5120.21(E).²⁹⁸
- (l) Records of the Department of Youth Services (DYS) regarding children in its custody that are released to the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction (DRC) for the limited purpose of carrying out the duties of the DRC.²⁹⁹
- (m) “Intellectual property records”: While this exemption seems broad, it has a specific definition for the purposes of the Public Records Act, and is limited to those records that are produced or collected: (1) by or for state university faculty or staff; (2) in relation to studies or research on an education, commercial, scientific, artistic, technical, or scholarly issue; and (3) which have not been publicly released, published, or patented.³⁰⁰
- (n) Donor profile records: Similar to the intellectual property exemption, the “donor profile records” exemption is given a specific, limited definition for the purposes of the Public Records Act. First, it only applies to records about donors or potential donors to public colleges and universities.³⁰¹ Second, the names and reported addresses of all donors and the date, amount, and condition of their donation(s) are all public information.³⁰² The exemption applies only to all other records about a donor or potential donor records.
- (o) Records maintained by the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services on statutory employer reports of new hires.³⁰³

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

- (p) Peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, or federal law enforcement officer residential and familial information.³⁰⁴ See Chapter Six: C. “Residential and Familial Information of Covered Professions that are not Public Records.”
- (q) Trade secrets of certain county and municipal hospitals:³⁰⁵ “Trade secrets” are defined at R.C. 1333.61(D), the definitional section of Ohio’s Uniform Trade Secrets Act.
- (r) Information pertaining to the recreational activities of a person under the age of eighteen. This includes any information that would reveal the person’s:
- Address or telephone number, or that of person’s guardian, custodian, or emergency contact person;
 - Social security number, birth date, or photographic image;
 - Medical records, history, or information; or
 - Information sought or required for the purpose of allowing that person to participate in any recreational activity conducted or sponsored by a public office or obtain admission privileges to any recreational facility owned or operated by a public office.³⁰⁶
- (s) Listed records of a child fatality review board (except for the annual reports the boards are required by statute to submit to the Ohio Department of Health).³⁰⁷ The listed records are also prohibited from unauthorized release by R.C. 307.629(B).
- (t) Records and information provided to the executive director of a public children services agency or prosecutor regarding the death of a minor from possible abuse, neglect, or other criminal conduct. Some of these records are prohibited from release to the public. Others may become public depending on the circumstances.³⁰⁸
- (u) Nursing home administrator licensing test materials, examinations, or evaluation tools.³⁰⁹
- (v) Records the release of which is prohibited by state or federal law;³¹⁰ this is often called the catch-all exemption. Although state and federal statutes can create both mandatory and discretionary exemptions by themselves, this provision also incorporates any statutes or administrative code that prohibit the release of specific records.

An agency rule designating particular records as confidential that is properly promulgated by a state or federal agency will constitute a valid catch-all exemption³¹¹ because such rules have the effect of law.³¹²

But, if the rule was promulgated outside the authority statutorily granted to the agency, the rule is not valid and will not constitute an exemption to disclosure.³¹³

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

F. Exemptions Created By Other Laws (By Category)

The following is a non-exhaustive list of exemptions that may apply to records of public offices. Some will require expert case by case analysis by the public office's legal counsel before use in response to a public records request. Additional Ohio statutory exemptions beyond those mentioned in this Chapter can be found in "Appendix B – Statutory Provisions Exempting Records from the Ohio Public Records Act."

1. Exemptions affecting personal privacy

There is no general "privacy exemption" to the Ohio Public Records Act. Ohio has no general privacy law comparable to the federal Privacy Act.³²⁴ However, a public office is obligated to protect certain non-public record personal information from unauthorized dissemination.³²⁵ Though many of the exemptions to the Public Records Act apply to information people would consider "private," this section focuses specifically on records and information that are protected by: (1) the right to privacy found in the United States Constitution; and (2) R.C. 149.45 and R.C. 319.28(B), which are statutes designed to protect personal information on the internet.

a. Constitutional right to privacy

The U.S. Supreme Court recognizes a constitutional right to informational privacy under the Fourteenth Amendment's Due Process Clause. This right protects people's "interest in avoiding divulgence of highly personal information,"³²⁶ but must be balanced against the public interest in the information.³²⁷ Such information cannot be disclosed unless disclosure "narrowly serves a compelling state interest."³²⁸

In Ohio, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit has limited this right to informational privacy to interests that rise to the level of "constitutional dimension" and implicate "fundamental rights" or "rights implicit in the concept of ordered liberty."³²⁹

The Ohio Supreme Court has "not authorized courts or other records custodians to create new exceptions to R.C. 149.43 based on a balancing of interests or generalized privacy concerns."³³⁰ In matters that do not rise to fundamental constitutional levels, state statutes address privacy rights, and the Court defers to "the role of the General Assembly to balance the competing concerns of the public's right to know and individual citizens' right to keep private certain information that becomes part of the records of public offices."³³¹ Cases finding a new or expanded constitutional right of privacy affecting public records are relatively infrequent.

In the Sixth Circuit case of Kallstrom v. City of Columbus, police officers sued the city for releasing their unredacted personnel files to an attorney representing members of a criminal gang. The police officers were testifying against the gang members in a major drug case. The personnel files contained the addresses and phone numbers of the officers and their family members, as well as

³²⁵ Ohio has a Personal Information Systems Act (PISA), Chapter 1347 of the Ohio Revised Code, that only applies when the Public Records Act does not apply; that is, PISA does not apply to public records but only applies to records that have been determined to be non-public and information that is not a "record" as defined by the Public Records Act. Public offices can find more detailed guidance at <http://privacy.ohio.gov/government/asp>. See also State ex rel. Renfro v. Cuyahoga Cty. Dept. of Human Servs., 54 Ohio St.3d 25 (1990); *Fisher v. banking information, social security numbers, and photo IDs.³³² The Court held that, because release of the information could lead to the gang members causing the officers bodily harm, the officers' fundamental constitutional rights to personal security and bodily integrity were at stake.³³³ The Court also described this constitutional right as a person's "interest in preserving [one's] life."³³⁴ The Court then found that the Public Records Act did not require release of the files in this manner because the disclosure did not "narrowly serve[] the state's interest in ensuring accountable governance."³³⁵ The Sixth Circuit has similarly held that names, addresses, and dates of birth of adult cabaret license applicants are exempted from the Public Records Act because their release to the public poses serious risk to their personal security.³³⁶

Based on Kallstrom, the Ohio Supreme Court subsequently held that police officers have a constitutional right to privacy in their personal information that could be used by defendants in a criminal case to achieve nefarious ends.³³⁷ The Ohio Supreme Court has also suggested that the constitutional right to privacy of minors would come into play when "release of personal information ... creates an unacceptable risk that a child could be victimized."³³⁸

In another Sixth Circuit case, a county sheriff held "a press conference to release the confidential and highly personal details" of a rape.³³⁹ The Court held that "a rape victim has a fundamental right of privacy in preventing government officials from gratuitously and unnecessarily releasing the intimate details of the rape where no penalogical purpose is being served."³⁴⁰ The Court indicated that release of some of the details may have been justifiable if the disclosure would have served "any specific law enforcement purpose," including apprehending the suspect.³⁴¹

Neither the Ohio Supreme Court nor the Sixth Circuit has applied broadly the constitutional right to privacy. Public offices and individuals should thus be aware of this potential protection, but know that it is limited to circumstances involving fundamental rights, and that most personal information is not protected by it.³⁴²

b. Personal information listed online

R.C. 149.45 requires public offices to redact, and permits certain individuals to request redaction of, specific personal information³⁴³ from any records made available to the general public on the internet.³⁴⁴ A person must make this request in writing on a form developed by the Attorney General, specifying the information to be redacted and providing any information that identifies the location of that personal information.³⁴⁵ In addition, persons in certain professions can also request the redaction of their actual residential address from any records made available by public offices to the general public on the internet.³⁴⁶ When a public office receives a request for redaction, it must act in accordance with the request within five business days, if practicable.³⁴⁷ If the public office determines that redaction is not practicable, it must explain to the individual why the redaction is impracticable within five business days.³⁴⁸

R.C. 149.45 separately requires all public offices to redact, encrypt, or truncate the social security numbers of individuals from any documents made available to the general public on the internet.³⁴⁹ If a public office becomes aware that an individual's social security number was not redacted, the office must redact the social security number within a reasonable period of time.³⁵⁰

The statute provides that a public office is not liable in a civil action for any alleged harm as a result of the failure to redact personal information or addresses on records made available on the internet to the general public, unless the office acted with a malicious purpose, in bad faith, or in a wanton or reckless manner.³⁵¹

In addition to the protections listed above, R.C. 319.28 allows a covered professional³⁵² to submit a request, by affidavit, to remove his or her name from the general tax list of real and public utility property and insert initials instead.³⁵³ Upon receiving such a request, the county auditor shall act within five days in accordance with the request.³⁵⁴ If removal is not practicable, the auditor's office must explain why the removal and insertion is impracticable.³⁵⁵

c. Social security numbers

Social security numbers (SSNs) should be redacted before the disclosure of public records, including court records.³⁵⁶ The Ohio Supreme Court has held that while the federal Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. § 552a) does not expressly prohibit release of one's SSN, the Act does create an expectation of privacy as to the use and disclosure of a SSN.³⁵⁷

Any federal, state, or local government agency that asks individuals to disclose their SSNs must advise the person: (1) whether that disclosure is mandatory or voluntary and, if mandatory, under what authority the SSN is solicited; and (2) what use will be made of it.³⁵⁸ In short, a SSN can only be disclosed if an individual has been given prior notice that the SSN will be publicly available.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

However, the Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that 911 tapes must be made immediately available for public disclosure without redaction, even if the tapes contain SSNs.³⁵⁹ The Court explained that there is no expectation of privacy when a person makes a 911 call. Instead, there is an expectation that the information will be recorded and disclosed to the public.³⁶⁰ Similarly, the Ohio Attorney General has opined that there is no expectation of privacy in official documents containing SSNs.³⁶¹

The Ohio Supreme Court's interpretation of Ohio law with respect to release and redaction of SSNs is binding on public offices within the state. However, a narrower view expressed by a 2008 federal appeals court decision³⁶² is worth noting, as it may impact future Ohio Supreme Court opinions regarding the extent of a person's constitutional right to privacy in his or her SSN. In Lambert v. Hartman, the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals looked to its own past decisions to find a constitutional privacy right in personal information in only two situations: (1) when release of personal information could lead to bodily harm,³⁶³ and (2) when the information released was of a sexual, personal, and humiliating nature.³⁶⁴ The Court explained that it would only balance an individual's right to control the nature and extent of information when a fundamental liberty interest is involved.³⁶⁵ The interest asserted in Lambert—protection from identity theft and the resulting financial harm—was found not to implicate a fundamental right, especially when compared to the fundamental interests found in earlier cases, i.e., preserving the lives of police officers and their family members from “a very real threat”³⁶⁶ by a violent gang, and withholding the “highly personal and extremely humiliating details”³⁶⁷ of a rape.

d. Driver's privacy protection

An authorized recipient of personal information about an individual that the Bureau of Motor Vehicles obtained in connection with a motor vehicle record may re-disclose the personal information only for certain purposes.³⁶⁸

e. Income tax returns

Generally, any information gained as a result of municipal and state income tax returns, investigations, hearings, or verifications are confidential and may only be disclosed as permitted by law.³⁶⁹ Ohio's municipal tax code provides that tax information may only be disclosed (1) in accordance with a judicial order; (2) in connection with the performance of official duties; or (3) in connection with authorized official business of the municipal corporation.³⁷⁰ One Attorney General Opinion found that W-2 federal tax forms prepared and maintained by a township as an employer are public records, but that W-2 forms filed as part of a municipal income tax return are confidential.³⁷¹ Release of municipal income tax information to the Auditor of State is permissible for purposes of facilitation of an audit.³⁷² Federal tax returns and “return information” are also confidential.³⁷³

f. EMS run sheets

When a run sheet created and maintained by a county emergency medical services (EMS) organization documents treatment of a living patient, the EMS organization may redact information that pertains to the patient’s medical history, diagnosis, prognosis, or medical condition.³⁷⁴ However, a patient’s name, address, and other non-medical personal information does not fall under the “medical records” exemption in R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(a) and may not be redacted unless some other exemption applies to that information.³⁷⁵ Accordingly, each run sheet must be examined to determine whether it falls, in whole or in part, within the “medical records” exemption, the physician-patient privilege, or any other exemption for information the release of which is prohibited by law.³⁷⁶

2. Juvenile records

Although it is a common misconception, there is no Ohio law that categorically excludes all juvenile records from public records disclosure.³⁷⁷ As with any other record, a public office must identify a specific law that requires or permits a record regarding a juvenile to be withheld, or else it must be released.³⁷⁸ Examples of laws that exempt specific juvenile records include:

a. Juvenile court records

Records maintained by the juvenile court and parties for certain proceedings are not available for public inspection and copying.³⁷⁹ Although the juvenile court may exclude the general public from most hearings, serious youthful offender proceedings and their transcripts are open to the public unless the court orders a hearing closed.³⁸⁰ The closure hearing notice, proceedings, and decision must themselves be public.³⁸¹ Records of social, mental, and physical examinations conducted pursuant to a juvenile court order,³⁸² records of juvenile probation,³⁸³ and records of juveniles held in custody by the Department of Youth Services are not public records.³⁸⁴ Sealed or expunged juvenile adjudication records must be withheld.³⁸⁵

b. Juvenile law enforcement records

Juvenile offender investigation records maintained by law enforcement agencies, in general, are treated no differently than adult records, including records identifying a juvenile suspect, victim, or witness in an initial incident report.³⁸⁶ Specific additional juvenile exemptions apply to: 1) fingerprints, photographs, and related information in connection with specified juvenile arrest or custody;³⁸⁷ 2) certain information forwarded from a children’s services agency;³⁸⁸ and 3) sealed or

Federal law similarly prohibits disclosure of specified records associated with federal juvenile delinquency proceedings.³⁹⁰ Additionally, federal laws restrict the disclosure of fingerprints and photographs of a juvenile found guilty in federal delinquency proceedings of committing a crime that would have been a felony if the juvenile were prosecuted as an adult.³⁹¹

c. County children services agency records

Records prepared and kept by a public children services agency of investigations of families, children, and foster homes, and of the care of and treatment afforded children, and of other records required by the department of job and family services, are required to be kept confidential by the agency.³⁹² These records shall be open to inspection by the agency and certain listed officials and to other persons upon the written permission of the executive director when it is determined that “good cause” exists to access the records (except as otherwise limited by R.C. 3107.17).³⁹³

d. Some other exemptions for juvenile records

Other exemptions that relate to juvenile records include: 1) reports regarding allegations of child abuse;³⁹⁴ 2) certain records of children services agencies;³⁹⁵ 3) individually identifiable student records;³⁹⁶ 4) certain foster care and day care information;³⁹⁷ and 5) information pertaining to the recreational activities of a person under the age of eighteen.³⁹⁸

3. Student records³⁹⁹

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

transcripts, attendance records, and student disciplinary records.⁴⁰⁴ “Education records” covered by FERPA are not limited to “academic performance, financial aid, or scholastic performance.”⁴⁰⁵ A record is considered to be “directly related” to a student if it contains “personally identifiable information.” The latter term is defined broadly and covers not only obvious identifiers such as student and family member names, addresses, and social security numbers, but also personal characteristics or other information that would make the student’s identity easily linkable.⁴⁰⁶ In evaluating records for release, an institution must consider what the records requester already knows about the student to determine if that knowledge, together with the information to be disclosed, would allow the requester to ascertain the student’s identity.

The federal FERPA law applies to all students, regardless of grade level. In addition, Ohio has adopted laws specifically applicable to public school students in grades K-12.⁴⁰⁷ Those laws provide that, unless otherwise authorized by law, no public school employee is permitted to release or permit access to personally identifiable information – other than directory information – concerning a public school student without written consent of the student’s parent, guardian, or custodian if the student is under 18, or the consent of the student if the student is 18 or older.⁴⁰⁸

“Directory information” is one of several exemptions to the requirement that an institution obtain written consent prior to disclosure. “Directory information” is “information...that would not generally be considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed.”⁴⁰⁹ It includes a student’s name, address, telephone listing, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, date of graduation, and awards received.⁴¹⁰ Pursuant to federal law, post-secondary institutions designate what they will unilaterally release as directory information. For K-12 students, Ohio law leaves that designation to each school district board of education. Institutions at all levels must notify parents and eligible students and give them an opportunity to opt out of disclosure of their directory information.⁴¹¹

Ohio law prohibits release of directory information to any person or group for use in a profit-making plan or activity.⁴¹² A public office may require disclosure of the requester’s identity or the intended use of directory information in order to ascertain if it will be used in a profit-making plan or activity.⁴¹³

Although the release of FERPA-protected records is prohibited by law, a public office or school should redact the student’s personal identifying information, instead of withholding the entire record, when possible.⁴¹⁴

a. Infrastructure and security records

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

“infrastructure records” and “security records.”⁴¹⁵ Other state⁴¹⁶ and federal⁴¹⁷ laws may create exemptions for the same or similar records.

i. Infrastructure records

An “infrastructure record” is any record that discloses the configuration of a public office’s “critical systems,” such as its communications, computer, electrical, mechanical, ventilation, water, plumbing, or security systems.⁴¹⁸ Simple floor plans or records showing the spatial relationship of the public office are not infrastructure records.⁴¹⁹ Infrastructure records may be disclosed for purposes of construction, renovation, or remodeling of a public office without waiving the exempt status of that record.⁴²⁰

ii. Security records

A “security record” is “[a]ny record that contains information directly used for protecting or maintaining the security of a public office against attack, interference, or sabotage ... [or] to prevent, mitigate, or respond to acts of terrorism.”⁴²¹ Protecting a public office includes protecting the employees, officers, and agents who work in that office.⁴²² However, this is not to say that all records involving criminal activity in or near a public building or official are automatically “security records.”⁴²³ Security records may be disclosed for purposes of construction, renovation, or remodeling of a public office without waiving the exempt status of that record.⁴²⁴

b. Records that would jeopardize the security of public office electronic records

Records that would disclose or may lead to the disclosure of records or information that would jeopardize the state’s continued use or security of any computer or telecommunications devices or services associated with electronic signatures, electronic records, or electronic transactions are not public records for purposes of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.⁴²⁵

5. Exemptions related to litigation

a. Attorney-client privilege

“The attorney-client privilege is one of the oldest recognized privileges for confidential communications.”⁴²⁶ Attorney-client privileged records and information must not be revealed without the client’s waiver.⁴²⁷ Such records are thus prohibited from release by both state and federal law for purposes of the catch-all exemption to the Public Records Act.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

The attorney-client privilege arises whenever legal advice of any kind is sought from a professional legal advisor. Those communications made in confidence by the client are permanently protected from disclosure by the client or the legal advisor.⁴²⁸ Records or information that meet those criteria must be withheld or redacted in order to preserve attorney-client privilege.⁴²⁹ For example, drafts of proposed bond documents prepared by an attorney are protected by the attorney-client privilege and are not subject to disclosure.⁴³⁰

The privilege applies to records of communications between public office clients and their attorneys in the same manner that it does for private clients and their attorneys.⁴³¹ Communications between a client and his or her attorney's agent (for example, a paralegal) may also be subject to the attorney-client privilege.⁴³² The privilege also applies to "documents containing communications between members of the public entity represented about the legal advice given."⁴³³ For example, the narrative portions of itemized attorney billing statements to a public office that contain descriptions of work performed may be protected by the attorney-client privilege, although the portions that reflect dates, hours, rates, and the amount billed for the services are usually not protected.⁴³⁴

b. Criminal discovery

Criminal defendants may use the Public Records Act to obtain otherwise public records in a pending criminal proceeding.⁴³⁵ However, Criminal Rule 16 is the "preferred mechanism to obtain discovery from the state."⁴³⁶ Under Criminal Rule 16(H), when a criminal defendant makes a public records request, either directly or indirectly, it "shall be treated as a demand for discovery in a criminal case if, and only if, the request is made to an agency involved in the prosecution or investigation of that case."⁴³⁷

Note that, when a prosecutor discloses materials to a criminal defendant pursuant to the Rules of Criminal Procedure, that disclosure does not mean those records automatically become available for public disclosure.⁴³⁸ The prosecutor does not waive⁴³⁹ applicable public records exemptions, such as trial preparation records or confidential law enforcement records,⁴⁴⁰ simply by complying with discovery rules.⁴⁴¹

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

c. Civil discovery

In pending civil court proceedings, the parties are not limited to the materials available under the civil rules of discovery. A civil litigant is allowed to use the Public Records Act in addition to civil discovery.⁴⁴² The exemptions contained in the Public Records Act do not protect documents from discovery in civil actions.⁴⁴³ The nature of a request as either discovery or a request for public records will determine any available enforcement mechanisms.⁴⁴⁴

The Ohio Rules of Evidence govern the use of public records as evidence in litigation.⁴⁴⁵ Justice Stratton's concurring opinion in the case Gilbert v. Summit County noted that "[t]rial courts have discretion to admit or exclude evidence," and concluded that, "even though a party may effectively circumvent a discovery deadline by acquiring a document through a public records request, it is the trial court that ultimately determines whether those records will be admitted in the pending litigation."⁴⁴⁶

d. Prosecutor and government attorney files (trial preparation and work product)

R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(g) exempts from release any "trial preparation records," which are defined as "any record that contains information that is specifically compiled in reasonable anticipation of, or in defense of, a civil or criminal action or proceeding, including the independent thought processes and personal trial preparation of an attorney."⁴⁴⁷ Documents that a public office obtains as a litigant through discovery will ordinarily qualify as "trial preparation records,"⁴⁴⁸ as would the material compiled for a specific criminal proceeding by a prosecutor or the personal trial preparation by a public attorney.⁴⁴⁹ Attorney trial notes and legal research are "trial preparation records," which may be withheld from disclosure.⁴⁵⁰ Virtually everything in a prosecutor's file during an active prosecution is either material compiled in anticipation of a specific criminal proceeding or personal trial preparation of the prosecutor, and therefore, is exempt from public disclosure as "trial preparation" material.⁴⁵¹ However, unquestionably non-exempt materials do not transform into "trial preparation records" simply because they are held in a prosecutor's file.⁴⁵² For example, routine offense and incident reports are subject to release while a criminal case is active, including those reports in the files of the prosecutor.⁴⁵³

The common law attorney work product doctrine also protects a broader range of materials than attorney-client privilege.⁴⁵⁴ The doctrine provides a qualified privilege⁴⁵⁵ and is incorporated into Rule 26 of both the Ohio and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Ohio Civil Rule 26(B)(3) protects material "prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial." The rule protects "the attorney's mental processes in preparation of litigation" and "establish[es] a zone of privacy in which lawyers can analyze and prepare their client's case."⁴⁵⁶

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

e. Protective orders and sealed / expunged court records⁴⁵⁷

When the release of court records would prejudice the rights of the parties in an ongoing criminal or civil proceeding,⁴⁵⁸ court rules may permit a protective order prohibiting release of the records.⁴⁵⁹ Similarly, when court records have been properly expunged or sealed, they are not available for public disclosure.⁴⁶⁰ The criminal sealing statute does not apply to the sealing of pleadings in related civil cases.⁴⁶¹ However, when a responsive record is sealed, the public office must provide the explanation for withholding, including the legal authority under which the record was sealed.⁴⁶²

Even absent statutory authority, trial courts “in unusual and exceptional circumstances” have the inherent authority to seal court records.⁴⁶³ The judicial power to seal criminal records is narrowly limited to cases in which the accused has been acquitted or exonerated in some way and protection of the accused’s privacy interest is paramount to prevent injustice.⁴⁶⁴ The grant of a pardon under Article III, Section 11 of the Ohio Constitution does not automatically entitle the recipient to have the record of the pardoned conviction sealed,⁴⁶⁵ or give the trial court the authority to seal the conviction outside of the statutory sealing process.⁴⁶⁶

f. Grand jury records

Ohio Criminal Rule 6(E) provides that “[d]eliberations of the grand jury and the vote of any grand juror shall not be disclosed,” and provides for withholding of other specific grand jury matters by certain persons under specific circumstances.⁴⁶⁷ Materials covered by Criminal Rule 6 include transcripts, voting records, subpoenas, and the witness book.⁴⁶⁸ In contrast to those items that document the deliberations and vote of a grand jury, evidentiary documents that would otherwise be public records remain public records, regardless of their having been submitted to the grand jury.⁴⁶⁹

g. Settlement agreements and other contracts

When a governmental entity is a party to a settlement, the trial preparation records exemption will not apply to the settlement agreement.⁴⁷⁰ But the parties are entitled to redact any information within the settlement agreement that is subject to the attorney-client privilege.⁴⁷¹ Any promise not

Chapter Three: Exemptions to the Required Release of Public Records

to release a settlement agreement is void and unenforceable because a contractual provision will not supersede Ohio public records law.⁴⁷²

6. Intellectual property

a. Trade secrets

Trade secrets are defined in R.C. 1333.61(D) and include “information, including ... any business information or plans, financial information, or listing of names” that:

- 1) Derives actual or potential independent economic value from not being generally known to, and not being readily ascertainable by proper means by, other persons who can obtain economic value from its disclosure or use;

and

- 2) Is the subject of efforts that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain its secrecy.⁴⁷³

Information identified in records by its owner as a trade secret is not automatically exempted from disclosure under R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(v) of the Public Records Act as “records the release of which is prohibited by state or federal law.” Rather, identification of a trade secret requires a fact-based assessment.⁴⁷⁴ “An entity claiming trade secret status bears the burden to identify and demonstrate that the material is included in categories of protected information under the statute and additionally must take some active steps to maintain its secrecy.”⁴⁷⁵

The Ohio Supreme Court has adopted the following factors in analyzing a trade secret claim:

- (1) the extent to which the information is known outside the business;
- (2) the extent to which it is known to those inside the business, i.e., by the employees;
- (3) the precautions taken by the holder of the trade secret to guard the secrecy of the information;
- (4) the savings effected and the value to the holder in having the information as against competitors;
- (5) the amount of effort or money expended in obtaining and developing the information; and
- (6) the amount of time and expense it would take for others to acquire and duplicate the information.⁴⁷⁶

The maintenance of secrecy is important but does not require that the trade secret be completely unknown to the public in its entirety. If parts of the trade secret are in the public domain, but the value of the trade secret derives from the parts being taken together with other secret information, then the trade secret remains protected under Ohio law.⁴⁷⁷

Trade secret law is underpinned by “[t]he protection of competitive advantage in private, not public, business.”⁴⁷⁸ However, the Ohio Supreme Court has held that certain governmental entities can have trade secrets in limited situations.⁴⁷⁹ Signed non-disclosure agreements do not create trade secret status for otherwise publicly disclosable documents.⁴⁸⁰

An in camera inspection may be necessary to determine if disputed records contain trade secrets.⁴⁸¹

b. Copyright

Federal copyright law is designed to protect “original works of authorship,” which may exist in one of several specified categories:⁴⁸² (1) literary works; (2) musical works (including any accompanying words); (3) dramatic works (including any accompanying music); (4) pantomimes and choreographic works; (5) pictorial, graphic, and sculptural works; (6) motion pictures and other audiovisual works; (7) sound recordings; and (8) architectural works.⁴⁸³

Federal copyright law provides certain copyright owners the exclusive right of reproduction,⁴⁸⁴ which means public offices could expose themselves to legal liability if they reproduce copyrighted public records in response to a public records request. If a public record sought by a requester is copyrighted material that the public office does not possess the right to reproduce or copy via a copyright ownership or license, the public office is not typically authorized to make copies of this material under federal copyright law.⁴⁸⁵ However, there are some exemptions to this rule. For example, in certain situations, the copying of a portion of a copyrighted work may be permitted.⁴⁸⁶

Note that copyright law only prohibits unauthorized copying, and should not affect a public records request for inspection.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Four: Enforcement and Liabilities

IV. Chapter Four: Enforcement and Liabilities

The Public Records Act is a “self-help” statute. This means that a person who believes that the Act has been violated must independently pursue a remedy, rather than asking a public official (such as the Ohio Attorney General) to initiate legal action on his or her behalf. If a public office or person responsible for public records fails to produce requested records, or otherwise fails to comply with the requirements of division (B) of the Public Records Act, the requester can file a lawsuit to seek a writ of *mandamus*⁴⁸⁷ to enforce compliance and may apply for various sanctions. Alternatively, the requester may file a complaint in the Court of Claims under a new procedure added to Ohio law in 2016.

This section discusses the basic aspects of both a mandamus suit and the new Court of Claims procedures, along with the types of relief available.

A. Public Records Act Statutory Remedies — Mandamus Lawsuit

1. Parties

A person allegedly “aggrieved by”⁴⁸⁸ a public office’s failure to comply with division (B) of the Public Records Act may file an action in mandamus⁴⁸⁹ against the public office or any person responsible for the office’s public records.⁴⁹⁰ A person may file a public records mandamus action regardless of pending related actions⁴⁹¹ but may not seek compliance with a public records request in an action for other types of relief, like an injunction or declaratory judgment.⁴⁹² A relator can file a mandamus action or file a complaint with the Court of Claims, but not both.⁴⁹³ The person who files the suit is called the “relator,” and the named public office or person responsible for the records is called the “respondent.”

2. Where to file

The relator can file the mandamus action in any one of three courts: the common pleas court of the county where the alleged violation occurred, the court of appeals for the appellate district where the alleged violation occurred, or the Ohio Supreme Court.⁴⁹⁴ If a relator files in the Supreme Court, the Court may refer the case to mediation counsel for a settlement conference.⁴⁹⁵

3. When to file

When an official responsible for records has denied a public records request, no administrative appeal to the official’s supervisor is necessary before filing a mandamus action in court.⁴⁹⁶ The likely statute of limitations for filing a public records mandamus action is within ten years after the cause of action accrues.⁴⁹⁷ However, the defense of laches may apply if the respondent can show that unreasonable and inexcusable delay in asserting a known right caused material prejudice to the respondent.⁴⁹⁸

4. Discovery

In general, the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure govern discovery in a public records mandamus case, as in any other civil lawsuit.⁴⁹⁹ While discovery procedures are generally designed to ensure the free flow of accessible information,⁵⁰⁰ in a public records case, it is the access to requested records that is in dispute. Instead of allowing a party to access the withheld records through discovery, the court will instead usually conduct an in camera inspection of the disputed records.⁵⁰¹ An in camera inspection allows the court to view the unredacted records in private⁵⁰² to determine whether the claimed exemption was appropriately applied. Not allowing the relator to view the unredacted records does not violate the relator's due process rights.⁵⁰³ Attorneys are required to prepare a log of the documents subject to the attorney-client privilege in the course of discovery,⁵⁰⁴ but a public office is not required to provide such a log during the initial response to a public records request.⁵⁰⁵ In addition, law enforcement investigatory files sought in discovery are entitled to a qualified common law privilege.⁵⁰⁶

5. Requirements to prevail

To be entitled to a writ of mandamus, the relator must prove that he or she has a clear legal right to the requested relief and that the respondent had a clear legal duty to perform the requested act.⁵⁰⁷ In a public records mandamus lawsuit, this usually includes showing that when the requester made the request, he or she specifically described the records being sought⁵⁰⁸ and specified in the mandamus action the records withheld or other failure to comply with R.C. 149.43(B).⁵⁰⁹ A person is not entitled to file a mandamus action to request public records unless a prior request for those records has already been made and was denied.⁵¹⁰ Only those particular records that were requested from the public office can be litigated in the mandamus action.⁵¹¹

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Four: Enforcement and Liabilities

If these requirements are met, the respondent then has the burden of proving in court that any items withheld are exempt from disclosure⁵¹² and of countering any other alleged violations of R.C. 149.43(B). In defending the action, the public office may rely on any applicable legal authority for withholding or redaction, even if not earlier provided to the requester in response to the request.⁵¹³ The court, if necessary, will review in camera (in private) the materials that were withheld or redacted.⁵¹⁴ To the extent any doubt or ambiguity exists as to the duty of the public office, the public records law will be liberally interpreted in favor of disclosure.⁵¹⁵

Unlike most mandamus actions, a relator in a statutory public records mandamus action need not prove the lack of an adequate remedy at law.⁵¹⁶ Also note that, if a respondent provides requested records to the relator after the filing of a public records mandamus action, all or part of the case may be rendered moot or concluded.⁵¹⁷ Even if the case is rendered moot, the relator may still be entitled to statutory damages and attorney fees.⁵¹⁸ Even if a particular public records dispute becomes moot, a court may still decide the merits of the case if the issue is capable of repetition yet evading review.⁵¹⁹

6. Liabilities of the public office under the Public Records Act⁵²⁰

In a properly filed action, if a court determines that the public office or the person responsible for public records failed to comply with an obligation contained in R.C. 149.43(B) and issues a writ of mandamus, the relator shall be entitled to an award of all court costs⁵²¹ and may receive an award of attorney fees and/or statutory damages, as detailed below.

a. Attorney fees

Recent amendments to R.C. 149.43(C) made some changes to attorney fee awards in public records mandamus actions.⁵²² Any award of attorney fees is within the discretion of the court.⁵²³ Under prior law, an award of discretionary attorney fees was subject to a public-benefit test, i.e., a showing that release of the requested public records provided a public benefit greater than the benefit to the requester.⁵²⁴

A court may award reasonable attorney fees to a relator if: 1) the court orders the public office to comply with R.C. 149.43(B); 2) the court determines that the public office failed to respond to the public records request in accordance with the time allowed under R.C. 149.43(B);⁵²⁵ 3) the court determines that the public office promised to permit inspection or deliver copies within a specified period of time but failed to fulfill that promise;⁵²⁶ or 4) the court determines that the public office acted in bad faith when it voluntarily made the public records available to the relator for the first time after the relator commenced the mandamus action but before the court issued any order. In the last scenario, the relator is also entitled to court costs,⁵²⁷ but the relator may not conduct discovery on the issue of bad faith and the court may not presume bad faith by the public office.⁵²⁸

An award of attorney fees may be reduced or eliminated at the discretion of the court (see Section 5 below). Litigation expenses, other than court costs, are not recoverable at all.⁵²⁹

b. Amount of fees

Only those attorney fees directly associated with the mandamus action,⁵³⁰ and only fees paid or actually owed,⁵³¹ may be awarded. The opportunity to collect attorney fees does not apply when the relator appears before the court pro se (without an attorney), even if the pro se relator is an attorney.⁵³² Neither the wages of in-house counsel⁵³³ nor the contingency fees are considered “paid or actually owed.”⁵³⁴ The relator is entitled to fees only insofar as the requests had merit.⁵³⁵ Reasonable attorney fees also include reasonable fees incurred to produce proof of the reasonableness and amount of the fees and to otherwise litigate entitlement to the fees.⁵³⁶ A relator may waive a claim for attorney fees (and statutory damages) by not including any argument in support of an award of fees in its merit brief.⁵³⁷ The attorney fee award shall not exceed the fees incurred before the public record was made available to the relator and the reasonable fees incurred to demonstrate entitlement to fees.⁵³⁸ Court costs and reasonable attorney fees awarded in public records mandamus actions are considered remedial rather than punitive.⁵³⁹

c. Statutory damages

A person who transmits a valid written request for public records by hand delivery or certified mail⁵⁴⁰ is entitled to receive statutory damages if a court finds that the public office failed to comply with its obligations under R.C. 149.43(B).⁵⁴¹ The award of statutory damages is not considered a penalty, but it is intended to compensate the requester for injury arising from lost use⁵⁴² of the requested information, and if lost use is proven, then injury is conclusively presumed. Statutory damages are fixed at $100 for each business day during which the respondent fails to comply with division (B), beginning with the day on which the relator files a mandamus action to recover statutory damages, up to a maximum of $1000.⁵⁴³ This means that a respondent may stop further accrual of statutory damages by fully complying with division (B) before the maximum is reached. The Act “does not permit stacking of statutory damages based on what is essentially the same records request.”⁵⁴⁴

d. Recovery of deleted email records

The Ohio Supreme Court has determined that if there is evidence showing that records in email format have been deleted in violation of a public office’s records retention schedule, the public office has a duty to recover the contents of deleted emails and to provide access to them.⁵⁴⁵ The courts will consider the relief available to the requester based on several factors, including whether: emails were improperly destroyed; forensic recovery of emails might be successful; and the proposed recovery efforts were reasonable.⁵⁴⁶

e. Reduction of attorney fees and statutory damages

A court may either eliminate or reduce an award of attorney fees and statutory damages based on the facts of the particular case. A court shall not award any attorney fees if it determines both of the following:⁵⁴⁷ ⁵³⁸ R.C. 149.43(C)(4)(b) and (c).

- 1) That, based on the law as it existed at the time, a well-informed person responsible for the requested public records reasonably would have believed that the conduct of the respondent did not constitute a failure to comply with an obligation of R.C. 149.43(B);⁵⁴⁸
and
- 2) That a well-informed person responsible for the requested public records reasonably would have believed that the conduct of the public office would serve the public policy that underlies the authority that it asserted as permitting that conduct.⁵⁴⁹

The court may also reduce an award of statutory damages for the same reasons.⁵⁵⁰

A court may also reduce an award of attorney fees if it determines that, given the facts of the particular case, an alternative means should have been pursued to more effectively and efficiently resolve the public records dispute.⁵⁵¹

7. Liabilities applicable to either party

The following additional remedies may be available against a party in a public records mandamus action. They are applicable regardless of whether the party represents him or herself (“pro se”) or is represented by counsel.

a. Frivolous conduct

If the court does not issue a writ of mandamus and the court determines that the bringing of the mandamus action was frivolous conduct as defined in R.C. 2323.51(A), the court may award to the public office all court costs, expenses, and reasonable attorney fees, as determined by the court.⁵⁵²

Any party adversely affected by frivolous conduct of another party may file a motion with the court, not more than 30 days after the entry of final judgment,⁵⁵³ for an award of court costs, reasonable attorney fees, and other reasonable expenses incurred in connection with the lawsuit or appeal.⁵⁵⁴ When a court determines that the accused party has engaged in frivolous conduct, a party adversely affected by the conduct may recover the full amount of the reasonable attorney fees incurred, even fees paid or in the process of being paid, or in the process of being paid by an insurance carrier.⁵⁵⁵ Sanctions for frivolous conduct are reviewed on appeal under an abuse of discretion standard.⁵⁵⁶

b. Civil Rule 11

Civ.R. 11 provides, in part:

The signature of an attorney or pro se party constitutes a certificate by the attorney or party that the attorney or party has read the document; that to the best of the attorney's or party's knowledge, information, and belief there is good ground to support it; and that it is not interposed for delay.... For a willful violation of this rule, an attorney or pro se party, upon motion of a party or upon the court's own motion, may be subjected to appropriate action, including an award to the opposing party of expenses and reasonable attorney fees incurred in bringing any motion under this rule.

Courts have found sanctionable conduct under Civ.R. 11 in public records cases.⁵⁵⁷ Any Civ.R. 11 motion must be filed within a reasonable period of time following the final judgment.⁵⁵⁸ An award or denial of Civ.R. 11 sanctions is reviewed on appeal under an abuse of discretion standard.⁵⁵⁹

B. Public Records Act Statutory Remedies — Court of Claims Procedure

On September 28, 2016, a new process for resolving public records disputes was added to Ohio law.⁵⁶⁰ This change gives public records requesters an expedited and economical process for resolving public records disputes in the Ohio Court of Claims.⁵⁶¹ The Court of Claims is an Ohio court of limited jurisdiction, originally created to hear claims against the state for monetary damages.⁵⁶² A requester can pursue either a mandamus action (see Section A above) or resolution in the Court of Claims, but not both with regard to a particular public records request.⁵⁶³

A requester may file a Court of Claims public records complaint, on a form prescribed by the clerk of the court of claims, in either the common pleas court in the county where the public office is located, or directly with the Court of Claims.⁵⁶⁴ The requester must attach to the complaint copies of the records request in dispute and any written responses or other communications about the request from the public office.⁵⁶⁵ The filing fee is $25.⁵⁶⁶ If the requester files the complaint in a common pleas court, the clerk of that court will serve the complaint on the public office and then forward it to the Court of Claims for all further proceedings.⁵⁶⁷

When the Court of Claims receives any complaint, it will be assigned to a special master for review.⁵⁶⁸ A special master is an attorney who serves as a judicial officer in the Court of Claims; his or her recommended decisions are reviewed by a judge of the Court of Claims.⁵⁶⁹ The Court of Claims is able to dismiss the complaint on its own authority, if recommended by the special master.⁵⁷⁰ The requester may also voluntarily dismiss his or her complaint at any time.⁵⁷¹ If the Court of Claims determines that the complaint constitutes a case of first impression that involves an issue of substantial public interest, the

Court must dismiss the complaint and direct the requester to file a mandamus action in the appropriate court of appeals.⁵⁷²

Once the complaint is served on the public office, the special master will refer the case to mediation.⁵⁷³ While in mediation, the case is stayed—that is, action in the case is suspended until mediation concludes.⁵⁷⁴ Mediation may be conducted by telephone or any other electronic means.⁵⁷⁵ If mediation resolves the dispute between the parties, the case is dismissed.⁵⁷⁶ The special master can also determine, in consideration of the particular circumstances of the case and the interests of justice, that the case should not be referred to mediation at all.⁵⁷⁷

If mediation does not resolve the dispute, the mediation stay terminates and the case proceeds with the Court of Claims process.⁵⁷⁸ After mediation terminates, the public office has ten (10) business days to file a response to the complaint.⁵⁷⁹ The public office may also file a motion to dismiss, if applicable.⁵⁸⁰ No other motions or pleadings—other than the complaint, response, and/or motion to dismiss—will be accepted by the Court of Claims in the matter.⁵⁸¹ The special master may direct the parties in writing to file any additional motions, pleadings, information, or documentation, if needed.⁵⁸² No discovery is permitted, and the parties may support their pleadings with affidavits.⁵⁸³

Within seven (7) business days of receiving the public office’s response to the complaint or motion to dismiss, the special master must submit a report and recommendation to the Court of Claims.⁵⁸⁴ A report and recommendation is a written statement of findings by the special master and a proposal for the Court of Claims about how the case should be resolved.⁵⁸⁵ All parties will receive a copy of the report and recommendation.⁵⁸⁶ The parties have seven (7) business days after receipt of the report and recommendation to file a written objection.⁵⁸⁷ The objection must be specific and state with particularity all grounds for the objection.⁵⁸⁸ If a party objects, the other party may file a response to the objection within seven (7) business days.⁵⁸⁹

If neither party timely objects, the Court of Claims must issue an order adopting the report and recommendation unless there is an error evident on its face.⁵⁹⁰ There can be no appeal from this decision unless the Court of Claims materially altered the report and recommendation.⁵⁹¹ If one or more of the parties objected to the report and recommendation, the Court of Claims must issue a final order within seven (7) business days after the final response(s) to the objection(s) is received.⁵⁹² Either party may appeal that order to the court of appeals for the appellate district where the public office is located.⁵⁹³ Any appeal must be given precedence to ensure that a decision is promptly reached.⁵⁹⁴

If the appellate court finds that the public office obviously filed an appeal with the intent to delay compliance with R.C. 149.43(B) or unduly harass the requester, the court of appeals may award reasonable attorney's fees to the requester pursuant to R.C. 149.43(C).⁵⁹⁵ No discovery can be taken on this issue, and the court is not to presume that the appeal was filed with intent to delay or harass.⁵⁹⁶

If no appeal is taken and the Court of Claims determines that the public office denied access to public records in violation of R.C. 149.43(B), the Court of Claims must order the public office to permit access to the public records, and to reimburse the requestor for the $25 filing fee and any other costs associated with the action that were incurred by the requester.⁵⁹⁷ The requester is not entitled to recover attorney's fees.⁵⁹⁸

Chapter Five: Other Obligations of Public Office

V. Chapter Five: Other Obligations of a Public Office

Public offices have other obligations with regard to the records that they keep. These include:

- Managing public records by organizing them such that they can be made available in response to public records requests,⁵⁹⁹ and ensuring that all records – public or not – are maintained and disposed of only in accordance with properly adopted, applicable records retention schedules;⁶⁰⁰
- Maintaining a copy of the office’s current records retention schedules at a location readily available to the public;⁶⁰¹
- Adopting and posting an office public records policy;⁶⁰² and
- Ensuring that all elected officials associated with the public office, or their designees, obtain three hours of certified public records training through the Ohio Attorney General’s Office once during each term of office.⁶⁰³

Additionally, the Ohio Auditor of State’s Office recommends that public offices log and track the public records requests they receive to ensure compliance with the Ohio Public Records Act. Auditor of State Bulletin 2011-006 explains the office’s recommended Best Practices for Complying with Public Records Requests.⁶⁰⁴

A. Records Management

Records are a crucial component of the governing process. They contain information that supports government functions affecting every person in government and within its jurisdiction. Like other important government resources, records and the information they contain must be well managed to ensure accountability, efficiency, economy, and overall good government.

The term “records management” encompasses two distinct obligations of a public office, each of which furthers the goals of the Public Records Act. First, in order to facilitate broader access to public records, a public office must organize and maintain the public records it keeps in a manner such that they can be made available for inspection or copying in response to a public records request.⁶⁰⁵

Second, Ohio’s records retention law, R.C. 149.351, prohibits unauthorized removal, destruction, mutilation, transfer, damages, or disposal of any record or part of a record, except as provided by law or under the rules adopted by the records commissions (i.e., pursuant to approved records retention schedules).⁶⁰⁶ This law helps facilitate transparency in government and is one means of preventing the circumvention of the Public Records Act.⁶⁰⁷ Therefore, in the absence of a law or retention schedule permitting disposal of particular records, an office lacks the required authority to dispose of those records and must maintain them until proper authority to dispose of them is obtained. In the meantime, the records remain subject to public records requests. Public offices at various levels of government, including state agencies, boards and commissions, and local political subdivisions, have different resources and processes for adopting records retention schedules. Those processes are described below.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Five: Other Obligations of Public Office

In addition, a public office shall only create records that are “necessary for the adequate and proper documentation of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, and essential transactions of the agency and for the protection of the legal and financial rights of the state and persons directly affected by the agency’s activities.”⁶⁰⁸ This standard only addresses the records required to be created by a public office. A public office may receive many records in addition to those it creates. Those records received, if they meet the definition of a record, must also be retained and disposed of in accordance with records retention schedules.

1. Records management programs

a. Local government records commissions

Authorization for disposition of local government records is provided by applicable statutes, and by rules adopted by records commissions at the county,⁶⁰⁹ township,⁶¹⁰ and municipal⁶¹¹ levels. Records commissions also exist for each library district,⁶¹² special taxing district,⁶¹³ school district,⁶¹⁴ and educational service center.⁶¹⁵

Records commissions are responsible for reviewing applications for one-time disposal of obsolete records, as well as records retention schedules submitted by government offices within their jurisdiction.⁶¹⁶ Once a commission has approved an application or schedule, it is forwarded to the State Archives at the Ohio History Connection for review and identification of records⁶¹⁷ that the State Archives deems to be of continuing historical value.⁶¹⁸ Upon completion of that process, the Ohio History Connection will forward the application or schedule to the Auditor of State for approval or disapproval.⁶¹⁹

b. State records program

The Ohio Department of Administrative Services (DAS) administers the records program for all state agencies,⁶²⁰ with the exception of state-supported institutions of higher education, and upon request for the legislative and judicial branches of government.⁶²¹ Among its other duties, the state records program is responsible for establishing “general schedules” for the disposal of certain types of records common to most state agencies. State agencies must affirmatively adopt, within the Records and Information Management System (RIMS), any existing general schedules they wish to utilize.⁶²² Once a general schedule has been officially adopted by a state agency, when the time specified in the general schedule has elapsed, the records identified should no longer have sufficient administrative, legal, fiscal, or other value to warrant further preservation by the state.⁶²³

If a state agency keeps a record series that does not fit into an existing state general schedule, or if it wishes to modify the language of a general schedule to better suit its needs, the state agency can submit its own proposed retention schedules to DAS via the online RIMS for approval by DAS, the Auditor of State, and the State Archivist.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Five: Other Obligations of Public Office

The state's records program works in a similar fashion to local records commissions, except that applications and schedules are forwarded to the State Archives and the Auditor of State for review simultaneously following the approval of DAS.⁶²⁴ Again, the State Archives focuses on identifying records with enduring historical value. The State Auditor decides whether to approve, reject, or modify applications and schedules based on the continuing administrative and fiscal value of the state records to the state or to its citizens.⁶²⁵

c. Records program for state-supported colleges and universities

State-supported institutions of higher education are unique, in that their records programs are established and administered by their respective boards of trustees rather than a separate records commission or the State's records program.⁶²⁶ Through their records programs, these state offices are charged with applying efficient and economical management methods to the creation, utilization, maintenance, retention, preservation, and disposition of records.⁶²⁷

2. Records retention and disposition

a. Retention schedules

Records of a public office may be destroyed, but only if they are destroyed in compliance with a properly approved records retention schedule.⁶²⁸ In a 2008 decision, the Ohio Supreme Court emphasized that, "in cases in which public records, including e-mails, are properly disposed of in accordance with a duly adopted records-retention policy, there is no entitlement to those records under the Public Records Act."⁶²⁹ However, if the retention schedule does not address the particular type of record in question, the record must be kept until the schedule is properly amended to address that category of records.⁶³⁰ Also, if a public record is retained beyond its properly approved destruction date, it keeps its public record status and is subject to public records requests until it is destroyed.⁶³¹

In crafting proposed records retention schedules, a public office must evaluate the length of time each type of record needs to be retained after it has been received or created by the office for administrative, legal, or fiscal purposes.⁶³² Consideration should also be given to the enduring historical value of each type of record, which will also be evaluated by the State Archives at the Ohio History Connection when that office conducts its review. Local records commissions may consult with the State Archives at the Ohio History Connection during this process,⁶³³ the state records program offers consulting services for state offices.⁶³⁴

b. Transient records

Adoption of a schedule for transient records – that is, records containing information of short term usefulness – allows a public office to dispose of these records once they are no longer of administrative value.⁶³⁵ Examples of transient records include voicemail messages, telephone message slips, post-it notes, and superseded drafts.

c. Records disposition

It is important to document the disposition of records after they have satisfied their approved retention periods. Local governments should file a Certificate of Records Disposal (RC-3) with the State Archives at the Ohio History Connection at least fifteen business days prior to the destruction in order to allow the State Archives to select records of enduring historical value. State agencies can document their records disposals on the RIMS system or in-house. Even with recent changes to R.C. 149.38 and R.C. 149.381 concerning times when it is not necessary to submit the RC-3 to the State Archives, it is important for a government entity to internally track records disposals, particularly tracking under which retention schedule the records were disposed, the record series title, the inclusive dates of the records, and the date of disposal.

3. Liability for unauthorized destruction, damage, or disposal of records

All records are considered to be the property of the public office and must be delivered by outgoing officials and employees to their successors in office.⁶³⁶ Improper removal, destruction, damage or other disposition of a record is a violation of R.C. 149.351(A).

a. Injunction and civil forfeiture

Ohio law allows “any person who is aggrieved by”⁶³⁷ the unauthorized “removal, destruction, mutilation, transfer, or other damage to or disposition of a record,” or by the threat of such action, to file either or both of the following types of lawsuits in the appropriate common pleas court:

- A civil action for an injunction to force the public office to comply with R.C. 149.351(A), as well as any reasonable attorney fees associated with the suit.⁶³⁸
- A civil action to recover a forfeiture of $1,000 for each violation of R.C. 149.351(A), not to exceed a cumulative total of $10,000 (regardless of the number of violations), as well as reasonable attorney fees associated with the suit, not to exceed the forfeiture amount recovered.⁶³⁹

A person is not “aggrieved” unless he establishes, as a threshold matter, that he made an enforceable public records request for the records claimed to have been disposed of in violation of R.C. 149.351.⁶⁴⁰ Also, a person is not “aggrieved” by a violation of R.C. 149.351(A) if clear and convincing evidence shows that the request for a record was contrived as a pretext to create liability under the section.⁶⁴¹ If pretext is so proven, the court may order the requester to pay reasonable attorney fees to the defendant(s).⁶⁴²

b. Limits on filing action for unauthorized destruction, damage, or disposal

A person has five years from the date of the alleged violation or threatened violation to file the above actions⁶⁴³ and has the burden of providing evidence that records were destroyed in violation of R.C. 149.351.⁶⁴⁴ When any person has recovered a forfeiture in a civil action under R.C. 149.351(B)(2), no other person may recover a forfeiture for that same record, regardless of the number of persons “aggrieved,” or the number of civil lawsuits filed.⁶⁴⁵ Determining the number of “violations” involved is an ad hoc determination that may depend on the nature of the records involved.⁶⁴⁶

c. Attorney fees

The aggrieved person may seek an award of reasonable attorney fees for either the injunctive action or an action for civil forfeiture.⁶⁴⁷ An award of attorney fees under R.C. 149.351 is discretionary,⁶⁴⁸ and the award of attorney fees for the forfeiture action may not exceed the forfeiture amount.⁶⁴⁹

4. Availability of records retention schedules

All public offices must maintain a copy of all current records retention schedules at a location readily available to the public.⁶⁵⁰

B. Records management – practical pointers

1. Fundamentals

Create Records Retention Schedules and Follow Them

Every record, public or not, that is kept by a public office must be covered by a records retention schedule. Without an applicable schedule dictating how long a record must be kept and when it can be destroyed, a public office must keep that record forever. Apart from the inherent long-term storage problems and associated costs this creates for a public office, the office is also responsible for continuing to maintain the record in such a way that it can be made available at any time if it is responsive to a public records request. Creating and following schedules for all of its records allows a public office to dispose of records once they are no longer necessary or valuable.

Content – Not Medium – Determines How Long to Keep a Record

Deciding how long to keep a record should be based on the content of the record, not on the medium on which it exists. Not all paper documents are “records” for purposes of the Public Records Act; similarly, not all documents transmitted via email are “records” that must be maintained and destroyed pursuant to a records retention schedule. Accordingly, in order to fulfill both its records management and public records responsibilities, a public office should categorize all of the items it keeps that are deemed to be records – regardless of the form or transmission method in which they exist – based on content, and store them based on those content categories, or “records series,” for as long as the records have legal, administrative, fiscal, or historic value. (Note that storing email records unsorted on a server does not satisfy records retention requirements because the server does not allow for the varying disposal schedules of different record series.)

Practical Application

Creating and implementing a records management system might sound daunting. For most public offices, though, it is a matter of simple housekeeping. Many offices already have the scaffolding of existing records retention schedules in place, which may be improved in the manner outlined below.

2. Managing records in five easy steps:

a. Conduct a records inventory

The purpose of an inventory is to identify and describe the types of records an office keeps. Existing records retention schedules are a good starting point for determining the types of records an office keeps, as well as identifying records that are no longer kept or new types of records for which new schedules need to be created.

For larger offices, it is helpful to designate a staff member from each functional area of the office who knows the kinds of records his or her department creates and why, what the records document, and how and where they are kept.

b. Categorize records by record series

Records should be grouped according to record series. A record series is a group of similar records that are related because they are created, received or used for, or result from the same purpose or activity. Record series descriptions should be broad enough to encompass all records of a particular type (“Itemized Phone Bills” rather than “FY07-FY08 Phone Bills” for instance), but not so broad that it fails to be instructive (such as “Finance Department emails”) or leaves the contents open to interpretation or “shoehorning.”

c. Decide how long to keep each records series

Retention periods are determined by assessing four values for each category of records:

Administrative Value: A record maintains its administrative value as long as it is useful and relevant to the execution of the activities that caused the record to be created. Administrative value is determined by how long the record is needed by the office to carry out – that is, to “administer” – its duties. Every record created by government entities should have administrative value, which can vary from being transient (a notice of change in meeting location) to long-term (personnel files).

Legal Value: A record has legal value if it documents or protects the rights or obligations of citizens or the agency that created it, provides for defense in litigation, or demonstrates compliance with laws, statutes, and regulations. Examples include contracts, real estate records, retention schedules, and licenses.

Fiscal Value: A record has fiscal value if it pertains to the receipt, transfer, payment, adjustment, or encumbrance of funds, or if it is required for an audit. Examples include payroll records and travel vouchers.

Historical Value: A record has historical value if it contains significant information about people, places, or events. The State Archives suggests that historical documents be retained permanently. Examples include board or commission meeting minutes and annual reports.

Retention periods should be set to the highest of these values and should reflect how long the record needs to be kept, not how long it can be kept.

d. Dispose of records on schedule

Records retention schedules indicate how long particular record series must be kept and when and how the office can dispose of them. Records kept past their retention period are still subject to public records requests and can be unwieldy and expensive to store and/or migrate as technology changes. As a practical matter, it is helpful to designate a records manager or records custodian to assist in crafting retention schedules, monitoring when records are due for disposal, and ensuring proper completion of disposal forms.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Five: Other Obligations of Public Office

e. Review schedules regularly and revise, delete, or create new schedules as the law and the office's operations change

Keep track of new record series that are created as a result of statutory and policy changes. Ohio law requires all records to be scheduled within one year after the date that they are created or received.⁶⁵¹

C. Helpful Resources for Local Government Offices

Ohio History Connection/State Archives – Local Government Records Program

The Local Government Records Program of the State Archives (see: www.ohiohistory.org/lgr) provides records-related advice, forms, model retention manuals, and assistance to local governments in order to facilitate the identification and preservation of local government records with enduring historical value. Please direct inquiries and send forms to:

D. Helpful Resources for State Government Offices

1. Ohio Department of Administrative Services records management program

The Ohio Department of Administrative Services' State Records Administration can provide records management advice and assistance to state agencies, as well as provide training seminars by request. Information available on their website includes:

- Access to the Records Information Management System (RIMS) retention schedule database;
- RIMS User Manual;
- General Retention Schedules; and
- Records Inventory and Analysis template.

Ohio Electronic Records Committee

Electronic records present unique challenges for archivists and records managers. As society shifts from traditional methods of recordkeeping to electronic recordkeeping, the issues surrounding the management of electronic records become more significant. Although the nature of electronic records is constantly evolving, these records are being produced at an ever-increasing rate. As these records multiply, the need for leadership and policy becomes more urgent.

The goal of the Ohio Electronic Records Committee (OhioERC) is to draft guidelines for the creation, maintenance, long term preservation of, and access to electronic records created by Ohio's state and local governments. Helpful documents available on the OhioERC's website include:

- Social Media: The Records Management Challenges;
- Hybrid Microfilm Guidelines;
- Digital Document Imaging Guidelines and Scanning Feasibility Tool;
- Electronic Records Management Guidelines;
- General Schedules for Electronic Records;
- Electronic Records Policy;
- Managing Electronic Mail;
- Trustworthy Information Systems Handbook; and
- Topical Tip Sheets.

Chapter Five: Other Obligations of Public Office

F. Public Records Policy

A public office must create and adopt a policy for responding to public records requests. The Ohio Attorney General's Office has developed a model public records policy, which may serve as a guide.⁶⁵² The public records policy must be distributed to the records manager, records custodian, or the employee who otherwise has custody of the records of the office, and that employee must acknowledge receipt. In addition, a poster describing the policy must be posted in the public office in a conspicuous location, as well as in all branch offices.⁶⁵³ The public records policy must be included in the office's policies and procedures manual, if one exists, and may be posted on the office's website.⁶⁵⁴ Compliance with these requirements will be audited by the Auditor of State in the course of a regular financial audit.⁶⁵⁵

A public records policy may ...

limit the number of records that the office will transmit by United States mail to a particular requester to ten per month, unless the requester certifies in writing that the requested records and/or the information those records contain will not be used or forwarded for commercial purposes. For purposes of this division, "commercial" shall be narrowly construed and does not include reporting or gathering of news, reporting or gathering of information to assist citizen oversight or understanding of the operation or activities of government, or non-profit educational research.⁶⁵⁶

A public records policy may not ...

- limit the number of public records made available to a single person;
- limit the number of records the public office will make available during a fixed period of time; or
- establish a fixed period of time before the public office will respond to a request for inspection or copying of public records (unless that period is less than eight hours).⁶⁵⁷

G. Required Public Records Training for Elected Officials

All local and statewide elected government officials⁶⁵⁸ or their designees⁶⁵⁹ must attend a three-hour public records training program during each term of elective office⁶⁶⁰ the official serves.⁶⁶¹ The training must be developed and certified by the Ohio Attorney General's Office and presented either by the Ohio Attorney General's Office or an approved entity with which the Attorney General's Office contracts.⁶⁶² The Attorney General shall ensure that the training programs and seminars are accredited by the Commission on Continuing Legal Education established by the Supreme Court.⁶⁶³ Compliance with the training provision will be audited by the Auditor of State in the course of a regular financial audit.⁶⁶⁴

Note that R.C. 109.43(A) does not provide a definition of "appropriate."

⁶⁶⁰ R.C. 109.43(B) (providing that training shall be three hours for every term of office for which the elected official was appointed or elected to the public office involved).

⁶⁶¹ R.C. 109.43(E)(1); R.C. 109.43(B) (providing that this training is intended to enhance an elected official's knowledge of his or her duty to provide access to public records and to provide guidance in developing and updating his or her office's public records policies); R.C. 149.43(E)(1) (providing that another express purpose of the training is "[t]o ensure that all employees of public offices are appropriately educated about a public office's obligations under division (B) of [the Public Records Act]").

⁶⁶² R.C. 109.43(B)-(D) (providing that the Attorney General's Office may not charge a fee to attend the training programs it conducts, but outside contractors that provide the certified training may charge a registration fee that is based on the "actual and necessary" expenses associated with the training, as determined by the Attorney General's Office).

Chapter Six: Special Topics

VI. Chapter Six: Special Topics

A. CLEIRs: Confidential Law Enforcement Investigatory Records Exemption⁶⁶⁵

This exemption is often mistaken as one that applies only to police investigations. In fact, the Confidential Law Enforcement Investigatory Records exemption, commonly known as “CLEIRs,” applies to investigations of alleged violations of criminal, quasi-criminal, civil, and administrative law. It does not apply to most investigations conducted for purposes of employment matters, such as internal disciplinary investigations,⁶⁶⁶ pre-employment questionnaires and polygraph tests,⁶⁶⁷ or to public records that later become the subject of a law enforcement investigation.⁶⁶⁸

Note that a public records request for any criminal or juvenile adjudicatory investigation made by an incarcerated adult or juvenile must be pre-approved by the sentencing judge.⁶⁶⁹ After pre-approval, the request is still subject to any exemptions and defenses that apply to the requested records.

1. CLEIRs defined:

Under CLEIRs, a public office may withhold any records that both:

- (1) Pertains to a law enforcement matter of a criminal, quasi-criminal, civil, or administrative nature,⁶⁷⁰

and

- (2) If released, would create a high probability of disclosing any of the following information:⁶⁷¹

- Identity of an uncharged suspect;
- Identity of a source or witness to whom confidentiality was reasonably promised;
- Specific confidential investigatory techniques or procedures;
- Specific investigatory work product; or
- Information that would endanger the life or physical safety of law enforcement personnel, a crime victim, a witness, or a confidential information source.

2. Determining whether the CLEIRs exemption applies

Remember that the CLEIRs exemption is a strict two-step test, and a record must first qualify as pertaining to a “law enforcement matter” under Step One before any of the exemption categories in Step Two will apply to the record.⁶⁷²

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Six: Special Topics

Step one: Pertains to “a law enforcement matter”

An investigation is only considered a “law enforcement matter” if it meets each prong of the following 3-part test:

(a) Has an investigation been initiated upon specific suspicion of wrongdoing?⁶⁷³

Investigation records must be generated in response to specific alleged misconduct, not as the incidental result of routine monitoring.⁶⁷⁴ However, “routine” investigations of the use of deadly force by officers, even if the initial facts indicate accident or self-defense, are sufficient to meet this requirement.⁶⁷⁵

(b) Does the alleged conduct violate criminal,⁶⁷⁶ quasi-criminal,⁶⁷⁷ civil,⁶⁷⁸ or administrative law?⁶⁷⁹

So long as the conduct is prohibited by statute or administrative rule, whether the punishment is criminal, quasi-criminal, civil, or administrative in nature is irrelevant.⁶⁸⁰

“Law enforcement matter of a criminal, quasi-criminal, civil, or administrative nature” refers directly to the enforcement of the law and not to employment or personnel matters ancillary to law enforcement matters.⁶⁸¹

Disciplinary investigations of alleged violations of internal office policies or procedures are not law enforcement matters,⁶⁸² including disciplinary matters and personnel files of law enforcement officers.⁶⁸³

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Six: Special Topics

(c) Does the public office have the authority to investigate or enforce the law allegedly violated?

If the office does not have legally-mandated investigative⁶⁸⁴ or enforcement authority over the alleged violation of the law, then the records it holds are not “a law enforcement matter” for that office.⁶⁸⁵ For example, if an investigating law enforcement agency obtains a copy of an otherwise public record of another public office as part of an investigation, the original record remaining in the hands of the other public office is not covered by the CLEIRs exemption.⁶⁸⁶

Step two: High probability of disclosing certain information

If an investigative record does pertain to a “law enforcement matter,” the CLEIRs exemption applies, but only to the extent that release of the record would create a high probability of disclosing one or more of the following five types of information:⁶⁸⁷

(a) Identity of an uncharged suspect in connection with the investigated conduct

An “uncharged suspect” is a person who at some point in the investigatory agency’s investigation was believed to have committed a crime or offense,⁶⁸⁸ but who has not been arrested⁶⁸⁹ or charged⁶⁹⁰ for the offense to which the investigative record pertains. The purposes of this exemption include: (1) protecting the rights of individuals to be free from unwarranted adverse publicity; and (2) protecting law enforcement investigations from being compromised.⁶⁹¹

Only the particular information that has a high probability of revealing the identity of an uncharged suspect can be redacted from otherwise non-exempt records prior to the records’ release.⁶⁹² When the contents of a particular record in an investigatory file are so “inextricably intertwined” with the suspect’s identity that redacting will fail to protect the person’s identity in connection with the investigated conduct, that entire record may be Icsman*, 92 Ohio St.3d 312, 316 (2001) (finding street repair records of city’s public works superintendent were “unquestionably public records” and “[t]he mere fact that these records might have subsequently become relevant to Dillery’s criminal cases did not transform them into records exempt from disclosure”); State ex rel. Hamilton Cty., 75 Ohio St.3d 374, 378 (1996) (holding that a public record that “subsequently came into the possession and/or control of a prosecutor, other law enforcement officials, or even the grand jury has no significance” because “[o]nce clothed with the public records cloak, the records cannot be defrocked of their status”).

Arrest records and intoxilyzer records which contain the names of persons who have been formally charged with an offense, as well as those who have been arrested and/or issued citations but who have not been formally charged, are not confidential law enforcement investigatory records with the exception of R.C. 149.43(A)(2)(a).”).

Thus, if only part of a record is exempt, the government may redact the exempt part and release the rest.”).

withheld.⁶⁹³ However, the application of this exemption to some records in an investigative file does not automatically create a blanket exemption covering all other records in the file, and the public office must still release any investigative records that do not individually have a high probability of revealing the uncharged suspect's identity.⁶⁹⁴ Note: use of any exemption requires an explanation, including legal authority, to be provided in any response that denies access to records.⁶⁹⁵

The uncharged suspect exemption applies even if:

- time has passed since the investigation was closed;⁶⁹⁶
- the suspect has been accurately identified in media coverage;⁶⁹⁷ or
- the uncharged suspect is the person requesting the information.⁶⁹⁸

(b) Identity of a confidential source

For purposes of the CLEIRs exemption, “confidential sources” are those who have been “reasonably promised confidentiality.”⁶⁹⁹ A promise of confidentiality is considered reasonable if it was made on the basis of the law enforcement investigator's determination that the promise is necessary to obtain the information.⁷⁰⁰ When possible, it is advisable – though not required – that the investigator document the specific reasons why promising confidentiality was necessary to further the investigation.⁷⁰¹ Promises of confidentiality contained in policy statements or given as a matter of course during routine administrative procedures are not “reasonable” promises of confidentiality for purposes of the CLEIRs exemption.⁷⁰²

This exemption exists only to protect the identity of the information source, not the information he or she provides.⁷⁰³ However, when the contents of a particular record in an investigatory file are so inextricably intertwined with the confidential source's identity that redacting will fail to protect the person's identity in connection with the investigated conduct, the identifying material within a record, or even the entire record, may be withheld.⁷⁰⁴

(c) Specific confidential investigatory techniques or procedures results, may be redacted pursuant to this exemption.⁷⁰⁶ One purpose of the exemption is to avoid compromising the effectiveness of confidential investigative techniques.⁷⁰⁷ Routine investigative techniques are not covered under the exemption.⁷⁰⁸

(d) Investigative work product

Statutory Definition: Information, including notes, working papers, memoranda, or similar materials, assembled by law enforcement officials in connection with a probable or pending criminal proceeding is work product under R.C. 149.43(A)(2)(c).⁷⁰⁹ Copies of otherwise public records gathered by a law enforcement investigator from a separate public office may be exempted in the investigator's file as specific investigative work product, although public records gathered from the investigator's own public office or governmental subdivision generally do not lose the public records "cloak."⁷¹⁰ These materials may be protected even when they appear in a law enforcement office's files other than the investigative file.⁷¹¹ "It is difficult to conceive of anything in a prosecutor's file, in a pending criminal matter, that would not be either material compiled in anticipation of a specified criminal proceeding or the personal trial preparation of the prosecutor."⁷¹² However, there are some limits to the items in an investigative file covered by this exemption.⁷¹³

Time Limits on Investigatory Work Product Exemption: Once a law enforcement matter has commenced, the investigative work product exemption applies until the matter has concluded. The Ohio Supreme Court recently clarified that the investigative work product exemption does not extend past the completion of the trial for which the information was gathered.⁷¹⁴ Even if no suspect has been identified, "[o]nce it is evident that a crime has occurred, investigative materials developed are necessarily compiled in anticipation of litigation and so fall squarely within the Steckman definition of work product.”⁷¹⁵ However, the work product exemption is not merely an “ongoing investigation” exemption. The investigating agency must be able to show that work product is being assembled in connection with a pending or highly probable criminal proceeding, not merely the possibility of future criminal proceedings.⁷¹⁶

Not Waived by Criminal Discovery: The work product exemption is not waived when a criminal defendant is provided discovery materials as required by law.⁷¹⁷

(e) Information that would endanger life or physical safety if released

Information that, if released, would endanger the life or physical safety of law enforcement personnel,⁷¹⁸ a crime victim, a witness, or a confidential informant may be redacted before public release of a record.⁷¹⁹ The threat to safety need not be specified within the four corners of the investigative file; but bare allegations or assumed conclusions that a person’s physical safety is threatened are not sufficient reasons to redact information.⁷²⁰ Alleging that disclosing the information would infringe on a person’s privacy does not justify a denial of release under this exemption.⁷²¹

Note: Non-expiring Step Two exemptions: When a law enforcement matter has concluded, only the work product exemption expires. The courts have expressly or impliedly found that investigatory records that continue to fall under the uncharged suspect,⁷²² confidential source or witness,⁷²³ confidential investigatory technique,⁷²⁴ and information threatening physical safety⁷²⁵ exemptions apply despite the passage of time.

Note: Exemptions other than CLEIRs may apply to documents within a law enforcement investigative file, including but not limited to social security numbers; Law Enforcement Automated Data System (LEADS) computerized criminal history documents;⁷²⁶ information, data, and statistics gathered or disseminated through the Ohio Law Enforcement Gateway (OHLEG⁷²⁷); and information that is highly likely to identify an alleged delinquent child or arrestee who is also an abused child.⁷²⁸

3. Law enforcement records not covered by CLEIRs

As noted above, personnel files and other administrative records not pertaining to a law enforcement matter would not be covered by the CLEIRs exemption. In addition, the courts have specifically ruled that the following records are not covered:

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Six: Special Topics

a. Offense and incident reports

“Offense-and-incident reports are form reports in which the law enforcement officer completing the form enters information in the spaces provided.”⁷²⁹ Police offense or incident reports initiate investigations but are not considered part of the investigation; and therefore, they are not a “law enforcement matter” covered by the CLEIRs exemption.⁷³⁰ Therefore, none of the information explained in Step Two above can be redacted from an initial incident report.⁷³¹ However, if an offense or incident report contains information that is otherwise exempt from disclosure under state or federal law, the exempt information may be redacted.⁷³² This could include social security numbers, information referred from a children services agency,⁷³³ or other independently applicable exemptions.

b. 911 records

Audio records of 911 calls are not considered to pertain to a “law enforcement matter,” or constitute part of an investigation, for the purposes of the CLEIRs exemption.⁷³⁴ Further, since there is no basis to find a constitutional right of privacy in such calls, even social security numbers may not be redacted.⁷³⁵ As with other public records, a requester is entitled to access either the audio record or a paper transcript.⁷³⁶ However, information concerning telephone numbers, addresses, or names obtained from a 911 database maintained pursuant to R.C. 128.32 may not be disclosed or used for any purpose other than as permitted in that section.⁷³⁷

B. Employment Records⁷³⁸

Public employee personnel records are generally considered public records.⁷³⁹ However, if any item contained within a personnel file or other employment record⁷⁴⁰ is not a “record” of the office, or is subject to an exemption, it may be withheld. We recommend that Human Resource officers prepare a list of information and records in the office’s personnel files that are subject to withholding, including the explanation and legal authority related to each item. The office can then use this list for prompt and consistent responses to public records requests. A sample list can be found on page 75.

⁷⁴⁰ The term “personnel file” has no single definition in public records law. See State ex rel. Morgan v. New Lexington, 112 Ohio St.3d 33, 2006-Ohio-6365, ¶ 57 (inferring that “records that are the functional equivalent of personnel files exist and are in the custody of the city” when a respondent claimed that no personnel files designated by the respondent existed); Cwynar v. Jackson Twp. Bd. of Trustees, 178 Ohio App.3d 345, 2008-Ohio-5011, ¶ 31 (5th Dist.) (finding that, when the appellant requested only the complete personnel file and not the records relating to an individual’s employment, “[i]t is the responsibility of the person making the public-records request to identify the records with reasonable clarity”).

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Six: Special Topics

1. Non-records

To the extent that any item contained in a personnel file is not a “record,” that is, when it does not document the organization, operations, etc., of the public office, it is not a public record and need not be disclosed.⁷⁴¹ Based on this reasoning, the Ohio Supreme Court has found that in most instances the home addresses of public employees kept by their employers solely for administrative convenience are not “records” of the office.⁷⁴² A public office may want to carefully evaluate home and personal cell phone numbers, emergency contact information, employee banking information, insurance beneficiary designations, personal email addresses, and other items if they are maintained only for administrative convenience and not to document the formal duties and activities of the office. Non-record items may be redacted from materials that are otherwise records, such as a civil service application form.

2. Names and dates of birth of public officials and employees

“Each public office or person responsible for public records shall maintain a database or a list that includes the name and date of birth of all public officials and employees elected to or employed by that public office. The database or list is a public record and shall be made available upon a request made pursuant to section 149.43 of the Revised Code.”⁷⁴³

3. Resumes and application materials

There is no public records exemption that generally protects resumes and application materials obtained by public offices in the hiring process.⁷⁴⁴ The Ohio Supreme Court has found that “[t]he public has an unquestioned public interest in the qualifications of potential applicants for positions of authority in public employment.”⁷⁴⁵ For example, when a city board of education used a private search firm to help hire a new treasurer, it was required to disclose the names and resumes of the interviewees.⁷⁴⁶ The fact that a public office has promised confidentiality to applicants is irrelevant.⁷⁴⁷ A public office’s obligation to turn over application materials and resumes extends to records in the sole possession of private search firms used in the hiring process.⁷⁴⁸ As with any other category of records, if an exemption for home address, social security number, or other specific item applies, it may be used to redact only the protected information.

Application Materials Not “Kept By” a Public Office: Application materials may not be public records if they are not “kept by”⁷⁴⁹ the office at the time of the request. In State ex rel. Cincinnati Enquirer v. Cincinnati Board of Education, the school board engaged a private search firm to assist in its search for a new superintendent. During the interview process, the school board members reviewed and then returned all application materials and resumes submitted by the candidates. The Enquirer made a public records request for any resumes, documents, etc. related to the superintendent search. Because no copies of the materials had been provided to the board at any time outside the interview setting and had never been “kept,” by the board, the court denied the Enright*, 66 Ohio St.3d 186, 188 (1993) (“To the extent that any item contained in a personnel file is not a ‘record,’ i.e., does not serve to document the organization, etc., of the public office, it is not a public record and need not be disclosed.”).

Johnson*, 106 Ohio St.3d 160, 2005-Ohio-4384, ¶ 39 (finding an employee’s home address may constitute a “record” when it documents an office policy or practice, as when the employee’s work address is also the employee’s home address); State ex rel. Davis v Metzger, 139 Ohio St.3d 423, 2014-Ohio-2329, ¶10 (“[P]ersonnel files require careful review to redact sensitive personal information about employees that does not document that organization or function of the agency.”).

writ of mandamus.⁷⁵⁰ Keep in mind that this case is limited to a narrow set of facts, including compliance with records retention schedules in returning such materials.

4. Background investigations

Background investigations are not subject to any general public records exemption,⁷⁵¹ although specific statutes may exempt defined background investigation materials kept by specific public offices.⁷⁵² However, criminal history “rap sheets” obtained from the federal National Crime Information Center system (NCIC) or through the state Law Enforcement Automated Data System (LEADS) are subject to a number of statutory exemptions.⁷⁵³

5. Evaluations and disciplinary records

Employee evaluations are not subject to any general public records exemption.⁷⁵⁴ Likewise, records of disciplinary actions involving an employee are not exempted.⁷⁵⁵ Specifically, note that the CLEIRs exemption does not apply to routine office discipline or personnel matters,⁷⁵⁶ even when such matters are the subject of an internal investigation within a law enforcement agency.⁷⁵⁷

6. Employee assistance program (EAP) records

Records of the identity, diagnosis, prognosis, or treatment of any person that are maintained in connection with EAP are not public records.⁷⁵⁸ Their use and release is strictly limited.

7. Physical fitness, psychiatric, and polygraph examinations

As used in the Public Records Act, the term “medical records” is limited to records generated and maintained in the process of medical treatment (see “Medical Records” below). Accordingly, records of examinations performed for the purpose of determining fitness for hiring or for continued employment, including physical fitness,⁷⁵⁹ psychiatric,⁷⁶⁰ and psychological⁷⁶¹ examinations, are not exempted from disclosure as “medical records.” Similarly, polygraph, or “lie detector,” examinations are not “medical records,” and they do not fall under the CLEIRs exemption when performed in connection with hiring.⁷⁶² Note, though, that a separate exemption does apply to “medical information” pertaining to those professionals covered under R.C. 149.43(A)(7)(c).⁷⁶³

While fitness for employment records do not fit within the definition of “medical records,” they may nonetheless be exempted from disclosure under the so-called “catch all” provision of the Public Records Act as “records the release of which is prohibited by state or federal law.”⁷⁶⁴ Specifically, the federal Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) and its implementing regulations⁷⁶⁵ permit employers to require employees and applicants to whom they have offered employment to undergo medical examination and/or inquiry into their ability to perform job-related functions.⁷⁶⁶ Information regarding medical condition or history must be collected and kept on separate forms and in separate medical files and must be treated as confidential, except as otherwise provided by the ADA.⁷⁶⁷ As non-public records, the examinations may constitute “confidential personal information” under Ohio’s Personal Information Systems Act.⁷⁶⁸

8. Medical records

“Medical records” are not public records,⁷⁶⁹ and a public office may withhold any medical records in a personnel file. “Medical records” are those generated and maintained in the process of medical treatment.⁷⁷⁰ Note that the federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA),⁷⁷¹ does not apply to records in employer personnel files, but that the federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)⁷⁷² or the Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA)⁷⁷³ may apply to medical-related information in personnel files.

9. School records

Education records, which include but are not limited to school transcripts, attendance records, and discipline records, that are directly related to a student and maintained by the educational institution, as well as personally identifiable information from education records, are generally protected from disclosure by the school itself through the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).⁷⁷⁴ However, when a student or former student provides such records directly to a public office, those records are not protected by FERPA and are considered public records.

10. Social security numbers and taxpayer records

Social security numbers (SSNs) should be redacted before the disclosure of public records.⁷⁷⁵ The Ohio Supreme Court has held that, although the Federal Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. §552a) does not expressly prohibit release of one’s SSN, the Act does create an expectation of privacy as to the use and disclosure of the SSN. Ohio statutes or administrative code may provide other exemptions for

SSNs and other information for specific employees⁷⁷⁶ or in particular locations,⁷⁷⁷ and/or upon request.⁷⁷⁸

Information obtained from municipal tax returns is confidential.⁷⁷⁹ One Attorney General Opinion found that W-2 federal tax forms prepared and maintained by a township as an employer are public records. However, W-2 forms filed as part of a municipal income tax return are confidential.⁷⁸⁰ Federal law makes “returns” and “return information” confidential.⁷⁸¹ The term “return information” is interpreted broadly to include any information gathered by the IRS with respect to a taxpayer’s liability under the Internal Revenue Code.⁷⁸²

With respect to Ohio income tax records, any information gained as the result of returns, investigations, hearings, or verifications required or authorized by R.C. Chapter 5747 is confidential.⁷⁸³

11. Residential and familial information of listed safety officers

As detailed elsewhere in this manual, the residential and familial information⁷⁸⁴ of certain listed public employees may be withheld from disclosure.⁷⁸⁵

12. Bargaining agreement provisions

Courts have held that collective bargaining agreements concerning the confidentiality of records cannot prevail over the Public Records Act. For example, a union may not legally bar the production of available public records through a provision in a collective bargaining agreement.⁷⁸⁶

Statutes may protect particular information or records concerning specific public offices, or particular employees⁷⁸⁷ within one or more agencies.⁷⁸⁸

C. Residential and Familial Information of Covered Professions that Are not Public Records⁷⁸⁹

Residential and Familial Information Defined:⁷⁹⁰ The “residential and familial information” of peace officers,⁷⁹¹ parole officers, probation officers, bailiffs, prosecuting attorneys, assistant prosecuting attorneys,⁷⁹² correctional employees,⁷⁹³ community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employees,⁷⁹⁴ firefighters,⁷⁹⁵ emergency medical technicians (EMTs),⁷⁹⁶ investigators of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, and federal law enforcement officers is exempted from mandatory disclosure under the Public Records Act.⁷⁹⁷ “Residential and familial information” means any information that discloses any of the following about individuals in the listed employment categories (see following chart):

⁷⁸⁹ Individuals in these covered professions can also request to have certain information redacted or prohibit its disclosure. For additional discussion, see Chapter Three: F.1.b. “Personal information listed online.”

⁷⁹⁰ For purposes of this section, “covered professions” is the term used to describe all of the persons covered under the residential and familial exemption (i.e., peace officer, firefighter, etc.).

⁷⁹¹ R.C. 149.43(A)(7). For purposes of this statute, “peace officer” has the same meaning as in R.C. 109.71 and also includes the superintendent and troopers of the state highway patrol; it does not include the sheriff of a county or a supervisory employee who, in the absence of the sheriff, is authorized to stand in for, exercise the authority of, and perform the duties of the sheriff. Chapter Six: Special Topics

- ◆ The identity and amount of any charitable or employment benefit deduction of a covered employee⁸⁰³
- ◆ A photograph of a peace officer who holds a position that may include undercover or plain clothes positions or assignments⁸⁰⁴

Personal

The information below, which is not a public record, applies to both a covered employee and their spouse, former spouse, and children

- ◆ Social security number⁸⁰⁵
- ◆ Account numbers of bank accounts and debit, charge, and credit cards⁸⁰⁶

The information below, which is not a public record, applies to only a covered employee's spouse, former spouse, and children

- ◆ Name, residential address, name of employer, address of employer⁸⁰⁷

The following conclusions in 2000 Ohio Op. Att'y Gen. 021 address the application of this exemption:

1. R.C. 149.43, as amended by Am. Sub. S.B. 78, 123rd Gen. A. (1999) (eff. Dec. 16, 1999), imposes no duty upon any particular individual or office to notify public offices of a peace officer's residential and familial information or to update the database.
2. For purposes of R.C. 149.43, a child of a peace officer includes a natural or adopted child, a stepchild, and a minor or adult child.
3. Under the definition in R.C. 149.43(A)(7), peace officer residential and familial information encompasses only records that both contain the information listed in the statute and disclose the relationship of the information to a peace officer or a spouse, former spouse, or child of the peace officer, and those are the only records that come within the statutory exception to mandatory disclosure provided by R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(p).
4. The exception for peace officer residential and familial information applies only to information contained in a record that presents a reasonable expectation of privacy, and does not extend to records kept by a county recorder or other public official for general public access. The general provisions of R.C. 149.43 excluding peace officer residential and familial information from mandatory disclosure do not operate to impose requirements or limitations on systems of public records that have been designed and established for general public access, where there is no reasonable basis for asserting a privacy interest and no expectation that the information will be identifiable as peace officer residential and familial information.
5. R.C. 149.43 provides no liability for disclosing information that comes within an exception to the definition of "public record." Liability may result, however, from disclosing a record that is made confidential by a provision of law other than R.C. 149.43.

Note that R.C. 2921.24(A) (releasing of certain officers' home addresses by employer, court, or court clerk in a pending criminal case) and R.C. 2921.25(A) (disclosing of certain officers' home addresses during examination in court) do prohibit release of officers' home addresses but only in the limited circumstances set forth in those statutes.⁸⁰⁸

In addition to the professions treated collectively in R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(p) and (A)(7), other public office employees may be subject to similar exemptions through agency specific statutes.⁸⁰⁹

D. Court Records

Although records kept by the courts of Ohio otherwise meet the definition of public records under the Public Records Act,⁸¹⁰ access to most court records is governed by a separate set of rules.

1. Courts' supervisory power over their own records

Ohio courts⁸¹¹ are subject to the Rules of Superintendence for the Courts of Ohio,⁸¹² adopted by the Supreme Court of Ohio. The Rules of Superintendence establish rights and duties regarding court case documents and administrative documents, starting with the statement that "[c]ourt records are presumed open to public access."⁸¹³ Sup.R. 45(A). While similar to the Public Records Act, the Rules of Superintendence contain some additional or different provisions, including language:

- For internet records, allowing courts to announce that a large attachment or exhibit was not scanned but is available by direct access. Sup.R. 45(C)(1).
- Establishing definitions of "court record," "case document," "administrative document," "case file," and other terms. Sup.R. 44(A)-(M).
- Identifying a process for restricting public access to part or all of any case document, including a process for any person to request access to a case document or information that has been granted limited public access. Sup.R. 45(E) and (F).
- Requiring that documents filed with the court omit or redact personal identifiers. The personal identifiers would instead be submitted on a separate standard form submitted only to the court, clerk of courts, and parties. Sup.R. 45(D).

(This is a partial list – see Sup. Rules 44-47 for all provisions.)

Rules 44 through 47 of the Rules of Superintendence apply to all court administrative documents, but only apply to court case documents in actions commenced on or after July 1, 2009.⁸¹⁴ Rule of Superintendence 44(C)(2)(h), which restricts public access to certain domestic relations and juvenile court case documents, applies only to case documents in actions commenced on or after January 1, 2016.⁸¹⁵ The Rules of Superintendence for the Courts of Ohio are currently available online at:

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Six: Special Topics

2. Rules of court procedure

The Ohio Rules of Procedure, which are also adopted through the Ohio Supreme Court, can create exemptions to public record disclosure.⁸¹⁷ Examples include certain records related to grand jury proceedings⁸¹⁸ and certain juvenile court records.⁸¹⁹

3. Sealing statutes

Court records that have been properly expunged or sealed are not available for public disclosure.⁸²⁰ However, when a responsive record is sealed, the public office must provide the explanation for withholding, including the legal authority under which the record was sealed.⁸²¹ Even absent statutory authority, the Ohio Supreme Court has found that trial courts have the inherent authority to seal court records in unusual and exceptional circumstances.⁸²² That inherent authority, however, is limited. The Ohio Supreme Court has concluded that there is no such authority “when the offender has been convicted and is not a first-time offender.”⁸²³ In such cases, the only authority to seal is statutory.⁸²⁴ Courts have no authority to seal an offense that has been pardoned by the governor when the offender is not otherwise statutorily eligible for sealing.⁸²⁵ The Ohio Supreme Court has also concluded that courts do not have inherent authority to unseal records and may only unseal records when statutorily authorized.⁸²⁶

4. Restricting access by rule

Sup.R. 45(E) also provides a procedure for restricting public access to a case document. Under this Rule, a court may restrict public access “if it finds by clear and convincing evidence that the presumption of allowing public access is outweighed by a higher interest after considering” certain factors. The Ohio Supreme Court has ordered a judge to unseal records after finding that there was not clear and convincing evidence to warrant restricting access.⁸²⁷

5. Non-records

Under the Public Records Act, courts, like other public offices, are not obligated to provide documents that are not “records” of the court. Examples include a judge’s handwritten notes,⁸²⁸ completed juror questionnaires,⁸²⁹ social security numbers in certain court records,⁸³⁰ and unsolicited letters sent to a judge.⁸³¹

6. General court records retention

Specific Rules of Superintendence provide the rules and procedures for courts' retention of records. Sup.R. 26 governs Court Records Management and Retention, and Sup.R. 26.01 through Sup.R. 26.05 set records retention schedules for each type of court.

Other Case Law Prior to Rules of Superintendence

Constitutional Right of Access: Based on constitutional principles, and separate from the Public Records Act and Rules of Superintendence, Ohio common law grants the public a presumptive right to inspect and copy court records.⁸³² Both the United States and the Ohio Constitutions create a qualified right⁸³³ of public access to court proceedings that have historically been open to the public and in which the public's access plays a significantly positive role.⁸³⁴ This qualified right includes access to the live proceedings, as well as to the records of the proceedings.⁸³⁵

Even when proceedings are not historically public, "the Ohio Supreme Court has determined that any restriction shielding court records from public scrutiny should be narrowly tailored to serve the competing interests of protecting the individual's privacy without unduly burdening the public's right of access."⁸³⁶ This high standard exists because "[T]he purpose of this common-law right is to promote understanding of the legal system and to ensure public confidence in the courts."⁸³⁷ But, the constitutional right of public access is not absolute, and courts have traditionally exercised "supervisory power over their own records and files."⁸³⁸

Once an otherwise non-public document is filed with the court and becomes part of the record (such as pretrial discovery material), that document becomes a public record.⁸³⁹ However, in circumstances when the release of the court records would prejudice the rights of the parties in an ongoing criminal or civil proceeding, a narrow exemption to public access exists.⁸⁴⁰ Under such circumstances, the court may impose a protective order prohibiting release of the records.⁸⁴¹

Chapter Six: Special Topics

Constitutional Access and Statutory Access Compared: The Ohio Supreme Court has distinguished between public records access and constitutional access to jurors' names, home addresses, and other personal information jurors provide in their responses to written juror questionnaires.⁸⁴² While such information is not a "public record,"⁸⁴³ it is presumed to be subject to public disclosure based on constitutional principles.⁸⁴⁴ The Court explained that the personal information of these private citizens is not "public record" because it does nothing to "shed light" on the operations of the court.⁸⁴⁵ However, there is a constitutional presumption that this information will be publicly accessible in criminal proceedings.⁸⁴⁶ As a result, the jurors' personal information will be publicly accessible unless there is "an overriding interest based on findings that closure is essential to preserve higher values and is narrowly tailored to serve that interest."⁸⁴⁷

Nevertheless, the Ohio Supreme Court also concluded, in a unanimous decision, that social security numbers contained in criminal case files are appropriately redacted before public disclosure.⁸⁴⁸ According to the Court, permitting the court clerk to redact SSNs before disclosing court records "does not contravene the purpose of the Public Records Act, which is 'to expose government activity to public scrutiny.' Revealing individuals' social security numbers that are contained in criminal records does not shed light on any government activity."⁸⁴⁹

E. HIPAA & HITECH

Regulations implementing the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA") became fully effective in April 2003. Among the regulations written to implement HIPAA was the "Privacy Rule," which is a collection of federal regulations seeking to maintain the confidentiality of individually identifiable health information.⁸⁵⁰ For some public offices, the Privacy Rule and HITECH⁸⁵¹ affect the manner in which they respond to public records requests. Amendments to HIPAA and HITECH are reflected in the Federal Register publication, "Modifications to the HIPAA Privacy, Security, Enforcement, and Breach Notification Rules," 78 Fed. Reg. 5565 (Jan. 25, 2013) (codified at 45 C.F.R. §§ 160 and 164).

1. HIPAA definitions

The Privacy Rule protects all individually identifiable health information, which is called "protected health information" or "PHI."⁸⁵² PHI is information that could reasonably lead to the identification of an individual, either by itself or in combination with other reasonably available information.⁸⁵³ The HIPAA regulations apply to the three "covered entities"⁸⁵⁴ listed below:

- Healthcare provider: Generally, a "healthcare provider" is any entity providing mental or health services that electronically transmits individually identifiable health information for any financial or administrative purpose subject to HIPAA.
- A health plan: A "health plan" is an individual or group plan that provides or pays the cost of medical care, such as an HMO.

The Ohio Public Records Act

Chapter Six: Special Topics

- Healthcare clearinghouse: A “healthcare clearinghouse” is any entity that processes health information from one format into another for particular purposes, such as a billing service.

Legal counsel should be consulted if there is uncertainty about whether a particular public office is a “covered entity,” or “business associate” of a covered entity, for purposes of HIPAA.

2. HIPAA does not apply when Ohio Public Records Act requires release

The Privacy Rule permits a covered entity to use and disclose protected health information as required by other law, including state law.⁸⁵⁵ For this purpose, note that the Public Records Act only mandates disclosure when no other exemption applies.

So, when the public records law only permits, and does not mandate, the disclosure of protected health information – when exemptions or other qualifications apply to exempt the protected health information from the state’s law disclosure requirement – then such disclosures are not “required by law” and would not fall within the Privacy Rule. For example, if state public records law includes an exemption that gives a state agency discretion not to disclose medical⁸⁵⁶ or other information, the disclosure of such records is not required by the public records law; and therefore, the Privacy Rule would cover those records.⁸⁵⁷ In such cases, a covered entity only would be able to make the disclosure if permitted by another provision of the Privacy Rule. The Supreme Court of Ohio has held that HIPAA did not supersede state disclosure requirements, even if requested records contained protected health information. Specifically, the Court found that “[a] review of HIPAA reveals a ‘required by law’ exception to the prohibition against disclosure of protected health information. With respect to this position, Section 164.512(a)(1), Title 45, C.F.R., provides, ‘A covered entity may ... disclose protected health information to the extent that such ... disclosure is required by law.’”⁸⁵⁸ However, the Public Records Act requires disclosure of records unless the disclosure or release is prohibited by federal law.⁸⁵⁹ While the Court found the interaction of the federal and state law somewhat circular, the Court resolved it in favor of disclosure under the Public Records Act.⁸⁶⁰

F. Ohio Personal Information Systems Act⁸⁶¹

Ohio’s Personal Information Systems Act (PISA) generally regulates the maintenance and use of personal information systems (collections of information that describe individuals) by state and local agencies.⁸⁶² PISA applies to those items to which the Public Records Act does not apply—that is, records that have been determined to be non-public and items and information that are not “records” as defined by the Public Records Act.⁸⁶³ The General Assembly has made clear that PISA is not designed to deprive the public of otherwise public information by incorporating the following provisions with respect to the Public Records and Open Meetings Acts:

- State and local agencies whose principle activities are to enforce the criminal laws are exempt from PISA.⁸⁶⁴
- “The provisions of this chapter shall not be construed to prohibit the release of public records, or the disclosure of personal information in public records, as defined in [the Public Records Act], or to authorize a public body to hold an executive session for the discussion of personal information if the executive session is not authorized under division (G) of [the Open Meetings Act].”⁸⁶⁵
- “The disclosure to members of the general public of personal information contained in a public record, as defined in section 149.43 of the Revised Code, is not an improper use of personal information under this chapter.”⁸⁶⁶
- As used in the PISA, “‘confidential personal information’ means personal information that is not a public record for purposes of [the Public Records Act].”⁸⁶⁷

The following definitions apply to the information covered by PISA:

“Personal information” means any information that:

- Describes anything about a person; or
- Indicates actions done by or to a person; or
- Indicates that a person possesses certain personal characteristics; and
- Contains, and can be retrieved from a system by, a name, identifying number, symbol, or other identifier assigned to a person.⁸⁶⁸

“Confidential personal information” means personal information that is not a public record for purposes of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.⁸⁶⁹

A personal information “system” is:

- Any collection or group of related records that are kept in an organized manner and maintained by a state or local agency; and
- From which personal information is retrieved by the name of the person or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifier assigned to the person; including
- Records that are stored manually and electronically.⁸⁷⁰

The following are not “systems” for purposes of PISA:

- Collected archival records in the custody of or administered under the authority of the Ohio History Connection;
- Published directories, reference materials, or newsletters; or

- Routine information that is maintained for the purpose of internal office administration, the use of which would not adversely affect a person.⁸⁷¹

PISA generally requires accurate maintenance and prompt deletion of unnecessary personal information from “personal information systems” maintained by public offices, and protects personal information from unauthorized dissemination.⁸⁷² Based on provisions added to the law in 2009, state agencies⁸⁷³ must adopt rules under Chapter 119 of the Revised Code regulating access to confidential personal information the agency keeps, whether electronically or on paper.⁸⁷⁴ No person shall knowingly access “confidential personal information” in violation of these rules,⁸⁷⁵ and no person shall knowingly use or disclose “confidential personal information” in a manner prohibited by law.⁸⁷⁶ A state agency may not employ persons who have violated access, use, or disclosure laws regarding confidential personal information.⁸⁷⁷ In general, state and local agencies must “[t]ake reasonable precautions to protect personal information in the system from unauthorized modification, destruction, use, or disclosure.”⁸⁷⁸

Sanctions for Violations of PISA

The enforcement provisions of PISA can include injunctive relief, civil damages, and/or criminal penalties, depending on the nature of the violation(s).⁸⁷⁹

Note: Because PISA concerns the treatment of non-records and non-public records, it is not set out in great detail in this Sunshine Law Manual. Public offices should consult with their legal counsel for further guidance about this law.

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Overview of the Ohio Open Meetings Act

The Open Meetings Act requires public bodies in Ohio to take official action and conduct all deliberations upon official business only in open meetings where the public may attend and observe. Public bodies must provide advance notice to the public indicating when and where each meeting will take place and, in the case of special meetings, the specific topics that the public body will discuss. The public body must take full and accurate minutes of all meetings and make these minutes available to the public, except in the case of permissible executive sessions.

Executive sessions are closed-door sessions convened by a public body, after a roll call vote, and attended by only the members of the public body and persons they invite. A public body may hold an executive session only for a few specific purposes, which are listed in the law. Further, no vote or other decision-making on the matter(s) discussed may take place during the executive session.

If any person believes that a public body has violated the Open Meetings Act, that person may file an action in a common pleas court to compel the public body to obey the Act. If an injunction is issued, the public body must correct its actions and pay court costs, a fine of $500, and reasonable attorney fees subject to possible reduction by the court. If the court does not issue an injunction, and the court finds the lawsuit was frivolous, it may order the person who filed the suit to pay the public body's court costs and reasonable attorney fees. Any formal action of a public body that did not take place in an open meeting, or that resulted from deliberations in a meeting improperly closed to the public, or that was adopted at a meeting not properly noticed to the public, is invalid. A member of a public body who violates an injunction imposed for a violation of the Open Meetings Act may be subject to removal from office.

Like the Public Records Act, the Open Meetings Act is intended to be read broadly in favor of openness. However, while they share an underlying intent, the terms and definitions in the two laws are not interchangeable: the Public Records Act applies to the records of public offices; the Open Meetings Act addresses meetings of public bodies.⁸⁸⁰

A Note about Case Law

When the Ohio Supreme Court issues a decision interpreting a statute, that decision must be followed by all lower Ohio courts. Ohio Supreme Court decisions involving the Public Records Act are plentiful because a person may file a public records lawsuit at any level of the judicial system and often will choose to file in the court of appeals, or directly with the Ohio Supreme Court. By contrast, a lawsuit to enforce the Open Meetings Act must be filed in a county court of common pleas. While the losing party often appeals a court's decision, common pleas appeals are not guaranteed to reach the Ohio Supreme Court, and rarely do. Consequently, the bulk of case law on the Open Meetings Act comes from courts of appeals, whose opinions are binding only on lower courts within their district, but they may be cited for the persuasive value of their reasoning in cases filed in other districts.

⁸⁸⁰ “[The Ohio Supreme Court has] never expressly held that once an entity qualifies as a public body for purposes of R.C. 121.22, it is also a public office for purposes of R.C. 149.011(A) and 149.43 so as to make all of its nonexempt records subject to disclosure. In fact, R.C. 121.22 suggests otherwise because it contains separate definitions for ‘public body,’ R.C. 121.22(B)(1), and ‘public office,’ R.C. 121.22(B)(4), which provides that ‘[p]ublic office’ has the same meaning as in section 149.011 of the Revised Code.’ Had the General Assembly intended that a ‘public body’ for the purposes of R.C. 121.22 be considered a ‘public office’ for purposes of R.C. 149.911(A) and 149.43, it would have so provided.” State ex rel. Am. Civ. Liberties Union of Ohio, Inc. v. Cuyahoga Cty. Bd. Commrs., 128 Ohio St.3d 256, 2011-Ohio-625, ¶ 38 (alteration in original).

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter One: “Public Body” and “Meeting” Defined

I. Chapter One: “Public Body” and “Meeting” Defined

Only entities that meet the definition of “public body” are subject to the Open Meetings Act. The Open Meetings Act requires “public bodies” to conduct their business in “meetings” that are open to the public. A “meeting” is any prearranged gathering of a public body by a majority of its members to discuss public business.⁸⁸¹

A. “Public body”

1. Statutory definition – R.C. 121.22(B)(1)

The Open Meetings Act defines a “public body” as any of the following:

- a. Any board, commission, committee, council, or similar decision-making body of a state agency, institution, or authority, and any legislative authority or board, commission, committee, council, agency, authority, or similar decision-making body of any county, township, municipal corporation, school district, or other political subdivision or local public institution;⁸⁸²
- b. Any committee or subcommittee thereof;⁸⁸³ or
- c. A court⁸⁸⁴ of jurisdiction of a sanitary district organized wholly for the purpose of providing a water supply for domestic, municipal, and public use when meeting for the purpose of the appointment, removal, or reappointment of a member of the board of directors of such a district or for any other matter related to such a district other than litigation involving the district.⁸⁸⁵

2. Identifying public bodies

The term “public body” applies to many different decision-making bodies at the state and local level. If a statute does not specifically identify an entity as a “public body,” Ohio courts have applied several factors in determining what constitutes a “public body,” including:

- a. The manner in which the entity was created;⁸⁸⁶
- b. The name or official title of the entity;⁸⁸⁷
- c. The membership composition of the entity;⁸⁸⁸
- d. Whether the entity engages in decision-making;⁸⁸⁹ and ⁸⁸⁴ With the exception of sanitation courts, the definition of “public body” does not include courts. See Walker v. Muskingum Watershed Conservancy Dist., 5th Dist. No. 2007 AP 01 0005, 2008-Ohio-4060, ¶ 27.

But see State ex rel. Am. Civ. Liberties Union of Ohio, Inc. v. Cuyahoga Cty. Bd. Comms., 128 Ohio St.3d 256, 2011-Ohio-625 (finding that groups formed by private entities to provide community input, not established by governmental entity, and to which no government duties or authority have been delegated, were found not to be “public bodies”).

⁸⁸⁷ Wheeling Corp. v. Columbus & Ohio River R.R. Co., 147 Ohio App.3d 460, 472 (10th Dist. 2001) (finding that a selection committee was a “public body” and that it was relevant that the entity was called a “committee,” a term included in the definition of a “public body” in R.C. 121.22); Stegall v. Joint Twp. Dist. Mem. Hosp., 20 Ohio App.3d 100, 103 (3d Dist. 1985) (considering it pertinent that the name of the entity is one of the public body titles listed in R.C. 121.22(B)(1), i.e., Board of Hospital Governors).

⁸⁸⁸ Wheeling Corp. v. Columbus & Ohio River R.R. Co., 147 Ohio App.3d 460, 472 (10th Dist. 2001) (finding relevant that commissioners of the parent Ohio Rail Development Commission comprised a majority of a selection committee’s membership).

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter One: “Public Body” and “Meeting” Defined

- e. Who the entity advises or to whom it reports.⁸⁹⁰

3. Close-up: applying the definition of “public body”

Using the above factors, the following entities have been found by some courts of appeals to be public bodies:

- a. A selection committee established on a temporary basis by a state agency for the purpose of evaluating responses to a request for proposals and making a recommendation to a commission.⁸⁹¹
- b. An urban design review board that provided advice and recommendations to a city manager and city council about land development.⁸⁹²
- c. A board of hospital governors of a joint township district hospital.⁸⁹³
- d. A citizens’ advisory committee of a county children services board.⁸⁹⁴
- e. A board of directors of a county agricultural society.⁸⁹⁵

Courts have found that the Open Meetings Act does not apply to individual public officials (as opposed to public bodies) or to meetings held by individual officials.⁸⁹⁶ Moreover, if an individual public official creates a group solely pursuant to his or her executive authority or as a delegation of that authority, the Open Meetings Act probably does not apply to the group’s gatherings.⁸⁹⁷

However, at least one court has determined that a selection committee whose members were appointed by the chair of a public body, not by formal action of the body, is nevertheless a public body and subject to the Open Meetings Act.⁸⁹⁸

⁸⁹⁰ Cincinnati Enquirer v. Cincinnati, 145 Ohio App.3d 335, 339 (1st Dist. 2001) (finding an urban design review board advised not only the city manager, but also the city council, a public body).

⁸⁹¹ Wheeling Corp. v. Columbus & Ohio River R.R. Co., 147 Ohio App.3d 460, 472 (10th Dist. 2001) (finding relevant that the group was called a “committee,” a term included in the definition of a “public body” in R.C. 121.22; that a majority of the Selection Committee’s members were commissioners of the commission itself; that, in its role of reviewing and evaluating proposals and making a recommendation to the Ohio Rail Development Commission (a public body), the Selection Committee made decisions; and that the fact that the Selection Committee was established by the committee without formal action is immaterial).

⁸⁹² Cincinnati Enquirer v. Cincinnati, 145 Ohio App.3d 335, 339 (1st Dist. 2001) (finding that, whether an urban design review board, composed of a group of architectural consultants for the city, had ultimate authority to decide matters was not controlling, as the board actually made decisions in the process of formulating its advice; the board advised not only the city manager, but also the city council, a public body).

⁸⁹³ Stegall v. Joint Twp. Dist. Mem. Hosp., 20 Ohio App.3d 100, 102-03 (3d Dist. 1985) (finding the Board of Governors of a joint township hospital fell within the definition of “public body” because this definition includes “boards,” and the Board made decisions essential to the construction and equipping of a general hospital and the board was of a “township” or of a “local public institution” because it existed by virtue of authority granted by the legislature for the creation of joint township hospital facilities).

⁸⁹⁴ Thomas v. White, 85 Ohio App.3d 410, 412 (9th Dist. 1992) (finding that the committee was a public body because the subject matter of the committee’s operations is the public business, each of its duties involves decisions as to what will be done, and the committee by law elects a chairman who serves as an ex officio voting member of the children services board, which involves decision-making).

⁸⁹⁶ Smith v. Cleveland, 94 Ohio App.3d 780, 784-785 (8th Dist. 1994) (finding a city safety director is not a public body, and may conduct disciplinary hearings without complying with the Open Meetings Act).

⁸⁹⁷ Beacon Journal Publishing Co. v. Akron, 3 Ohio St.2d 191 (1965) (finding boards, commissions, committees, etc., created by executive order of the mayor and chief administrator without the advice and consent of city council were not subject to the Open Meetings Act); eFunds v. Ohio Dept. of Job & Family Serv., Franklin C.P. No. 05CVH09-10276 (2006) (finding an “evaluation committee” of government employees under the authority of a state agency administrator is not a public body); 1994 Ohio Op. Att’y Gen. No. 096 (determining that, when a committee of private citizens and various public officers or employees is established solely pursuant to the executive authority of the administrator of a general health district for the purpose of providing advice pertaining to the administration of a grant, and establishment of the committee is not required or authorized by the grant or board action, such a committee is not a public body for purposes of R.C. 121.22(B)(1) and is not subject to the requirements of the open meetings law).

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter One: “Public Body” and “Meeting” Defined

4. When the Open Meetings Act applies to private bodies

Some private entities are considered “public bodies” for purposes of the Open Meetings Act when they are organized pursuant to state statute and are statutorily authorized to receive and expend government funds for a governmental purpose.⁸⁹⁹ For example, an economic opportunity planning association was found to be a public body within the meaning of the Act based on the following factors: (1) its designation by the Ohio Department of Development as a community action organization pursuant to statute;⁹⁰⁰ (2) its responsibility for spending substantial sums of public funds in the operation of programs for the public welfare; and (3) its obligation to comply with state statutory provisions in order to keep its status as a community action organization.⁹⁰¹

5. Public bodies/officials that are NEVER subject to the Open Meetings Act:⁹⁰²

- The Ohio General Assembly;⁹⁰³
- Grand juries;⁹⁰⁴
- An audit conference conducted by the State Auditor or independent certified public accountants with officials of the public office that is the subject of the audit;⁹⁰⁵
- The Organized Crime Investigations Commission;⁹⁰⁶
- County child fatality review boards or state-level reviews of deaths of children;⁹⁰⁷
- The board of directors of JobsOhio Corp., or any committee thereof, and the board of directors of any subsidiary of JobsOhio Corp., or any committee thereof;⁹⁰⁸ and
- An audit conference conducted by the audit staff of the Department of Job and Family Services with officials of the public office that is the subject of that audit under R.C. 5101.37.⁹⁰⁹

6. Public bodies that are SOMETIMES subject to the Open Meetings Act:

a. Public bodies meeting for particular purposes

Some public bodies are not subject to the Open Meetings Act when they meet for particular purposes, including:

⁸⁹⁹ State ex rel. Toledo Blade Co. v. Economic Opportunity Planning Assn. of Greater Toledo, 61 Ohio Misc.2d 631 (C.P. 1990); see also Stegall v. Joint Twp. Dist. Mem. Hosp., 20 Ohio App.3d 100 (3d Dist. 1985).

⁹⁰¹ State ex rel. Toledo Blade Co. v. Economic Opportunity Planning Assn. of Greater Toledo, 61 Ohio Misc.2d 631, 640-41 (C.P. 1990) (“The language of the [Open Meetings Act] and its role in the organization of public affairs in Ohio make clear that this language is to be given a broad interpretation to ensure that the official business of the state is conducted openly. Consistent with that critical objective, a governmental decision-making body cannot assign its decisions to a nominally private body in order to shield those decisions from public scrutiny.”).

⁹⁰² R.C. 121.22(D).

⁹⁰³ While the General Assembly as a whole is not governed by the Open Meetings Act, legislative committees are required to follow the guidelines set forth in the General Assembly’s own open meetings law (R.C. 101.15), which requires committee meetings to be open to the public and that minutes of those meetings be made available for public inspection. Like the Open Meetings Act, the legislature’s open meetings law includes some exemptions. For example, the law does not apply to meetings of the Joint Legislative Ethics Committee other than those meetings specified in the law (R.C. 101.15(F)(1)), or to meetings of a political party caucus (R.C. 101.15(F)(2)).

- The State Medical Board,⁹¹¹ the State Board of Nursing,⁹¹² the State Board of Pharmacy,⁹¹³ and the State Chiropractic Board⁹¹⁴ when determining whether to suspend a license or certificate without a prior hearing;⁹¹⁵
- The Emergency Response Commission’s executive committee when meeting to determine whether to issue an enforcement order or to decide whether to bring an enforcement action;⁹¹⁶ and
- The Occupational Therapy Section, Physical Therapy Section, and Athletic Trainers Section of the Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy, and Athletic Trainers Board when determining whether to suspend a practitioner’s license or limited permit without a hearing.⁹¹⁷

b. Public bodies handling particular business

When meeting to consider “whether to grant assistance for purposes of community or economic development” certain public bodies may conduct meetings that are not open to the public. Specifically, the Controlling Board, the Tax Credit Authority, and the Minority Development Financing Advisory Board may close their meetings by unanimous vote of the members present in order to protect the interest of the applicant or the possible investment of public funds.⁹¹⁸

The meetings of these four bodies may only be closed “during consideration of the following information confidentially received ... from the applicant:”

- Marketing plans;
- Specific business strategy;
- Production techniques and trade secrets;
- Financial projections; and
- Personal financial statements of the applicant or the applicant’s immediate family, including, but not limited to, tax records or other similar information not open to public inspection.⁹¹⁹

In addition, the board of directors of a community improvement corporation, when acting as an agent of a political subdivision, may close a meeting by majority vote of all members present during consideration of non-public record information set out in R.C. 1724.11(A).⁹²⁰

Chapter One: “Public Body” and “Meeting” Defined

specifically exempted by law.⁹²¹ The Act defines a “meeting” as: (1) a prearranged gathering of (2) a majority of the members of a public body (3) for the purpose of discussing public business.⁹²²

a. Prearranged

The Open Meetings Act governs prearranged discussions,⁹²³ but it does not prohibit unplanned encounters between members of public bodies, such as hallway discussions. One court has found that neither an unsolicited and unexpected email sent from one board member to other board members, nor a spontaneous one-on-one telephone conversation between two members of a five-member board were a prearranged meeting.⁹²⁴ However, the “prearranged” element does not require the parties to participate at the same time, and a series of emails exchanged among a majority of board members can constitute a “prearranged gathering” even when the emails started with one board member sending an unsolicited email to other board members.⁹²⁵

b. Majority of members

For there to be a “meeting” as defined under the Open Meetings Act, “a majority of a public body’s members must come together.”⁹²⁶ The requirement that a gathering of a majority of the members of a public body constitutes a meeting applies to the public body as a whole and also to the separate memberships of all committees and subcommittees of that body.⁹²⁷ For instance, if a council is comprised of seven members, four constitute a majority in determining whether the council as a whole is conducting a “meeting.” If the council appoints a three-member finance committee, two of those members would constitute a majority of the finance committee.

i. Attending in person

A member of a public body must be present in person at a meeting in order to be considered present, vote, or be counted as part of a quorum⁹²⁸ unless a specific law permits otherwise.⁹²⁹ In the absence of statutory authority, public bodies may not conduct a meeting via electronic or telephonic conferencing.⁹³⁰

ii. Round-robin or serial “meetings”

Unless two members constitutes a majority, isolated one-on-one conversations between individual members of a public body regarding its business, either in person or by telephone, do not violate the Open Meetings Act.⁹³¹ However, a public body may not “circumvent the requirements of the statute by setting up back-to-back meetings of less than a majority of its members, with the same topics of public business discussed at each.”⁹³² Such conversations may be considered multiple parts of the same, improperly private, “meeting.”⁹³³ The Ohio Supreme Court recently held that improper serial meetings may also occur over the telephone or through electronic communications, like email.⁹³⁴

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter One: “Public Body” and “Meeting” Defined

c. Discussing public business

With narrow exemptions, the Open Meetings Act requires the members of a public body to discuss and deliberate on official business only in open meetings.⁹³⁵ “Discussion” is the exchange of words, comments, or ideas by the members of a public body.⁹³⁶ “Deliberation” means the act of weighing and examining reasons for and against a choice.⁹³⁷ One court has described “deliberation” as a thorough discussion of all factors involved, a careful weighing of positive and negative factors, and a cautious consideration of the ramifications of the proposal, while gradually arriving at a decision.⁹³⁸ Another court described the term as involving “a decisional analysis, i.e., an exchange of views on the facts in an attempt to reach a decision.”⁹³⁹ Note that the Ohio Supreme Court recently held that discussions of public business may also be conducted over any other media, such as the telephone, video conference, email, text, or tweet.⁹⁴⁰ In other words, just because a discussion did not occur in-person does not mean it is exempt from the requirements of the Open Meetings Act.

In evaluating whether particular gatherings of public officials constituted “meetings,” several courts of appeals have opined that the Open Meetings Act “is intended to apply to those situations where there has been actual formal action taken; to wit, formal deliberations concerning the public business.”⁹⁴¹ Under this analysis, those courts have determined that gatherings strictly of an investigative and information-seeking nature that do not involve actual discussion or deliberation of public business are not “meetings” for purposes of the Open Meetings Act.⁹⁴² More importantly, the Ohio Supreme Court has not ruled on whether “investigative and informational” gatherings are or are not “meetings.” Consequently, public bodies should seek guidance from their legal counsel about how such gatherings are viewed by the court of appeals in their district, before convening this kind of private gathering as other than a regular or special meeting.

Those courts that have distinguished between “discussions” or “deliberations” that must take place in public, and other exchanges between a majority of its members at a prearranged gathering, have opined that the following are not “meetings” subject to the Open Meetings Act:

⁹³³ See generally State ex rel. Cincinnati Post v. Cincinnati, 76 Ohio St.3d 540, 542-44 (1996) (noting the very purpose of the Open Meetings Act is to prevent such a game of “musical chairs” in which elected officials contrive to meet secretly to deliberate on public issues without accountability to the public); State ex rel. Consumer News Servs., Inc. v. Worthington City Bd. of Edn., 97 Ohio St.3d 58, 2002-Ohio-5311, ¶¶ 16-17, 43 (noting that board president conceded that pre-meeting decision of school board president and superintendent to narrow field of applicants should have occurred in executive session); State ex rel. Floyd v. Rock Hill Local School Bd. of Edn., 4th Dist. No. 1862, 1988 WL 17190, 4, 13-16 (1988) (finding school board president improperly discussed and deliberated dismissal of principal with other board members in multiple one-on-one conversations, and came to next meeting with letter of non-renewal ready for superintendent to deliver to principal, which the board then, without discussion, voted to approve); Wilkins v. Village of Harrisburg, 10th Dist. No. 12AP-1046, 2013-Ohio-2751 (finding that two presentations were not serial meetings where the gatherings were separated by two months, the presentations were discussed at regularly scheduled meetings, and a regularly scheduled meeting was held between the two presentations).

Harris*, No. C-860103, 1986 WL 6514 (1st Dist. 1986) (finding a prearranged discussion between a prosecutor and the majority of township trustees did not violate Open Meetings Act because the gathering was conducted for investigative and information-seeking purposes); *Piekutowski v. The Ohio Open Meetings Act

- Question-and-answer sessions between board members, the public body’s legal counsel, and others who were not public officials was not a meeting because a majority of the board members did not engage in discussion or deliberation of public business with one another;⁹⁴³
- Conversations among staff members employed by a city council;⁹⁴⁴
- A presentation to a public body by its legal counsel when the public body receives legal advice;⁹⁴⁵ and
- A press conference.⁹⁴⁶

2. Close-up: applying the definition of “meeting”

If a gathering meets all three elements of this definition, a court will consider it a “meeting” for the purposes of the Open Meetings Act, regardless of whether the public body initiated the gathering itself or whether it was initiated by another entity. Further, if majorities of multiple public bodies attend one large meeting, a court may construe the gathering of each public body’s majority of members to be separate “meetings” of each public body.⁹⁴⁷

a. Work sessions

A “meeting” by any other name is still a meeting. “Work retreats” or “workshops” are “meetings” when a public body discusses public business among a majority of the members of a public body at a prearranged time.⁹⁴⁸ When conducting any meeting, the public body must comply with its obligations under the Open Meetings Act: openness, notice, and minutes.⁹⁴⁹

b. Quasi-judicial proceedings

Public bodies whose responsibilities include adjudicative duties, such as boards of tax appeals and state professional licensing boards, are considered “quasi-judicial.” The Ohio Supreme Court has determined that public bodies conducting quasi-judicial hearings, “like all judicial bodies, [require] privacy to deliberate, i.e., to evaluate and resolve, the disputes.”⁹⁵⁰ Quasi-judicial proceedings and the deliberations of public bodies when acting in their quasi-judicial capacities are not “meetings” and are not subject to the Open Meetings Act.⁹⁵¹ Accordingly, when a public body is acting in its quasi-judicial capacity, the public body does not have to vote publicly to adjourn for deliberations or to take action following those deliberations.⁹⁵²

c. County political party central committees

The convening of a county political party central committee for the purpose of conducting purely internal party affairs, unrelated to the committee’s duties of making appointments to vacated public offices, is not a “meeting” as defined by R.C. 121.22(B)(2). Thus, R.C. 121.22 does not apply to such a gathering.⁹⁵³

d. Collective bargaining

Collective bargaining meetings between public employers and employee organizations are private and are not subject to the Open Meetings Act.⁹⁵⁴

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter Two: Duties of a Public Body

II. Chapter Two: Duties of a Public Body

The Open Meetings Act requires public bodies to provide: (A) openness; (B) notice; and (C) minutes.

A. Openness

The Open Meetings Act declares all meetings of a public body to be public meetings open to the public at all times.⁹⁵⁵ The General Assembly mandates that the Act be liberally construed to require that public officials take official action and “conduct all deliberations upon official business only in open meetings unless the subject matter is specifically excepted by law.”⁹⁵⁶

1. Where meetings may be held

A public body must conduct its meetings in a venue that is open to the public.⁹⁵⁷ Although the Open Meetings Act does not specifically address where a public body must hold meetings, some authority suggests that a public body must hold meetings in a public meeting place⁹⁵⁸ that is within the geographical jurisdiction of the public body.⁹⁵⁹ Clearly, a meeting is not “open” when the public body has locked the doors to the meeting facility.⁹⁶⁰

Where space in the facility is too limited to accommodate all interested members of the public, closed circuit television may be an acceptable alternative.⁹⁶¹ Federal law requires that a meeting place be accessible to individuals with disabilities.⁹⁶²

2. Method of voting

Unless a particular statute requires a specific method of voting, the public cannot insist on a particular form of voting. The body may use its own discretion in determining the method it will use, such as voice vote, show of hands, or roll call.⁹⁶³ The Open Meetings Act only specifies the method of voting when a public body is adjourning into executive session by requiring that the vote for that purpose be by roll call.⁹⁶⁴ The Act does not specifically address the use of secret ballots; however, the Ohio Attorney General has opined that a public body may not vote in an open meeting by secret ballot.⁹⁶⁵ Voting by secret ballot contradicts the openness requirement of the Open Meetings Act by hiding the decision-making process from public view.

3. Right to hear but not to be heard or to disrupt

All meetings of any public body are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times.⁹⁶⁶ A court found that members of a public body who whispered and passed documents among themselves constructively closed that portion of their meeting by intentionally preventing the audience from hearing or knowing the business the body discussed.⁹⁶⁷ However, the Open Meetings Act does not provide (or prohibit) attendees the right to be heard at meetings, and a public body may place limitations on the time, place, and manner of access to its meetings, as long as the restrictions are content neutral and narrowly tailored to serve a significant governmental interest.⁹⁶⁸ Further, a disruptive person waives his or her right to attend meetings, and the body may remove that person from the meeting.⁹⁶⁹

4. Audio and video recording

A public body cannot prohibit the public from audio or video recording a public meeting.⁹⁷⁰ A public body may, however, establish reasonable rules regulating the use of recording equipment, such as requiring equipment to be silent, unobtrusive, self-contained, and self-powered to limit interference with the ability of others to hear, see, and participate in the meeting.⁹⁷¹

5. Executive sessions

Executive sessions (discussed below in Chapter III), are an exemption to the requirement that public bodies conduct public business in meetings that are open to the public; however, public bodies may not vote or take official action in an executive session.⁹⁷²

B. Notice

Every public body must establish, by rule, a reasonable method for notifying the public in advance of its meetings.⁹⁷³ The public body's notice rule must provide for "notice that is consistent and actually reaches the public."⁹⁷⁴ The requirements for proper notice vary depending upon the type of meeting a public body is conducting, as detailed in this section.

1. Types of meetings and notice requirements

a. Regular meetings

"Regular meetings" are those held at prescheduled intervals, such as monthly or annual meetings.⁹⁷⁵ A public body must establish, by rule, a reasonable method that allows the public to determine the time and place of regular meetings.⁹⁷⁶ remain anonymous when making a public records request, the Open Meetings Act does not have a similar anonymity requirement. As a result, a public body can require attendees at meetings to disclose their identities by signing a sign-in sheet as long as the practice is content-neutral and narrowly tailored to serve a significant governmental interest.)

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter Two: Duties of a Public Body

b. Special meetings

A “special meeting” is any meeting other than a regular meeting.⁹⁷⁷ A public body must establish, by rule, a reasonable method that allows the public to determine the time, place, and purpose of special meetings⁹⁷⁸ and conforms with the following requirements:

- Public bodies must provide at least 24-hours advance notification of special meetings to all media outlets that have requested such notification,⁹⁷⁹ except in the event of an emergency requiring immediate official action (see “emergency meetings,” below).
- When a public body holds a special meeting to discuss particular issues, the statement of the meeting’s purpose must specifically indicate those issues, and the public body may only discuss those specified issues at that meeting.⁹⁸⁰ When a special meeting is simply a rescheduled “regular” meeting occurring at a different time, the statement of the meeting’s purpose may be for “general purposes.”⁹⁸¹ Discussing matters at a special meeting that were not disclosed in the notice of purpose, either in open session or executive session, is a violation of the Open Meetings Act.⁹⁸²

c. Emergency meetings

An emergency meeting is a type of special meeting that a public body convenes when a situation requires immediate official action.⁹⁸³ Rather than the 24-hours advance notice usually required, a public body scheduling an emergency meeting must immediately notify all media outlets that have specifically requested such notice of the time, place, and purpose of the emergency meeting.⁹⁸⁴ The purpose statement must comport with the specificity requirements discussed above.

2. Rules requirements

The Open Meetings Act requires every public body to adopt rules establishing reasonable methods for the public to determine the time and place of all regularly scheduled meetings, and the time, place, and purpose of all special meetings.⁹⁸⁵ Those rules must include a provision for any person, upon request and payment of a reasonable fee, to obtain reasonable advance notification of all meetings at which any specific type of public business is to be discussed.⁹⁸⁶ The statute suggests that

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter Two: Duties of a Public Body

provisions for advance notification may include mailing the agenda of meetings to all subscribers on a mailing list or mailing notices in self-addressed, stamped envelopes provided by the person requesting notice.⁹⁸⁷

3. Notice by publication

Courts have found that publication of meeting information in a newspaper is one reasonable method of noticing the public of its meetings.⁹⁸⁸ This method, however, does not satisfy the notice requirement if the public body does not have a rule providing for it or if the newspaper has discretion not to publish the information.⁹⁸⁹ Courts have addressed situations in which the media misprints meeting information and have not found a violation of the notice requirement.⁹⁹⁰ Many public bodies that adopt some other means of notice by rule also notify their local media of all regular, special, and emergency meetings as a courtesy.

C. Minutes

1. Content of minutes

A public body must keep full and accurate minutes of its meetings.⁹⁹¹ Those minutes are not required to be a verbatim transcript of the proceedings, but they must include enough facts and information to permit the public to understand and appreciate the rationale behind the public body's decisions.⁹⁹² The Ohio Supreme Court holds that minutes must include more than a record of roll call votes, and that minutes are inadequate when they contain inaccuracies that are not corrected.⁹⁹³ A public body cannot rely on sources other than their approved minutes to argue that their minutes contain a full and accurate record of their proceedings.⁹⁹⁴

Because executive sessions are not open to the public, the meeting minutes need to reflect only the general subject matter of the executive session via the motion to convene the session for a permissible purpose or purposes (see "Executive Session," discussed later in Chapter Three).⁹⁹⁵ Including details of members' pre-vote discussion following an executive session may prove helpful, though. At least one court has found that the lack of pre-vote comments reflected by the minutes supported the trial court's conclusion that the public body's discussion of the pros and cons of the matter at issue must have improperly occurred during executive session.⁹⁹⁶

⁹⁸⁷ These requirements notwithstanding, many courts have found that actions taken by a public body are not invalid simply because the body failed to adopt notice rules. These courts reason that the purpose of the law's invalidation section (R.C. 121.22(H)) is to invalidate actions taken when insufficient notice of the meeting was provided. See Doran v. Northmont Bd. of Edn., 147 Ohio App.3d 268, 271 (2002) (2d Dist. 2002); Hoops v. Jerusalem Twp. Bd. of Trustees, 6th Dist. No. L-97-1240, 1998 WL 172819 (1998); *Barbeck v. The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter Two: Duties of a Public Body

2. Making minutes available “promptly” as a public record

A public body must promptly prepare, file, and make available its minutes for public inspection.⁹⁹⁷ The term “promptly” is not defined. One court has adopted the definition applied by courts to the Public Records Act (without delay and with reasonable speed, depending on the facts of each case), to define that term in the Open Meetings Act.⁹⁹⁸ The final version of the official minutes approved by members of the public body is a public record.⁹⁹⁹ Note that a draft version of the meeting minutes that the public body circulates for approval,¹⁰⁰⁰ as well as the clerk’s handwritten notes used to draft minutes,¹⁰⁰¹ are also public records.

3. Medium on which minutes are kept

Because neither the Open Meetings Act nor the Public Records Act addresses the medium on which a public body must keep the official meeting minutes, a public body may make this determination for itself. Some public bodies document that choice by adopting a formal rule or by passing a resolution or motion at a meeting.¹⁰⁰² Many public bodies make a contemporaneous audio recording of the meeting to use as a back-up in preparing written official minutes. The Ohio Attorney General has opined that such a recording constitutes a public record that the public body must make available for inspection upon request.¹⁰⁰³

D. Modified Duties of Public Bodies under Special Circumstances

1. Declared emergency¹⁰⁰⁴

During a declared emergency, R.C. 5502.24(B) provides a limited exemption to fulfilling the requirements of the Open Meetings Act. If, due to a declared emergency, it becomes “imprudent, inexpedient, or impossible to conduct the affairs of local government at the regular or usual place,” the governing body may meet at an alternate site previously designated (by ordinance, resolution, or other manner) as the emergency location of government.¹⁰⁰⁵ Further, the public body may exercise its powers and functions in light of the exigencies of the emergency without regard to or compliance with time-consuming procedures and formalities of the Open Meetings Act. Even in an emergency, however, there is no exemption to the “in person” meeting requirement of R.C. 121.22(C), and the provision does not permit the public body to meet by teleconference.¹⁰⁰⁶

2. Municipal charters

The Open Meetings Act applies to public bodies at both the state and local government level. However, because the Ohio Constitution permits “home rule” (self-government), municipalities may Ricketts*, 56 Ohio St.3d 97 (1990) (finding that, because the members of a public body had met as a majority group, R.C. 121.22 applied, and minutes of the meeting were therefore necessary); State ex rel. Long v. Cardington Village Council, 92 Ohio St.3d 54, 57 (2001) (finding that audiotapes that are later erased do not meet requirement to maintain minutes).

¹⁰⁰² In State ex rel. Long v. Cardington Village Council, 92 Ohio St.3d 54, 57 (2001), the Ohio Supreme Court found the council’s contention that audiotapes complied with Open Meetings Act requirements to be meritless because they were not treated as official minutes, e.g., council approved written minutes, did not tape all meetings, and voted to erase tapes after written minutes had been approved.

¹⁰⁰⁴ “Emergency” is defined as “any period during which the congress of the United States or a chief executive has declared or proclaimed that an emergency exists.” R.C. 5502.21 (F). “Chief executive” is defined as “the president of the United States, the governor of this state, the board of county commissioners of any county, the board of township trustees of any township, or the mayor or city manager of any municipal corporate within this state.” R.C. 5502.21(C).

adopt a charter under which their local governments operate.¹⁰⁰⁷ A charter municipality has the right to determine by charter the manner in which its meetings will be held.¹⁰⁰⁸ Charter provisions take precedence over the Open Meetings Act when the two conflict.¹⁰⁰⁹ If a municipal charter includes specific guidelines regarding the conduct of meetings, the municipality must abide by those guidelines.¹⁰¹⁰ In addition, if a charter expressly requires that all meetings of the public bodies must be open, the municipality may not adopt ordinances that permit executive session.¹⁰¹¹

Chapter Three: Executive Session

III. Chapter Three: Executive Session

A. General Principles

An “executive session” is a conference between members of a public body from which the public is excluded.¹⁰¹² The public body, however, may invite anyone it chooses to attend an executive session.¹⁰¹³ The Open Meetings Act strictly limits the use of executive sessions. First, the Open Meetings Act limits the matters that a public body may discuss in executive session.¹⁰¹⁴ Second, the Open Meetings Act requires that a public body follow a specific procedure to adjourn into an executive session.¹⁰¹⁵ Finally, a public body may not take any formal action, such as voting or otherwise reaching a collective decision, in an executive session – any formal action taken in an executive session is invalid.¹⁰¹⁶

A public body may only discuss matters specifically identified in R.C. 121.22(G) in executive session and may only hold executive sessions at regular and special meetings.¹⁰¹⁷ One court has held that a public body may discuss other, related issues if they have a direct bearing on the permitted matter(s).¹⁰¹⁸ If a public body is challenged in court over the nature of discussions or deliberations held in executive session, the burden of proof lies with the public body to establish that one of the statutory exemptions permitted the executive session.¹⁰¹⁹

The Open Meetings Act does not prohibit the public body or one of its members from disclosing the information discussed in executive session.¹⁰²⁰ However, other provisions of law may prohibit such disclosure.¹⁰²¹

Note: The privacy afforded by the Open Meetings Act to executive session discussions does not make confidential any documents that a public body may discuss in executive session. If a document is a “public record” and is not otherwise exempt under one of the exemptions to the Public Records Act, the record will still be subject to public disclosure even if the public body appropriately discussed it in executive session. In other words, an executive session under the Open Meetings Act is not an exemption for public records under the Public Records Act. For instance, if a public body properly discusses pending litigation in executive session, a settlement agreement negotiated during that executive session and reduced to writing may be subject to public disclosure.¹⁰²²

B. Permissible Discussion Topics in Executive Session

There are very limited topics that the members of a public body may consider in executive session:

1. Certain personnel matters when particularly named in motion¹⁰²³

A public body may adjourn into executive session:

- To consider the appointment, employment, dismissal, discipline, promotion, demotion, or compensation of a public employee or official; and
- To consider the investigation of charges or complaints against a public employee, official, licensee, or regulated individual,¹⁰²⁴ unless the employee, official, licensee, or regulated individual requests a public hearing,¹⁰²⁵

but

- A public body may not hold an executive session to consider the discipline of an elected official for conduct related to the performance of the official's duties or to consider that person's removal from office.

A motion to adjourn into executive session must specify which of the particular personnel matter(s) listed in the statute the movant proposes to discuss. A motion “to discuss personnel matters” is not sufficiently specific and does not comply with the statute.¹⁰²⁶ One court has concluded that a public body violated the Open Meetings Act by going into executive session for the stated purpose of an employee's “evaluation.” That court did not “necessarily disagree” that the Act allows discussion on an employee's “job performance” in executive session, but it concluded that “the public body must specify the context in which ‘job performance’ will be considered by identifying one of the statutory purposes set forth in R.C. 121.22(G).”¹⁰²⁷ The motion need not include the name of the person involved in the specified personnel matter¹⁰²⁸ or disclose “private facts.”¹⁰²⁹

¹⁰²⁵ This provision does not create a substantive right to a public hearing. Matheny v. Frontier Local Bd. of Edn., 62 Ohio St.2d 362, 368 (1980) (“[T]he term ‘public hearing’ in subdivision (G)(1) of [R.C. 121.22] refers only to the hearings elsewhere provided by law.”). No. 89 CA 26, 1990 WL 127054 (1990) (finding that, upon request, a teacher was entitled to have deliberations regarding his dismissal occur in open meetings). Chapter Three: Executive Session

Appellate courts disagree on whether a public body must limit its discussion of personnel in an executive session to a specific individual or may include broader discussion of employee matters. At least three appellate courts have held that the language of the Open Meetings Act clearly limits discussion in executive session to consideration of a specific employee's employment, dismissal, etc.¹⁰³⁰ These court decisions are based on the plain language in the Act, which requires that "all meetings of any public body are declared to be open to the public at all times,"¹⁰³¹ meaning any exemptions to openness should be drawn narrowly. A different appellate court, however, looked to a different provision in the Act that permits the public body to exclude the name of any person to be considered during the executive session as allowing general personnel discussions.¹⁰³²

2. Purchase or sale of property

A public body may adjourn into executive session to consider the purchase of property of any sort – real, personal, tangible, or intangible.¹⁰³³ A public body may also adjourn into executive session to consider the sale of real or personal property by competitive bid, or the sale or disposition of unneeded, obsolete, or unfit property under R.C. 505.10, if disclosure of the information would result in a competitive advantage to the person whose personal, private interest is adverse to the general public interest.¹⁰³⁴ No member of a public body may use this exemption as subterfuge to provide covert information to prospective buyers or sellers.¹⁰³⁵

3. Pending or imminent court action

A public body may adjourn into executive session with the public body's attorney to discuss a pending or imminent court action.¹⁰³⁶ Court action is "pending" if a lawsuit has been commenced, and it is "imminent" if it is on the brink of commencing.¹⁰³⁷ Courts have concluded that threatened litigation is imminent and may be discussed in executive session.¹⁰³⁸ A public body may not use this exemption to adjourn into executive session for discussions with a board member who also happens to be an attorney. The attorney should be the duly appointed counsel for the public body.¹⁰³⁹ Additionally, a general discussion of legal matters is not a sufficient basis for invoking this provision.¹⁰⁴⁰

Chapter Three: Executive Session

4. Collective bargaining matters

A public body may adjourn into executive session to prepare for, conduct, or review a collective bargaining strategy.¹⁰⁴¹

5. Matters required to be kept confidential

A public body may adjourn into executive session to discuss matters that federal law or regulations or state statutes require the public body to keep confidential.¹⁰⁴² The common law attorney-client privilege does not qualify under this enumerated exemption to allow general legal advice in executive session because the public body is not required to assert the privilege.¹⁰⁴³

6. Security matters

A public body may adjourn into executive session to discuss details of security arrangements and emergency response protocols for a public body or public office if disclosure of the matters discussed could reasonably be expected to jeopardize the security of the public body or public office.¹⁰⁴⁴

7. Hospital trade secrets

Certain hospital public bodies established by counties, joint townships, or municipalities may adjourn into executive session to discuss trade secrets as defined by R.C. 1333.61.¹⁰⁴⁵

8. *Confidential business information of an applicant for economic development assistance*¹⁰⁴⁶

This topic requires that the information to be discussed in executive session be directly related to economic development assistance of specified types listed in the statute.¹⁰⁴⁷ “A unanimous quorum of the public body [must determine], by a roll call vote, that the executive session is necessary to protect the interests of the applicant or the possible investment or expenditure of public funds to be made in connection with the economic development project.”¹⁰⁴⁸

9. Veterans Service Commission Applications

A Veterans Service Commission must hold an executive session when considering an applicant’s request for financial assistance unless the applicant requests a public hearing.¹⁰⁴⁹ Note that, unlike the previous seven discussion topics, discussion of Veterans Service Commission applications in executive session is mandatory.

C. Proper Procedures for Executive Session

A public body may only hold an executive session at a regular or special meeting, and a meeting that includes an executive session must always begin and end in an open session.¹⁰⁵⁰ In order to begin an executive session, there must be a proper motion approved by a majority¹⁰⁵¹ of a quorum of the public body, using a roll call vote.¹⁰⁵²

Chapter Three: Executive Session

1. The motion

A motion for executive session must specifically identify “which one or more of the approved matters listed ... are to be considered at the executive session.”¹⁰⁵³ Thus, if the public body intends to discuss one of the matters included in the personnel exemption in executive session, the motion must specify which of those specific matters it will discuss (e.g., “I move to go into executive session to consider the promotion or compensation of a public employee.”).¹⁰⁵⁴ The public body must specifically identify which of the listed personnel matters set forth in R.C. 121.22(G)(1) it will discuss. It is not sufficient to simply state “personnel” as a reason for executive session.¹⁰⁵⁵ The motion does not need to specify by name the person whom the public body intends to discuss.¹⁰⁵⁶ Similarly, reiterating “the laundry list of possible matters from R.C. 121.22(G)(1) without specifying which of those purposes [will] be discussed in executive session” is improper.¹⁰⁵⁷

2. The roll call vote

Members of a public body may adjourn into executive session only after a majority of a quorum of the public body approves the motion by a roll call vote.¹⁰⁵⁸ The vote may not be by acclamation or by show of hands, and the public body should record the vote in its minutes.¹⁰⁵⁹

Although a proper motion is required before entering executive session, a motion to end the executive session and return to public session is not necessary because the closed-door discussion is “off the record.” Similarly, a public body does not take minutes during executive session. Note that any minutes taken during executive session may be subject to the Public Records Act.¹⁰⁶⁰ The minutes of the meeting need only document a motion to go into executive session that properly identifies the permissible topic or topics that the public body will discuss, as well as the return to open session (e.g., “We are now back on the record.”).

¹⁰⁵¹ To consider confidential business information of an application for economic development assistance under R.C. 121.22(G)(8), the motion must be approved by a unanimous quorum. R.C. 121.22(G)(8)(b).

Chapter Four: Enforcement & Remedies

IV. Chapter Four: Enforcement and Remedies

In Ohio, no state or local government official has the authority to enforce the Open Meetings Act. Instead, if any person believes a public body has violated or intends to violate the Open Meetings Act, that person may file suit in a common pleas court to enforce the law's provisions.¹⁰⁶¹

The Open Meetings Act states that its provisions “shall be liberally construed to require public officials to take official action and to conduct all deliberations upon official business only in open meetings unless the subject matter is specifically excepted by law.”¹⁰⁶² The executive session exemptions contained in R.C. 121.22(G) are to be strictly construed.¹⁰⁶³

A. Enforcement

1. Injunction

Any person may file a court action for an injunction to address an alleged or threatened violation of the Open Meetings Act. This action must be “brought within two years after the date of the alleged violation or threatened violation.”¹⁰⁶⁴ There must still be an actual genuine controversy at the time the action is filed, or the claim may be dismissed as moot.¹⁰⁶⁵ If granted by a court, an injunction compels the members of the public body to comply with the law by either refraining from the prohibited behavior or by lawfully conducting their meetings when they previously failed to do so.

a. Who may file and against whom “Any person” has standing to file for an injunction to enforce the Open Meetings Act.¹⁰⁶⁶ The person need not demonstrate a personal stake in the outcome of the lawsuit.¹⁰⁶⁷

Open Meetings Act injunction actions sometimes include the public body as the defendant, or individual members of the public body, or both. No reported cases dispute that individual members of a public body are proper defendants, but some courts have found that the public body itself is not “sui juris” (capable of being sued) for violations of the Act.¹⁰⁶⁸ Other courts find that public bodies are “sui juris” for purposes of suits alleging violations of the Act.¹⁰⁶⁹ Persons filing an enforcement action should consult case law applicable to their appellate district.

b. Where to file

The Open Meetings Act requires that an action for injunction be filed in the court of common pleas in the county where the alleged violation took place.¹⁰⁷⁰

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter Four: Enforcement & Remedies

One court has found that a party may not assert an alleged violation of the Open Meetings Act in a related action before a county board of elections.¹⁰⁷¹ Courts have reached different conclusions as to whether a trial court may consider an alleged violation of the Act as a claim made within an administrative appeal.¹⁰⁷² Those cases finding no jurisdiction have reasoned that the exclusive method to enforce the Act is as a separate original action filed in the common pleas court.

c. Proving a violation

The person filing an action under the Open Meetings Act generally has the burden of proving the alleged violation.¹⁰⁷³ When the plaintiff first shows that a meeting of a majority of the members of a public body occurred and alleges that the public was improperly excluded from all or part of that meeting, the burden shifts to the public body to produce evidence that the challenged meeting fell under one of the Act's exemptions.¹⁰⁷⁴ Courts do not necessarily accept a public body's stated purpose for an executive session if other evidence demonstrates that the public body improperly deliberated during the executive session.¹⁰⁷⁵ Upon proof of a violation or threatened violation of the Act, the court will conclusively and irrebuttably presume harm and prejudice to the person who brought the suit¹⁰⁷⁶ and will issue an injunction.¹⁰⁷⁷

d. Curing a violation

Once a violation is proven, the court must grant the injunction, regardless of the public body's subsequent attempts to cure the violation.¹⁰⁷⁸ Courts have different views as to whether and how a public body can then cure the violation, for instance with new, compliant discussions followed by compliant formal action.¹⁰⁷⁹ One court has explained that after a violation a public body must "start its decision-making process over with regard to what was illegally deliberated or decided in a closed meeting."¹⁰⁸⁰ The Ohio Supreme Court has held that a city's failure to have public deliberation

No. 90-P-2254, 1991 WL 206663 (1991) (finding a violation when board was to discuss administrative appeal merits privately, appellant's attorney objected, board immediately held executive session "to discuss pending litigation," then emerged to announce decision on appeal); In the Matter of Removal of Smith, 5th Dist. No. CA-90-11, 1991 WL 87166 (1991) (finding violation when county commission emerged from executive session held "to discuss legal matters" and announced decision to remove Smith from Board of Mental Health, there was no county attorney present in executive session, and a request for public hearing on removal decision was pending).

Waste Ventures, Inc. v. Bd. of Amanda Twp. Trustees*, 3d Dist. No. 1-87-46, 1988 WL 17731, *4 (1988) (finding that "as a result of a violation, "the resolutions were invalid, and the fact that they were later adopted at public meetings did not cure their invalidity"); Gannett Satellite Information Network, Inc. v. Chillicothe City School Dist. Bd. of Edn., 41 Ohio App.3d 218, 221 (4th Dist. 1988) ("A violation of the Sunshine Law cannot be 'cured' by subsequent open meetings if the public body initially discussed matters in executive session that should have been discussed before the public."); Courts finding violation was cured: Kuhlman v. Village of Leipsic, 3d Dist. No. 12-94-9, 1995 WL 141528, *3 (1995) ("[A]n initial failure to comply with R.C. 121.22 can be cured if the matter at issue is later placed before the public for consideration."); *Carpenier v. No. 2013-CA-38, 2014-Ohio-2312, ¶ 36 (finding violation in termination of an employee did not afford employee life time employment but the public body has to re-deliberate "at least enough to support a finding that its discharge decision did not result from prior improper deliberations").

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter Four: Enforcement & Remedies

regarding the adoption of a charter amendment was cured when the amendment was placed on the ballot and adopted by the electorate.¹⁰⁸¹

2. Mandamus

When a person seeks access to the public body's minutes, that person may also file a mandamus action under the Public Records Act to compel the creation of or access to meeting minutes.¹⁰⁸² Mandamus is also the appropriate action to order a public body to give notice of meetings to the person filing the action.¹⁰⁸³

3. Quo warranto

Once a court issues an injunction finding a violation of the Open Meetings Act, members of the public body who later commit a "knowing" violation of the injunction may be removed from office through a quo warranto action, which may only be brought by the county prosecutor or the Ohio Attorney General.¹⁰⁸⁴

B. Remedies

1. Invalidity

A resolution, rule, or formal action of any kind is invalid unless adopted in an open meeting of the public body.¹⁰⁸⁵ However, courts have refused to allow public bodies to benefit from their own violations of the Open Meetings Act.¹⁰⁸⁶ For instance, a public body may not attempt to avoid a contractual obligation by arguing that approval of the contract is invalid because of a violation of the Act.¹⁰⁸⁷

a. Failure to take formal action in public

The Open Meetings Act requires a public body's "official" or "formal" action to be taken in open session.¹⁰⁸⁸ Even without taking a vote or a poll, members of a public body may inadvertently take "formal action" in an executive session when they indicate how they intend to vote about a matter pending before them, making the later vote in open session invalid.¹⁰⁸⁹ A formal action taken in an open session also may be invalid if it results from deliberations that improperly occurred outside of an open meeting, e.g., at an informal, private meeting or in an improper executive session.¹⁰⁹⁰ Even a decision in executive session not to take action (on a request made to the public body) has been held to be “formal action” that should have been made in open session, and thus, was deemed invalid.¹⁰⁹¹

The Ohio Open Meetings Act

Chapter Four: Enforcement & Remedies

b. Improper notice

A formal action taken by a public body in a meeting for which it did not properly give notice is invalid.¹⁰⁹²

c. Minutes

At least one court has found that minutes are merely the record of actions; they are not actions in and of themselves. Thus, failure to properly approve minutes does not invalidate the actions taken during the meeting.¹⁰⁹³

2. Mandatory civil forfeiture

If the court issues an injunction, the court will order the public body to pay a civil forfeiture of $500 to the person who filed the action.¹⁰⁹⁴ Courts that find that a public body has violated the law on repeated occasions have awarded a $500 civil forfeiture for each violation.¹⁰⁹⁵

3. Court costs and attorney fees

If the court issues an injunction, it will order the public body to pay all court costs¹⁰⁹⁶ and the reasonable attorney fees of the person who filed the action.¹⁰⁹⁷ Courts have discretion to reduce or completely eliminate attorney fees, however, if they find that, (1) based on the state of the law when the violation occurred, a well-informed public body could have reasonably believed it was not violating the law; and (2) it was reasonable for the public body to believe its actions served public policy.¹⁰⁹⁸

If the court does not issue an injunction and decides the lawsuit was frivolous, the court will order the person who filed the suit to pay all of the public body’s court costs and reasonable attorney fees

APPENDIX A

Ohio Revised Code § 9.01 – Official records – preserving and maintaining

When any officer, office, court, commission, board, institution, department, agent, or employee of the state, of a county, or of any other political subdivision who is charged with the duty or authorized or required by law to record, preserve, keep, maintain, or file any record, document, plat, court file, paper, or instrument in writing, or to make or furnish copies of any of them, deems it necessary or advisable, when recording or making a copy or reproduction of any of them or of any such record, for the purpose of recording or copying, preserving, and protecting them, reducing space required for storage, or any similar purpose, to do so by means of any photostatic, photographic, miniature photographic, film, microfilm, or microphotographic process, or perforated tape, magnetic tape, other magnetic means, electronic data processing, machine readable means, or graphic or video display, or any combination of those process, means, or displays, which correctly and accurately copies, records, or reproduces, or provides a medium of copying, recording, or reproducing, the original record, document, plat, court file, paper, or instrument in writing, such use of any of those processes, means, or displays for any such purpose is hereby authorized. Any such records, copies, or reproductions may be made in duplicate, and the duplicates shall be stored in different buildings. The film or paper used for a process shall comply with the minimum standards of quality approved for permanent photographic records by the national bureau of standards. All such records, copies, or reproductions shall carry a certificate of authenticity and completeness, on a form specified by the director of administrative services through the state records program.

Any such officer, office, court, commission, board, institution, department, agent, or employee of the state, of a county, or of any other political subdivision may purchase or rent required equipment for any such photographic process and may enter into contracts with private concerns or other governmental agencies for the development of film and the making of reproductions of film as a part of any such photographic process. When so recorded, or copies or reproduced to reduce space required for storage or filing of such records, such photographs, microphotographs, microfilms, perforated tape, magnetic tape, other magnetic means, electronic data processing, machine readable means, graphic or video display, or combination of these processes, means, or displays, or films, or prints made therefrom, when properly identified by the officer by whom or under whose supervision they were made, or who has their custody, have the same effect at law as the original record or of a record made by any other legally authorized means, and may be offered in like manner and shall be received in evidence in any court where the original record, or record made by other legally authorized means, could have been so introduced and received. Certified or authenticated copies or prints of such photographs, microphotographs, films, microfilms, perforated tape, magnetic tape, other magnetic means, electronic data processing, machine readable means, graphic or video display, or combination of these processes, means, or displays, shall be admitted in evidence equally with the original.

Such photographs, microphotographs, microfilms, or films shall be placed and kept in conveniently accessible, fireproof, and insulated files, cabinets, or containers, and provisions shall be made for preserving, safekeeping, using, examining, exhibiting, projecting, and enlarging them whenever requested, during office hours.

All persons utilizing methods described in this section for keeping records and information shall keep and make readily available to the public the machines and equipment necessary to reproduce the records and information in a readable form.

APPENDIX A

Ohio Revised Code § 109.43 – Public records training programs – model public records policy

(A) As used in this section:

- (1) “Designee” means a designee of the elected official in the public office if that elected official is the only elected official in the public office involved or a designee of all of the elected officials in the public office if the public office involved includes more than one elected official.
- (2) “Elected official” means an official elected to a local or statewide office. “Elected official” does not include the chief justice or a justice of the supreme court, a judge of a court of appeals, court of common pleas, municipal court, or county court, or a clerk of any of those courts.
- (3) “Public office” has the same meaning as in section 149.011 [149.01.1] of the Revised Code.
- (4) “Public record” has the same meaning as in section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

(B) The attorney general shall develop, provide, and certify training programs and seminars for all elected officials or their appropriate designees in order to enhance the officials’ knowledge of the duty to provide access to public records as required by section 149.43 of the Revised Code. The training shall be three hours for every term of office for which the elected official was appointed or elected to the public office involved. The training shall provide elected officials or their appropriate designees with guidance in developing and updating their offices’ policies as required under section 149.43 of the Revised Code. The successful completion by an elected official or by an elected official’s appropriate designee of the training requirements established by the attorney general under this section shall satisfy the education requirements imposed on elected officials or their appropriate designees under division (E) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code. Prior to providing the training programs and seminars under this section to satisfy the education requirements imposed on elected officials or their appropriate designees under division (E) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code, the attorney general shall ensure that the training programs and seminars are accredited by the commission on continuing legal education established by the supreme court.

(C) The attorney general shall not charge any elected official or the appropriate designee of any elected official any fee for attending the training programs and seminars that the attorney general conducts under this section. The attorney general may allow the attendance of any other interested persons at any of the training programs or seminars that the attorney general conducts under this section and shall not charge the person any fee for attending the training program or seminar.

(D) In addition to developing, providing, and certifying training programs and seminars as required under division (B) of this section, the attorney general may contract with one or more other state agencies, political subdivisions, or other public or private entities to conduct the training programs and seminars for elected officials or their appropriate designees under this section. The contract may provide for the attendance of any other interested persons at any of the training programs or seminars conducted by the contracting state agency, political subdivision, or other public or private entity. The contracting state agency, political subdivision, or other public or private entity may charge an elected official, an elected officials' appropriate designee, or an interested person a registration fee for attending the training program or seminar conducted by that contracting agency, political subdivision, or entity pursuant to a contract entered into under this division. The attorney general shall determine a reasonable amount for the registration fee based on the actual and necessary expenses associated with the training programs and seminars. If the contracting state agency, political subdivision, or other public or private entity charges an elected official or an elected official's appropriate designee a registration fee for attending the training program or seminar conducted pursuant to a contract entered into under this division by that contracting agency, political subdivision, or entity, the public office for which the elected official was appointed or elected to represent may use the public office's own funds to pay for the cost of the registration fee.

(E) The attorney general shall develop and provide to all public offices a model public records policy for responding to public records requests in compliance with section 149.43 of the Revised Code in order to provide guidance to public offices in developing their own public record policies for responding to public records requests in compliance with that section.

(F) The attorney general may provide any other appropriate training or education programs about Ohio's "Sunshine Laws," sections 121.22, 149.38, 149.381, and 149.43 of the Revised Code, as may be developed and offered by the attorney general or by the attorney general in collaboration with one or more other state agencies, political subdivisions, or other public or private entities.

(G) The auditor of state, in the course of an annual or biennial audit of a public office pursuant to Chapter 117. Of the Revised Code, shall audit the public office for compliance with this section and division (E) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.31 – Archives administration for the state

(A) The Ohio history connection, in addition to its other functions, shall function as the state archives administration for the state and its political subdivisions.

It shall be the function of the state archives administration to preserve government archives, documents, and records of historical value that may come into its possession from public or private sources.

The archives administration shall evaluate, preserve, arrange, service repair, or make other disposition of, including transfer to public libraries, county historical societies, state universities, or other public or quasi-public institutions, agencies, or corporations, those public records of the state and its political subdivisions that may come into its possession under this section. Those public records shall be transferred by written agreement only, and only to public or quasi-public institutions, agencies, or corporations capable of meeting accepted archival standards for housing and use.

The archives administration shall be headed by a trained archivist designated by the Ohio history connection and shall make its services available to county, municipal, township, school district, library, and special taxing district records commissions upon request. The archivist shall be designated as the “state archivist.”

(B) The archives administration may purchase or procure for itself, or authorize the board of trustees of an archival institution to purchase or procure, from an insurance company licensed to do business in this state policies of insurance insuring the administration or the members of the board and their officers, employees, and agents against liability on account of damage or injury to persons and property resulting from any act or omission of the board members, officers, employees, and agents in their official capacity.

(C) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Revised Code to the contrary, the archives administration may establish a fee schedule, which may include the cost of labor, for researching, retrieving, copying, and mailing copies of public records in the state archives. Revisions to the fee schedule shall be subject to approval by the board of trustees of the Ohio history connection.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.331 – State record administration program

The state records program of the department of administrative services shall do all of the following:

(A) Establish and promulgate in consultation with the state archivist standards, procedures, and techniques for the effective management of state records;

(B) Review applications for one-time records disposal and schedules of records retention and destruction submitted by state agencies in accordance with section 149.333 of the Revised Code;

(C) Establish “general schedules” proposing the disposal, after the lapse of specified periods of time, of records of specified form or character common to several or all agencies that either have accumulated or may accumulate in such agencies and that apparently will not, after the lapse of the periods specified, have sufficient administrative, legal, fiscal, or other value to warrant their further preservation by the state;

(D) Establish and maintain a records management training program, and provide a basic consulting service, for personnel involved in record-making and record-keeping functions of departments, offices, and institutions;

(E) Provide for the disposition of any remaining records of any state agency, board, or commission, whether in the executive, judicial, or legislative branch of government, that has terminated its operations. After the closing of the Ohio veterans’ children’s home, the resident records of the home and the resident records of the home when it was known as the soldiers’ and sailors’ orphans’ home required to be maintained by approved records retention schedules shall be administered by the state department of education pursuant to this chapter, the administrative records of the home required to be maintained by approved records retention schedules shall be administered by the department of administrative services pursuant to this chapter, and historical records of the home shall be transferred to an appropriate archival institution in this state prescribed by the state records program.

(F) Establish a centralized program coordinating micrographics standards, training, and services for the benefit of all state agencies;

(G) Establish and publish in accordance with the applicable law necessary procedures and rules for the retention and disposal of state records.

This section does not apply to the records of state-supported institutions of higher education, which shall keep their own records.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.333 – Applying for record disposal or transfer

No state agency shall retain, destroy, or otherwise transfer its state records in violation of this section. This section does not apply to state-supported institutions of higher education.

Each state agency shall submit to the state records program under the director of administrative services all applications for records disposal or transfer and all schedules and provide written approval, rejection, or modification of an application or schedule. The state records program shall then forward the application for records disposal or transfer or the schedule for retention or destruction, with the program's recommendation attached, to the auditor of state for review and approval. The decision of the auditor of state disapproves the action by the state agency, the auditor of state shall so inform the state agency through the state records program within sixty days, and the records shall not be destroyed.

At the same time, the state records program shall forward the application for records disposal or transfer or the schedule for retention or destruction to the state archivist for review and approval. The state archivist shall have sixty days to select for custody the state records that the state archivist determines to be of continuing historical value. Records not selected shall be disposed of in accordance with this section.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.34 – Records management procedures

The head of each state agency, office, institution, board, or commission shall do the following:

(A) Establish, maintain, and direct an active continuing program for the effective management of the records of the state agency;

APPENDIX A

(B) Submit to the state records program, in accordance with applicable standards and procedures, schedules proposing the length of time each record series warrants retention for administrative, legal, or fiscal purposes after it has been received or created by the agency. The head also shall submit to the state records program applications for disposal of records in the head's custody that are not needed in the transaction of current business and are not otherwise scheduled for retention or destruction.

(C) Within one year after their date of creation or receipt, schedule all records for disposition or retention in the manner prescribed by applicable law and procedures.

This section does not apply to state-supported institutions of higher education.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.351 – Prohibiting destruction or damage of records

(A) All records are the property of the public office concerned and shall not be removed, destroyed, mutilated, transferred, or otherwise damaged or disposed of, in whole or in part, except as provided by law or under the rules adopted by the records commissions provided for under sections 149.38 to 149.42 of the Revised Code or under the records programs established by the boards of trustees of state-supported institutions of higher education under section 149.33 of the Revised Code. Those records shall be delivered by outgoing officials and employees to their successors and shall not be otherwise removed, destroyed, mutilated, or transferred unlawfully.

(B) Any person who is aggrieved by the removal, destruction, mutilation, or transfer of, or by other damage to or disposition of a record in violation of division (A) of this section, or by threat of such removal, destruction, mutilation, transfer, or other damage to or disposition of such a record, may commence either or both of the following in the court of common pleas of the county in which division (A) of this section allegedly was violated or is threatened to be violated:

- (1) A civil action for injunctive relief to compel compliance with division (A) of this section, and to obtain an award of the reasonable attorney's fees incurred by the person in the civil action;

APPENDIX A

(2) A civil action to recover a forfeiture in the amount of one thousand dollars for each violation, but not to exceed a cumulative total of ten thousand dollars, regardless of the number of violations, and to obtain an award of the reasonable attorney's fees incurred by the person in the civil action not to exceed the forfeiture amount recovered.

(C) (1) A person is not aggrieved by a violation of division (A) of this section if clear and convincing evidence shows that the request for a record was contrived as a pretext to create potential liability under this section. The commencement of a civil action under division (B) of this section waives any right under this chapter to decline to divulge the purpose for requesting the record, but only to the extent needed to evaluate whether the request was contrived as a pretext to create potential liability under this section.

(2) In a civil action under division (B) of this section, if clear and convincing evidence shows that the request for a record was a pretext to create potential liability under this section, the court may award reasonable attorney's fees to any defendant or defendants in the action.

(D) Once a person recovers a forfeiture in a civil action commenced under division (B)(2) of this section, no other person may recover a forfeiture under that division for a violation of division (A) of this section involving the same record, regardless of the number of persons aggrieved by a violation of division (A) of this section or the number of civil actions commenced under this section.

(E) A civil action for injunctive relief under division (B)(1) of this section or a civil action to recover a forfeiture under division (B)(2) of this section shall be commenced within five years after the day in which division (A) of this section was allegedly violated or was threatened to be violated.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.38 – County records commission

(A) Except as otherwise provided in section 307.847 of the Revised Code, there is hereby created in each county a county records commission, composed of a member of the board of county commissioners as chairperson, the prosecuting attorney, the auditor, the recorder, and the clerk of the court of common pleas. The commission shall appoint a secretary, who may or may not be a member of the commission and who shall serve at the pleasure of the commission. The commission may employ an archivist or records manager to serve under its direction. The commission may employ an archivist or records manager to serve under its direction. The commission shall meet at least once every six months and upon call of the chairperson.

(B) (1) The functions of the county records commission shall be to provide rules for retention and disposal of records of the county, and to review applications for one-time disposal of obsolete records and schedules of records retention and disposition submitted by county offices. The commission may dispose of records pursuant to the procedure outlined in this section. The commission, at any time, may review any schedule it has previously approved and, for good cause shown, may revise that schedule, subject to division (D) of this section.

(2) (a) As used in division (B)(2) of this section, “paper case records” means written reports of child abuse or neglect, written records of investigations, or other written records required to be prepared under section 2151.421, 5101.13, 5153.166, or 5153.17 of the Revised Code.

(b) A county public children services agency may submit to the county records commission applications for one-time disposal, or schedules of records retention and disposition, of paper case records that have been entered into permanently maintained and retrievable fields in the state automated child welfare information system established under section 5101.13 of the Revised Code or entered into other permanently maintained and retrievable electronic files. The county records commission may dispose of the paper case records pursuant to the procedure outlined in this section.

(C) (1) When the county records commission has approved any county application for one-time disposal of obsolete records or any schedule of records retention and disposition, the commission shall send that application or schedule to the Ohio history connection for its review. The Ohio history connection shall review the application or schedule within a period of not more than sixty days after its receipt of it. During the sixty-day review period, the Ohio history connection may select for its custody from the application for one-time disposal of obsolete records any records it considers to be of continuing historical value, and shall denote upon any schedule of records retention and disposition any records for which the Ohio history connection will require a certificate of records disposal prior to their disposal.

(2) Upon completion of its review, the Ohio history connection shall forward the application for one-time disposal of obsolete records or the schedule of records retention and disposition to the auditor of state for the auditor’s approval or disapproval. The auditor of state shall approve or disapprove the application or schedule within a period of not more than sixty days after receipt of it.

APPENDIX A

(3) Before public records are to be disposed of pursuant to an approved schedule of records retention and disposition, the county records commission shall inform the Ohio history connection of the disposal through the submission of a certificate of records disposal for only the records required by the schedule to be disposed of and shall give the Ohio history connection the opportunity for a period of fifteen business days to select for its custody those records, from the certificate submitted, that it considers to be of continuing historical value. Upon the expiration of the fifteen-business-day period, the county records commission also shall notify the public libraries, county historical society, state universities, and other public or quasi-public institutions, agencies, or corporations in the county that have provided the commission with their name and address for these notification purposes, that the commission has informed the Ohio history connection of the records disposal and that the notified entities, upon written agreement with the Ohio history connection pursuant to section 149.31 of the Revised Code, may select records of continuing historical value, including records that may be distributed to any of the notified entities under section 149.31 of the Revised Code. Any notified entity that notifies the county records commission of its intent to review and select records of continuing historical value from certificates of records disposal is responsible for the cost of any notice given and for the transportation of those records.

(D) The rules of the county records commission shall include a rule that requires any receipts, checks, vouchers, or other similar records pertaining to expenditures from the delinquent tax and assessment collection fund created in section 321.261 of the Revised Code, from the real estate assessment fund created in section 325.31 of the Revised Code, or from amounts allocated for the furtherance of justice to the county sheriff under section 325.071 of the Revised Code or to the prosecuting attorney under section 325.12 of the Revised Code to be retained for at least four years.

(E) No person shall knowingly violate the rule adopted under division (D) of this section. Whoever violates that rule is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree.

- (t) Records provided to and statements made by the executive director of a public children services agency or a prosecuting attorney acting pursuant to section 5153.171 of the Revised Code other than the information released under that section;
- (u) Test materials, examinations, or evaluation tools used in an examination for licensure as a nursing home administrator that the board of executives of long-term services and supports administers under section 4751.04 of the Revised Code or contracts under that section with a private or government entity to administer;

APPENDIX A

(v) Records the release of which is prohibited by state or federal law;

(w) Proprietary information of or relating to any person that is submitted to or compiled by the Ohio venture capital authority created under section 150.01 of the Revised Code;

(x) Financial statements and data any person submits for any purpose to the Ohio housing finance agency or the controlling board in connection with applying for, receiving, or accounting for financial assistance from the agency, and information that identifies any individual who benefits directly or indirectly from financial assistance from the agency;

(y) Records listed in section 5101.29 of the Revised Code;

(z) Discharges recorded with a county recorder under section 317.24 of the Revised Code, as specified in division (B)(2) of that section;

(aa) Usage information including names and addresses of specific residential and commercial customers of a municipally owned or operated public utility;

(bb) Records described in division (C) of section 187.04 of the Revised Code that are not designated to be made available to the public as provided in that division;

(cc) Information and records that are made confidential, privileged, and not subject to disclosure under divisions (B) and (C) of section 2949.221 of the Revised Code;

(dd) Personal information, as defined in section 149.45 of the Revised Code;

(ee) The confidential name, address, and other personally identifiable information of a program participant in the address confidentiality program established under sections 111.41 to 111.47 of the Revised Code, including the contents of any application for absent voter's ballots, absent voter's ballot identification envelope statement of voter, or provisional ballot affirmation completed by a program participant who has a confidential voter registration record, and records or portions of records pertaining to that program that identify the number of program participants that reside within a precinct, ward, township, municipal corporation, county, or any other geographic area smaller than the state. As used in this division, "confidential address" and "program participant" have the meaning defined in section 111.41 of the Revised Code.

(ff) Orders for active military service of an individual serving or with previous service in the armed forces of the United States, including a reserve component, or the Ohio organized militia, except that, such order becomes a public record on the day that is fifteen years after the published date or effective date of the call to order.

(2) "Confidential law enforcement investigatory record" means any record that pertains to a law enforcement matter of a criminal, quasi-criminal, civil, or administrative nature, but only to the extent that the release of the record would create a high probability of disclosure of any of the following:

APPENDIX A

(a) The identity of a suspect who has not been charged with the offense to which the record pertains, or of an information source or witness to whom confidentiality has been reasonably promised;

(b) Information provided by an information source or witness to whom confidentiality has been reasonably promised, which information would reasonably tend to disclose the source's or witness's identity;

(c) Specific confidential investigatory techniques or procedures or specific investigatory work product;

(d) Information that would endanger the life or physical safety of law enforcement personnel, a crime victim, a witness, or a confidential information source.

(3) "Medical record" means any document or combination of documents, except births, deaths, and the fact of admission to or discharge from a hospital, that pertains to the medical history, diagnosis, prognosis, or medical condition of a patient and that is generated and maintained in the process of medical treatment.

(4) "Trial preparation record" means any record that contains information that is specifically compiled in reasonable anticipation of, or in defense of, a civil or criminal action or proceeding, including the independent thought processes and personal trial preparation of an attorney.

(5) "Intellectual property record" means a record, other than a financial or administrative record, that is produced or collected by or for faculty or staff of a state institution of higher learning in the conduct of or as a result of study or research on an educational, commercial, scientific, artistic, technical, or scholarly issue, regardless of whether the study or research was sponsored by the institution alone or in conjunction with a governmental body or private concern, and that has not been publicly released, published, or patented.

(6) "Donor profile record" means all records about donors or potential donors to a public institution of higher education except the names and reported addresses of the actual donors and the date, amount, and conditions of the actual donation.

(7) "Peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer residential and familial information" means any information that discloses any of the following about a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer:

(a) The address of the actual personal residence of a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer, except for the state or political subdivision in which the peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer resides;

(b) Information compiled from referral to or participation in an employee assistance program;

(c) The social security number, the residential telephone number, any bank account, debit card, charge card, or credit card number, or the emergency telephone number of, or any medical information pertaining to, a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer;

(d) The name of any beneficiary of employment benefits, including, but not limited to, life insurance benefits, provided to a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer by the peace officer's, parole officer's, probation officer's, bailiff's, prosecuting attorney's, assistant prosecuting attorney's, correctional employee's, community-based correctional facility employee's, youth services employee's, firefighter's, EMT's, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation's, or federal law enforcement officer's employer;

(e) The identity and amount of any charitable or employment benefit deduction made by the peace officer's, parole officer's, probation officer's, bailiff's, prosecuting attorney's, assistant prosecuting attorney's, correctional employee's, community-based correctional facility employee's, youth services employee's, firefighter's, EMT's, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation's, or federal law enforcement officer's employer from the peace officer's, parole officer's, probation officer's, bailiff's, prosecuting attorney's, assistant prosecuting attorney's, correctional employee's, community-based correctional facility employee's, youth services employee's, firefighter's, EMT's, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation's, or federal law enforcement officer's compensation unless the amount of the deduction is required by state or federal law;

(f) The name, the residential address, the name of the employer, the address of the employer, the social security number, the residential telephone number, any bank account, debit card, charge card, or credit card number, or the emergency telephone number of the spouse, a former spouse, or any child of a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer;

APPENDIX A

(g) A photograph of a peace officer who holds a position or has an assignment that may include undercover or plain clothes positions or assignments as determined by the peace officer's appointing authority.

As used in divisions (A)(7) and (B)(9) of this section, "peace officer" has the same meaning as in section 109.71 of the Revised Code and also includes the superintendent and troopers of the state highway patrol; it does not include the sheriff of a county or a supervisory employee who, in the absence of the sheriff, is authorized to stand in for, exercise the authority of, and perform the duties of the sheriff.

As used in divisions (A)(7) and (B)(9) of this section, "correctional employee" means any employee of the department of rehabilitation and correction who in the course of performing the employee's job duties has or has had contact with inmates and persons under supervision.

As used in divisions (A)(7) and (B)(9) of this section, "youth services employee" means any employee of the department of youth services who in the course of performing the employee's job duties has or has had contact with children committed to the custody of the department of youth services.

As used in divisions (A)(7) and (B)(9) of this section, "firefighter" means any regular, paid or volunteer, member of a lawfully constituted fire department of a municipal corporation, township, fire district, or village.

As used in divisions (A)(7) and (B)(9) of this section, "EMT" means EMTs-basic, EMTs-I, and paramedics that provide emergency medical services for a public emergency medical service organization. "Emergency medical service organization," "EMT-basic," "EMT-I," and "paramedic" have the same meanings as in section 4765.01 of the Revised Code.

As used in divisions (A)(7) and (B)(9) of this section, "investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation" has the meaning defined in section 2903.11 of the Revised Code.

As used in divisions (A)(7) and (B)(9) of this section, "federal law enforcement officer" has the meaning defined in section 9.88 of the Revised Code.

(8) "Information pertaining to the recreational activities of a person under the age of eighteen" means information that is kept in the ordinary course of business by a public office, that pertains to the recreational activities of a person under the age of eighteen years, and that discloses any of the following:

(a) The address or telephone number of a person under the age of eighteen or the address or telephone number of that person's parent, guardian, custodian, or emergency contact person;

(b) The social security number, birth date, or photographic image of a person under the age of eighteen;

APPENDIX A

(c) Any medical record, history, or information pertaining to a person under the age of eighteen;

(d) Any additional information sought or required about a person under the age of eighteen for the purpose of allowing that person to participate in any recreational activity conducted or sponsored by a public office or to use or obtain admission privileges to any recreational facility owned or operated by a public office.

(9) “Community control sanction” has the same meaning as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(10) “Post-release control sanction” has the same meaning as in section 2967.01 of the Revised Code.

(11) “Redaction” means obscuring or deleting any information that is exempt from the duty to permit public inspection or copying from an item that otherwise meets the definition of a “record” in section 149.011 [149.01.1] of the Revised Code.

(12) “Designee” and “elected official” have the same meanings as in section 109.43 of the Revised Code.

(B) (1) Upon request and subject to division (B)(8) of this section, all public records responsive to the request shall be promptly prepared and made available for inspection to any person at all reasonable times during regular business hours. Subject to division (B)(8) of this section, upon request, a public office or person responsible for public records shall make copies of the requested public record available at cost and within a reasonable period of time. If a public record contains information that is exempt from the duty to permit public inspection or to copy the public record, the public office or the person responsible for the public record shall make available all of the information within the public record that is not exempt. When making that public record available for inspection or copying that public record, the public office or the person responsible for the public record shall notify the requester of any redaction or make the redaction plainly visible. A redaction shall be deemed a denial of a request to inspect or copy the redacted information, except if federal or state law authorizes or requires a public office to make the redaction.

(2) To facilitate broader access to public records, a public office or the person responsible for public records shall organize and maintain public records in a manner that they can be made available for inspection or copying in accordance with division (B) of this section. A public office also shall have available a copy of its current records retention schedule at a location readily available to the public. If a requester makes an ambiguous or overly broad request or has difficulty in making a request for copies or inspection of public records under this section such that the public office or the person responsible for the requested public record cannot reasonably identify what public records are being requested, the public office or the person responsible for the requested public record may deny the request but shall provide the requester with an opportunity to revise the request by informing the requester of the manner in which records are maintained by the public office and accessed in the ordinary course of the public office’s or person’s duties.

(3) If a request is ultimately denied, in part or in whole, the public office or the person responsible for the requested public record shall provide the requester with an explanation, including legal authority, setting forth why the request was denied. If the initial request was provided in writing, the explanation also shall be provided to the requester in writing. The explanation shall not preclude the public office or the person responsible for the requested public record from relying upon additional reasons or legal authority in defending an action commenced under division (C) of this section.

(4) Unless specifically required or authorized by state or federal law or in accordance with division (B) of this section, no public office or person responsible for public records may limit or condition the availability of public records by requiring disclosure of the requester's identity or the intended use of the requested public record. Any requirement that the requester disclose the requester's identity or the intended use of the requested public record constitutes a denial of the request.

(5) A public office or person responsible for public records may ask a requester to make the request in writing, may ask for the requester's identity, and may inquire about the intended use of the information requested, but may do so only after disclosing to the requester that a written request is not mandatory and that the requester may decline to reveal the requester's identity or the intended use and when a written request or disclosure of the identity or intended use would benefit the requester by enhancing the ability of the public office or person responsible for public records to identify, locate, or deliver the public records sought by the requester.

(6) If any person chooses to obtain a copy of a public record in accordance with division (B) of this section, the public office or person responsible for the public record may require that person to pay in advance the cost involved in providing the copy of the public record in accordance with the choice made by the person seeking the copy under this division. The public office or the person responsible for the public record shall permit that person to choose to have the public record duplicated upon paper, upon the same medium upon which the public office or person responsible for the public record keeps it, or upon any other medium upon which the public office or person responsible for the public record determines that it reasonably can be duplicated as an integral part of the normal operations of the public office or person responsible for the public record. When the person seeking the copy makes a choice under this division, the public office or person responsible for the public record shall provide a copy of it in accordance with the choice made by the person seeking the copy. Nothing in this section requires a public office or person responsible for the public record to allow the person seeking a copy of the public record to make the copies of the public record.

(7) (a) Upon a request made in accordance with division (B) of this section and subject to division (B)(6) of this section, a public office or person responsible for public records shall transmit a copy of a public record to any person by United States mail or by any other means of delivery or transmission within a reasonable period of time after receiving the request for the copy. The public office or person responsible for the public record may require the person making the request to pay in advance the cost of postage if the copy is transmitted by United States mail or the cost of delivery if the copy is transmitted other than by United States mail, and to pay in advance the costs incurred for other supplies used in the mailing, delivery, or transmission.

(b) Any public office may adopt a policy and procedures that it will follow in transmitting, within a reasonable period of time after receiving request, copies of public records by the United States mail or by any other means of delivery or transmission pursuant to this division (B)(7) of this section. A public office that adopts a policy and procedures under division (B)(7) of this section shall comply with them in performing its duties under that division.

(c) In any policy and procedures adopted under division (B)(7) of this section:

(i) A public office may limit the number of records requested by a person that the office will physically deliver by United States mail or by another delivery service to ten per month, unless the person certifies to the office in writing that the person does not intend to use or forward the requested records, or the information contained in them, for commercial purposes;

(ii) A public office that chooses to provide some or all of its public records on a web site that is fully accessible to and searchable by members of the public at all times, other than during acts of God outside the public office's control or maintenance, and that charges no fee to search, access, download, or otherwise receive records provided on the web site, may limit to ten per month the number of records requested by a person that the office will deliver in a digital format, unless the requested records are not provided on the web site and unless the person certifies to the office in writing that the person does not intend to use or forward the requested records, or the information contained in them, for commercial purposes.

(iii) For purposes of division (B)(7) of this section, "commercial" shall be narrowly construed and does not include reporting or gathering news, reporting or gathering information to assist citizen oversight or understanding of the operation or activities of government, or nonprofit educational research.

(8) A public office or person responsible for public records is not required to permit a person who is incarcerated pursuant to a criminal conviction or a juvenile adjudication to inspect or to obtain a copy of any public record concerning a criminal investigation or prosecution or concerning what would be a criminal investigation or prosecution if the subject of the investigation or prosecution were an adult, unless the request to inspect or to obtain a copy of the record is for the purpose of acquiring information that is subject to release as a public record under this section and the judge who imposed the sentence or made the adjudication with respect to the person, or the judge's successor in office, finds that the information sought in the public record is necessary to support what appears to be a justiciable claim of the person.

(9) (a) Upon written request made and signed by a journalist on or after December 16, 1999, a public office, or person responsible for public records, having custody of the records of the agency employing a specified peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer shall disclose to the journalist the address of the actual personal residence of the peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, community-based correctional facility employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer and, if the peace officer's, parole officer's, probation officer's, bailiff's, prosecuting attorney's, assistant prosecuting attorney's, correctional employee's, community-based correctional facility employee's, youth service's employee's, firefighter's, EMT's, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation's, or federal law enforcement officer's spouse, former spouse, or child is employed by a public office, the name and address of the employer of the peace officer's, parole officer's, probation officer's, bailiff's, prosecuting attorney's, assistant prosecuting attorney's, correctional employee's, community-based correctional facility employee's, youth services employee's, firefighter's, EMT's, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation's, or federal law enforcement officer's spouse, former spouse, or child. The request shall include the journalist's name and title and the name and address of the journalist's employer and shall state that disclosure of the information sought would be in the public interest.

(b) Division (B)(9)(a) of this section also applies to journalist requests for customer information maintained by a municipally owned or operated public utility, other than social security numbers and any private financial information such as credit reports, payment methods, credit card numbers, and bank account information.

(c) As used in division (B)(9) of this section, "journalist" means a person engaged in, connected with, or employed by any news medium, including a newspaper, magazine, press association, news agency, or wire service, a radio or television station, or a similar medium, for the purpose of gathering, processing, transmitting, compiling, editing, or disseminating information for the general public.

(C) (1) If a person allegedly is aggrieved by the failure of a public office or the person responsible for public records to promptly prepare a public record and to make it available to the person for inspection in accordance with division (B) of this section or by any other failure of a public office or the person responsible for public records to comply with an obligation in accordance with division (B) of this section, the person allegedly aggrieved may do only one of the following , and not both:

(a) File a complaint with the clerk of the court of claims or the clerk of the court of common pleas under section 2743.75 of the Revised Code;

(b) Commence a mandamus action to obtain a judgment that orders the public office or the person responsible for the public record to comply with division (B) of this section, that awards court costs and reasonable attorney's fees to the person that instituted the mandamus action, and, if applicable, that includes an order fixing statutory damages under division (C)(2) of this section. The mandamus action may be commenced in the court of common pleas of the county in which division (B) of this section allegedly was not complied with, in the supreme court pursuant to its original jurisdiction under Section 2 of Article IV, Ohio Constitution, or in the court of appeals for the appellate district in which division (B) of this section allegedly was not complied with pursuant to its original jurisdiction under Section 3 of Article IV, Ohio Constitution.

(2) If a requestor transmits a written request by hand delivery or certified mail to inspect or receive copies of any public record in a manner that fairly describes the public record or class of public records to the public office or person responsible for the requested public records, except as otherwise provided in this section, the requester shall be entitled to recover the amount of statutory damages set forth in this division if a court determines that the public office or the person responsible for public records failed to comply with an obligation in accordance with division (B) of this section.

The amount of statutory damages shall be fixed at one hundred dollars for each business day during which the public office or person responsible for the requested public records failed to comply with an obligation in accordance with division (B) of this section, beginning with the day on which the requester files a mandamus action to recover statutory damages, up to a maximum of one thousand dollars. The award of statutory damages shall not be construed as a penalty, but as compensation for injury arising from lost use of the requested information. The existence of this injury shall be conclusively presumed. The award of statutory damages shall be in addition to all other remedies authorized by this section.

The court may reduce an award of statutory damages or not award statutory damages if the court determines both of the following:

(a) That, based on the ordinary application of statutory law and case law as it existed at the time of the conduct or threatened conduct of the public office or person responsible for the requested public records that allegedly constitutes a failure to comply with an obligation in accordance with division (B) of this section and that was the basis of the mandamus action, a well-informed public office or person responsible for the requested public records reasonably would believe that the conduct or threatened conduct of the public office or person responsible for the requested public records did not constitute a failure to comply with an obligation in accordance with division (B) of this section;

(b) That a well-informed public office or person responsible for the public records reasonably would believe that the conduct or threatened conduct of the public office or person responsible for the requested public records would serve the public policy that underlies the authority that is asserted as permitting that conduct or threatened conduct.

(3) In a mandamus action filed under division (C)(1) of this section, the following apply:

(a) (i) If the court orders the public office or the person responsible for the public record to comply with division (B) of this section, the court shall determine and award to the relator all court costs, which shall be construed as remedial and not punitive.

(ii) If the court makes a determination described in division (C)(3)(b)(iii) of this section, the court shall determine and award to the relator all court costs, which shall be construed as remedial and not punitive.

(b) If the court renders a judgment that orders the public office or the person responsible for the public record to comply with division (B) of this section or if the court determines any of the following, the court may award reasonable attorney's fees to the relator, subject to the provisions of division (C)(4) of this section:

APPENDIX A

- (i) The public office or the person responsible for the public records failed to respond affirmatively or negatively to the public records request in accordance with the time allowed under division (B) of this section.
 - (ii) The public office or the person responsible for the public records promised to permit the relator to inspect or receive copies of the public records requested within a specified period of time but failed to fulfill that promise within that specified period of time.
 - (iii) The public office or the person responsible for the public records acted in bad faith when the office or person voluntarily made the public records available to the relator for the first time after the relator commenced the mandamus action, but before the court issued any order concluding whether or not the public office or person was required to comply with division (B) of this section. No discovery may be conducted on the issue of the alleged bad faith of the public office or person responsible for the public records. This division shall not be construed as creating a presumption that the public office or the person responsible for the public records acted in bad faith when the office or person voluntarily made the public records available to the relator for the first time after the relator commenced the mandamus action, but before the court issued any order described in this division.
- (c) The court shall not award attorney's fees to the relator if the court determines both of the following:
- (i) That, based on the ordinary application of statutory law and case law as it existed at the time of the conduct or threatened conduct of the public office or person responsible for the requested public records that allegedly constitutes a failure to comply with an obligation in accordance with division (B) of this section and that was the basis of the mandamus action, a well-informed public office or person responsible for the requested public records reasonably would believe that the conduct or threatened conduct of the public office or person responsible for the requested public records did not constitute a failure to comply with an obligation in accordance with division (B) of this section;
 - (ii) That a well-informed public office or person responsible for the requested public records reasonably would believe that the conduct or threatened conduct of the public office or person responsible for the requested public records would serve the public policy that underlies the authority that is asserted as permitting that conduct or threatened conduct.
- (4) All of the following apply to any award of reasonable attorney's fees awarded under division (C)(3)(b) of this section:
- (a) The fees shall be construed as remedial and not punitive.
 - (b) The fees awarded shall not exceed the total of the reasonable attorney's fees incurred before the public record was made available to the relator and the fees described in division (C)(4)(c) of this section.

APPENDIX A

(c) Reasonable attorney's fees shall include reasonable fees incurred to produce proof of the reasonableness and amount of the fees and to otherwise litigate entitlement to the fees.

(d) The court may reduce the amount of fees awarded if the court determines that, given the factual circumstances involved with the specific public records request, an alternative means should have been pursued to more effectively and efficiently resolve the dispute that was subject to the mandamus action filed under division (C)(1) of this section.

(5) If the court does not issue a writ of mandamus under division (C) of this section and the court determines at that time that the bringing of the mandamus action was frivolous conduct as defined in division (A) of section 2323.51 of the Revised Code, the court may award to the public office all court costs, expenses, and reasonable attorney's fees, as determined by the court.

(D) Chapter 1347 of the Revised Code does not limit the provisions of this section.

(E) (1) To ensure that all employees of public offices are appropriately educated about a public office's obligations under division (B) of this section, all elected officials or their appropriate designees shall attend training approved by the attorney general as provided in section 109.43 of the Revised Code. In addition, all public offices shall adopt a public records policy in compliance with this section for responding to public records requests. In adopting a public records policy under this division, a public office may obtain guidance from the model public records policy developed and provided to the public office by the attorney general under section 109.43 of the Revised Code. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the policy may not limit the number of public records that the public office will make available to a single person, may not limit the number of public records that it will make available during a fixed period of time, and may not establish a fixed period of time before it will respond to a request for inspection or copying of public records, unless that period is less than eight hours.

(2) The public office shall distribute the public records policy adopted by the public office under division (E)(1) of this section to the employee of the public office who is the records custodian or records manager or otherwise has custody of the records of that office. The public office shall require that employee to acknowledge receipt of the copy of the public records policy. The public office shall create a poster that describes its public records policy and shall post the poster in a conspicuous place in the public office and in all locations where the public office has branch offices. The public office may post its public records policy on the internet web site of the public office if the public office maintains an internet web site. A public office that has established a manual or handbook of its general policies and procedures for all employees of the public office shall include the public records policy of the public office in the manual or handbook.

(F) (1) The bureau of motor vehicles may adopt rules pursuant to Chapter 119. of the Revised Code to reasonably limit the number of bulk commercial special extraction requests made by a person for the same records or for updated records during a calendar year. The rules may include provisions for charges to be made for bulk, commercial special extraction requests for the actual cost of the bureau, plus special extraction costs, plus ten per cent. The bureau may charge for expenses redacting information, the release of which is prohibited by law.

APPENDIX A

(2) As used in division (F)(1) of this section:

(a) “Actual cost” means the cost of depleted supplies, records storage media costs, actual mailing and alternative delivery costs, or other transmitting costs, and any direct equipment operating and maintenance costs, including actual costs paid to private contractors for copying services.

(b) “Bulk commercial special extraction request” means a request for copies of a record for information in a format other than the format already available, or information that cannot be extracted without examination of all items in a records series, class of records, or database by a person who intends to use or forward the copies for surveys, marketing, solicitation, or resale for commercial purposes. “Bulk commercial special extraction request” does not include a request by a person who gives assurance to the bureau that the person making the request does not intend to use or forward the requested copies for surveys, marketing, solicitation, or resale for commercial purposes.

(c) “Commercial” means profit-seeking production, buying, or selling of any good, service, or other product.

(d) “Special extraction costs” means the cost of the time spent by the lowest paid employee competent to perform the task, the actual amount paid to outside private contractors employed by the bureau, or the actual cost incurred to create computer programs to make the special extraction. “Special extraction costs” include any charges paid to a public agency for computer or records services.

(3) For purposes of divisions (F)(1) and (2) of this section, “surveys, marketing, solicitation, or resale for commercial purposes” shall be narrowly construed and does not include reporting or gathering news, reporting or gathering information to assist citizen oversight or understanding of the operation or activities of government, or nonprofit educational research.

(G) A request by a defendant, counsel of a defendant, or any agent of a defendant in a criminal action that public records related to that action be made available under this section shall be considered a demand for discovery pursuant to the Criminal Rules, except to the extent that the Criminal Rules plainly indicate a contrary intent. The defendant, counsel of the defendant, or agent of the defendant making a request under this division shall serve a copy of the request on the prosecuting attorney, director of law, or other chief legal officer responsible for prosecuting the action.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.431 – Records of governmental or nonprofit organizations receiving governmental funds

(A) Except as provided in sections 9.833 and 2744.081 of the Revised Code, any governmental entity or agency and any nonprofit corporation or association, except a corporation organized pursuant to Chapter 1719 of the Revised Code prior to January 1, 1980 or organized pursuant to Chapter 3941. of the Revised Code, that enters into a contract or other agreement with the federal government, a unit of state government, or a political subdivision or taxing unit of this state for the provision of services shall keep accurate and complete financial records of any moneys expended in relation to the performance of the services pursuant to such contract or agreement according to generally accepted accounting principles. Such contract or agreement and such financial records shall be deemed to be public records as defined in division (A)(1) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code and are subject to the requirements of division (B) of that section, except that:

(1) Any information directly or indirectly identifying a present or former individual patient or client or such an individual patient's or client's diagnosis, prognosis, or medical treatment, treatment for a mental or emotional disorder, treatment for a developmental disability, treatment for drug abuse or alcoholism, or counseling for personal or social problems is not a public record;

(2) If disclosure of the contract or agreement or financial records is requested at a time when confidential professional services are being provided to a patient or client whose confidentiality might be violated if disclosure were made at that time, disclosure may be deferred if reasonable times are established when the contractor agreement or financial records will be disclosed;

(3) Any nonprofit corporation or association that receives both public and private funds in fulfillment of any such contract or other agreement is not required to keep as public records the financial records of any private funds expended in relation to the performance of services pursuant to the contract or agreement.

(B) Any nonprofit corporation or association that receives more than fifty per cent of its gross receipts excluding moneys received pursuant to Title XVIII of the "Social Security Act," 49 Stat. 620 (1935), 42 U.S.C. 301, as amended, in a calendar year in fulfillment of a contract or other agreement for services with a governmental entity shall maintain information setting forth the compensation of any individual serving the nonprofit corporation or association in an executive or administrative capacity. Such information shall be deemed to be public records as defined in division (A)(1) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code and is subject to the requirements of division (B) of that section.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to otherwise limit the provisions of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.432 – Releasing library record or patron information

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Library" means a library that is open to the public, including any of the following:

(a) A library that is maintained and regulated under section 715.13 of the Revised Code;

APPENDIX A

(b) A library that is created, maintained, and regulated under Chapter 3375. of the Revised Code;

(c) A library that is created and maintained by a public or private school, college, university, or other educational institution;

(d) A library that is created and maintained by a historical or charitable organization, institution, association, or society.

“Library” includes the members of the governing body and the employees of a library.

(2) “Library record” means a record in any form that is maintained by a library and that contains any of the following types of information:

(a) Information that the library requires an individual to provide in order to be eligible to use library services or borrow materials;

(b) Information that identifies an individual as having requested or obtained specific materials or materials on a particular subject;

(c) Information that is provided by an individual to assist a library staff member to answer a specific question or provide information on a particular subject.

“Library record” does not include information that does not identify any individual and that is retained for the purpose of studying or evaluating the use of a library and its materials and services.

(3) Subject to division (B)(5) of this section, “patron information” means personally identifiable information about an individual who has used any library service or borrowed any library materials.

(B) A library shall not release any library record or disclose any patron information except in the following situations:

(1) If a library record or patron information pertaining to a minor child is requested from a library by the minor child’s parent, guardian, or custodian, the library shall make that record or information available to the parent, guardian, or custodian in accordance with division (B) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

(2) Library records or patron information shall be released in the following situations:

(a) In accordance with a subpoena, search warrant, or other court order;

(b) To a law enforcement officer who is acting in the scope of the officer’s law enforcement duties and who is investigating a matter involving public safety in exigent circumstances.

(3) A library record or patron information shall be released upon the request or with the consent of the individual who is the subject of the record or information.

APPENDIX A

(4) Library records may be released for administrative library purposes, including establishment or maintenance of a system to manage the library records or to assist in the transfer of library records from one records management system to another, compilation of statistical data on library use, and collection of fines and penalties.

(5) A library may release under division (B) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code records that document improper use of the internet at the library so long as any patron information is removed from those records. As used in division (B)(5) of this section, “patron information” does not include information about the age or gender of an individual.

Ohio Revised Code 149.433 – Exempting security and infrastructure records

(A) As used in this section:

“Act of terrorism” has the same meaning as in section 2909.21 of the Revised Code.

“Infrastructure record” means any record that discloses the configuration of critical systems including, but not limited to, communication, computer, electrical, mechanical, ventilation, water, and plumbing systems, security codes, or the infrastructure or structural configuration of the building.

“Infrastructure record” includes a risk assessment of infrastructure performed by a state or local law enforcement agency at the request of a property owner or manager.

“Infrastructure record” does not mean a simple floor plan that discloses only the spatial relationship of components of the building.

“Security record” means any of the following:

(1) Any record that contains information directly used for protecting or maintaining the security of a public office against attack, interference, or sabotage;

(2) Any record assembled, prepared, or maintained by a public office or public body to prevent, mitigate or respond to acts of terrorism, including any of the following:

(a) Those portions of records containing specific and unique vulnerability assessments or specific and unique response plans either of which is intended to prevent or mitigate acts of terrorism, and communication codes or deployment plans of law enforcement or emergency response personnel;

(b) Specific intelligence information and specific investigative records shared by federal and international law enforcement agencies with state and local law enforcement and public safety agencies;

APPENDIX A

(c) National security records classified under federal executive order and not subject to public disclosure under federal law that are shared by federal agencies, and other records related to national security briefings to assist state and local government with domestic preparedness for acts of terrorism.

(3) An emergency management plan adopted pursuant to section 3313.536 of the Revised Code.

(B) (1) A record kept by a public office that is a security record is not a public record under section 149.43 of the Revised Code and is not subject to mandatory release or disclosure under that section.

(2) A record kept by a public office that is an infrastructure record of a public office or a chartered nonpublic school is not a public record under section 149.43 of the Revised Code and is not subject to mandatory release or disclosure under that section.

(3) A record kept by a public office that is an infrastructure record of a private entity may be exempted from release or disclosure under division (C) of this section.

(C) A record prepared by, submitted to, or kept by a public office that is an infrastructure record of a private entity, which is submitted to the public office for use by the public office, when accompanied by an express statement, is exempt from release or disclosure under section 149.43 of the Revised Code for a period of twenty-five years after its creation if it is retained by the public office for that length of time.

(D) Notwithstanding any other section of the Revised Code, disclosure by a public office, public employee, chartered nonpublic school, or chartered nonpublic school employee of a security record or infrastructure record that is necessary for construction, renovation, or remodeling work on any public building or project or chartered nonpublic school does not constitute public disclosure for purposes of waiving division (B) of this section and does not result in that record becoming a public record for purposes of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.435 – Confidentiality of records regarding abused children

(A) As used in this section:

(1) “Abused child” has the same meaning as in section 2151.031 of the Revised Code.

(2) “Confidential law enforcement investigatory record” has the same meaning as in section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

(3) “Law enforcement agency” means a municipal or township police department, the office of a sheriff, the state highway patrol, federal law enforcement, a county prosecuting attorney, the office of the United States attorney, or a state or local government body that enforces criminal laws and that has employees who have a statutory power of arrest.

(4) “Prosecutor” has the same meaning as in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code.

(5) “Routine factual report” means a police blotter, arrest log, incident report, or other record of events maintained in paper, electronic, or other form by a law enforcement agency, other than a confidential law enforcement investigatory record.

(B) (1) Except as provided in division (C) of this section, a law enforcement agency or employee of a law enforcement agency shall not disclose a name or other information contained in a routine factual report that is highly likely to identify an alleged delinquent child or arrestee who is also an abused child and who is under eighteen years of age at the time the report is created. If the agency or employee does not know whether the alleged delinquent child or arrestee is an abused child, the agency or employee shall attempt to determine whether or not the alleged delinquent child or arrestee is an abused child and shall not disclose the name or other information before making the determination.

(2) No person to whom information described in division (B)(1) of this section is disclosed, and no employer of that person, shall further disclose that information except as provided in division (C) of this section.

(C) This section does not prohibit the disclosure of information described in division (B) of this section to any of the following:

(1) An employee of a law enforcement agency or a prosecutor for the purpose of investigating or prosecuting a crime or delinquent act;

APPENDIX A

(2) An employee of the department of youth services, a probation officer, a juvenile court judge, or an employee of a public children services agency or a county department of job and family services who is supervising the alleged delinquent child or arrestee who is also an abused child and who is under eighteen years of age;

(3) An employee of a law enforcement agency for use in the employee's defense of a civil or administrative action arising out of the employee's involvement in the case that gave rise to the civil or administrative action;

(4) An employee of the attorney general's office responsible for administering awards of reparations under section 2743.191 of the Revised Code;

(5) A parent, guardian, or custodian of the alleged delinquent child or arrestee who is also an abused child and who is under eighteen years of age or an attorney for such a parent, guardian, or custodian;

(6) Any other person pursuant to a court order.

Ohio Revised Code § 121.22 – Public meetings - exceptions

(A) This section shall be liberally construed to require public officials to take official action and to conduct all deliberations upon official business only in open meetings unless the subject matter is specifically excepted by law.

(B) As used in this section:

(1) "Public body" means any of the following:

APPENDIX A

(a) Any board, commission, committee, council, or similar decision-making body of a state agency, institution, or authority, and any legislative authority or board, commission, committee, council, agency, authority, or similar decision-making body of any county, township, municipal corporation, school district, or other political subdivision or local public institution;

(b) Any committee or subcommittee of a body described in division (B)(1)(a) of this section;

(c) A court of jurisdiction of a sanitary district organized wholly for the purpose of providing a water supply for domestic, municipal, and public use when meeting for the purpose of the appointment, removal, or reappointment of a member of the board of directors of such a district pursuant to section 6115.10 of the Revised Code, if applicable, or for any other matter related to such a district other than litigation involving the district. As used in division (B)(1)(c) of this section, “court of jurisdiction” has the same meaning as “court” in section 6115.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) “Meeting” means any prearranged discussion of the public business of the public body by a majority of its members.

(3) “Regulated individual” means either of the following:

(a) A student in a state or local public educational institution;

(b) A person who is, voluntarily or involuntarily, an inmate, patient, or resident of a state or local institution because of criminal behavior, mental illness, an intellectual disability, disease, disability, age, or other condition requiring custodial care.

(4) “Public office” has the same meaning as in section 149.011 of the Revised Code.

(C) All meetings of any public body are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times. A member of a public body shall be present in person at a meeting open to the public to be considered present or to vote at the meeting and for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present at the meeting.

The minutes of a regular or special meeting of any public body shall be promptly prepared, filed, and maintained and shall be open to public inspection. The minutes need only reflect the general subject matter of discussions in executive sessions authorized under division (G) or (J) of this section.

(D) This section does not apply to any of the following:

(1) A grand jury;

(2) An audit conference conducted by the auditor of state or independent certified public accountants with officials of the public office that is the subject of the audit;

(3) The adult parole authority when its hearings are conducted at a correctional institution for the sole purpose of interviewing inmates to determine parole or pardon;

APPENDIX A

(4) The organized crime investigations commission established under section 177.01 of the Revised Code;

(5) Meetings of a child fatality review board established under section 307.621 of the Revised Code, meetings related to a review conducted pursuant to guidelines established by the director of health under section 3701.70 of the Revised Code, and meetings conducted pursuant to sections 5153.171 to 5153.173 of the Revised Code;

(6) The state medical board when determining whether to suspend a certificate without a prior hearing pursuant to division (G) of either section 4730.25 or 4731.22 of the Revised Code;

(7) The board of nursing when determining whether to suspend a license or certificate without a prior hearing pursuant to division (B) of section 4723.281 of the Revised Code;

(8) The state board of pharmacy when determining whether to suspend a license without a prior hearing pursuant to division (D) of section 4729.16 of the Revised Code;

(9) The state chiropractic board when determining whether to suspend a license without a hearing pursuant to section 4734.37 of the Revised Code;

(10) The executive committee of the emergency response commission when determining whether to issue an enforcement order or request that a civil action, civil penalty action, or criminal action be brought to enforce Chapter 3750. of the Revised Code;

(11) The board of directors of the nonprofit corporation formed under section 187.01 of the Revised Code or any committee thereof, and the board of directors of any subsidiary of that corporation or a committee thereof;

(12) An audit conference conducted by the audit staff of the department of job and family services with officials of the public office that is the subject of that audit under section 5101.37 of the Revised Code;

(13) The occupational therapy section of the occupational therapy, physical therapy, and athletic trainers board when determining whether to suspend a license or limited permit without a hearing pursuant to division (D) of section 4755.11 of the Revised Code;

(14) The physical therapy section of the occupational therapy, physical therapy, and athletic trainers board when determining whether to suspend a license without a hearing pursuant to division (E) of section 4755.47 of the Revised Code;

(15) The athletic trainers section of the occupational therapy, physical therapy, and athletic trainers board when determining whether to suspend a license without a hearing pursuant to division (D) of section 4755.64 of the Revised Code.

(E) The controlling board, the tax credit authority, or the minority development financing advisory board, when meeting to consider granting assistance pursuant to Chapter 122 or 166 of the Revised

APPENDIX A

Code, in order to protect the interest of the applicant or the possible investment of public funds, by unanimous vote of all board or authority members present, may close the meeting during consideration of the following information confidentially received by the authority or board from the applicant:

- (1) Marketing plans;
- (2) Specific business strategy;
- (3) Production techniques and trade secrets;
- (4) Financial projections;
- (5) Personal financial statements of the applicant or members of the applicant's immediate family, including, but not limited to, tax records or other similar information not open to public inspection.

The vote by the authority or board to accept or reject the application, as well as all proceedings of the authority or board not subject to this division, shall be open to the public and governed by this section.

(F) Every public body, by rule, shall establish a reasonable method whereby any person may determine the time and place of all regularly scheduled meetings and the time, place, and purpose of all special meetings. A public body shall not hold a special meeting unless it gives at least twenty-four hours' advance notice to the news media that have requested notification, except in the event of an emergency requiring immediate official action. In the event of an emergency, the member or members calling the meeting shall notify the news media that have requested notification immediately of the time, place, and purpose of the meeting.

The rule shall provide that any person, upon request and payment of a reasonable fee, may obtain reasonable advance notification of all meetings at which any specific type of public business is to be discussed. Provisions for advance notification may include, but are not limited to, mailing the agenda of meetings to all subscribers on a mailing list or mailing notices in self-addressed, stamped envelopes provided by the person.

(G) Except as provided in divisions (G)(8) and (J) of this section, the members of a public body may hold an executive session only after a majority of a quorum of the public body determines, by a roll call vote, to hold an executive session and only at a regular or special meeting for the sole purpose of the consideration of any of the following matters:

- (1) To consider the appointment, employment, dismissal, discipline, promotion, demotion, or compensation of a public employee or official, or the investigation of charges or complaints against a public employee, official, licensee, or regulated individual, unless the public employee, official, licensee, or regulated individual requests a public hearing. Except as otherwise provided by law, no public body shall hold an executive session for the discipline of an elected official for conduct related to the performance of the elected official's official duties or for the elected official's removal from office. If a public body holds an executive session pursuant to division (G)(1) of this section, the motion and vote to hold that executive session shall state which one or more of the approved purposes listed in division (G)(1) of this section are the purposes for which the executive session is to be held, but need not include the name of any person to be considered at the meeting.

(2) To consider the purchase of property for public purposes, or for the sale of property at competitive bidding, or the sale or other disposition of unneeded, obsolete, or unfit-for-use property in accordance with section 505.10 of the Revised Code, if premature disclosure of information would give an unfair competitive or bargaining advantage to a person whose personal, private interest is adverse to the general public interest. No member of a public body shall use division (G)(2) of this section as a subterfuge for providing covert information to prospective buyers or sellers. A purchase or sale of public property is void if the seller or buyer of the public property has received covert information from a member of a public body that has not been disclosed to the general public in sufficient time for other prospective buyers and sellers to prepare and submit offers.

If the minutes of the public body show that all meetings and deliberations of the public body have been conducted in compliance with this section, any instrument executed by the public body purporting to convey, lease, or otherwise dispose of any right, title, or interest in any public property shall be conclusively presumed to have been executed in compliance with this section insofar as title or other interest of any bona fide purchasers, lessees, or transferees of the property is concerned.

(3) Conferences with an attorney for the public body concerning disputes involving the public body that are the subject of pending or imminent court action;

(4) Preparing for, conducting, or reviewing negotiations or bargaining sessions with public employees concerning their compensation or other terms and conditions of their employment;

(5) Matters required to be kept confidential by federal law or regulations or state statutes;

(6) Details relative to the security arrangements and emergency response protocols for a public body or a public office, if disclosure of the matters discussed could reasonably be expected to jeopardize the security of the public body or public office;

(7) In the case of a county hospital operated pursuant to Chapter 339. of the Revised Code, a joint township hospital operated pursuant to Chapter 513. of the Revised Code, or a municipal hospital operated pursuant to Chapter 749. of the Revised Code, to consider trade secrets, as defined in section 1333.62 of the Revised Code;

(8) To consider confidential information related to the marketing plans, specific business strategy, production techniques, trade secrets, or personal financial statements of an applicant for economic development assistance, or to negotiations with other political subdivisions respecting requests for economic development assistance, provided that both of the following conditions apply:

(a) The information is directly related to a request for economic development assistance that is to be provided or administered under any provision of Chapter 715, 725, 1724 or 1728 or sections 701.07, 3735.67 to 3735.70, 5709.40 to 5709.43, 5709.61 to 5709.69, 5709.73 to

5709.75, or 5709.77 to 5709.81 of the Revised Code, or that involves public infrastructure improvements or the extension of utility services that are directly related to an economic development project.

(b) A unanimous quorum of the public body determines, by a roll call vote, that the executive session is necessary to protect the interests of the applicant or the possible investment or expenditure of public funds to be made in connection with the economic development project.

If a public body holds an executive session to consider any of the matters listed in divisions (G)(2) to (8) of this section, the motion and vote to hold that executive session shall state which one or more of the approved matters listed in those divisions are to be considered at the executive session.

A public body specified in division (B)(1)(c) of this section shall not hold an executive session when meeting for the purposes specified in that division.

(H) A resolution, rule, or formal action of any kind is invalid unless adopted in an open meeting of the public body. A resolution, rule, or formal action adopted in an open meeting that results from deliberations in a meeting not open to the public is invalid unless the deliberations were for a purpose specifically authorized in division (G) or (J) of this section and conducted at an executive session held in compliance with this section. A resolution, rule, or formal action adopted in an open meeting is invalid if the public body that adopted the resolution, rule, or formal action violated division (F) of this section.

(I) (1) Any person may bring an action to enforce this section. An action under division (I)(1) of this section shall be brought within two years after the date of the alleged violation or threatened violation. Upon proof of a violation or threatened violation of this section in an action brought by any person, the court of common pleas shall issue an injunction to compel the members of the public body to comply with its provisions.

(2) (a) If the court of common pleas issues an injunction pursuant to division (I)(1) of this section, the court shall order the public body that it enjoins to pay a civil forfeiture of five hundred dollars to the party that sought the injunction and shall award to that party all court costs and, subject to reduction as described in division (I)(2) of this section, reasonable attorney's fees. The court, in its discretion, may reduce an award of attorney's fees to the party that sought the injunction or not award attorney's fees to that party if the court determines both of the following:

(i) That, based on the ordinary application of statutory law and case law as it existed at the time of violation or threatened violation that was the basis of the injunction, a well-informed public body reasonably would believe that the public body was not violating or threatening to violate this section;

(ii) That a well-informed public body reasonably would believe that the conduct or threatened conduct that was the basis of the injunction would serve the public policy that underlies the authority that is asserted as permitting that conduct or threatened conduct.

APPENDIX A

(b) If the court of common pleas does not issue an injunction pursuant to division (I)(1) of this section and the court determines at that time that the bringing of the action was frivolous conduct, as defined in division (A) of section 2323.51 of the Revised Code, the court shall award to the public body all court costs and reasonable attorney's fees, as determined by the court.

(3) Irreparable harm and prejudice to the party that sought the injunction shall be conclusively and irrebuttably presumed upon proof of a violation or threatened violation of this section.

(4) A member of a public body who knowingly violates an injunction issued pursuant to division (I)(1) of this section may be removed from office by an action brought in the court of common pleas for that purpose by the prosecuting attorney or the attorney general.

(J) (1) Pursuant to division (C) of section 5901.09 of the Revised Code, a veterans service commission shall hold an executive session for one or more of the following purposes unless an applicant requests a public hearing:

(a) Interviewing an applicant for financial assistance under sections 5901.01 to 5901.15 of the Revised Code;

(b) Discussing applications, statements, and other documents described in division (B) of section 5901.09 of the Revised Code;

(c) Reviewing matters relating to an applicant's request for financial assistance under sections 5901.01 to 5901.15 of the Revised Code.

(2) A veterans service commission shall not exclude an applicant for, recipient of, or former recipient of financial assistance under sections 5901.01 to 5901.15 of the Revised Code, and shall not exclude representatives selected by the applicant, recipient, or former recipient, from a meeting that the commission conducts as an executive session that pertains to the applicant's, recipient's, or former recipient's application for financial assistance.

(3) A veterans service commission shall vote on the grant or denial of financial assistance under sections 5901.01 to 5901.15 of the Revised Code only in an open meeting of the commission. The minutes of the meeting shall indicate the name, address, and occupation of the applicant, whether the assistance was granted or denied, the amount of the assistance if assistance is granted, and the votes for and against the granting of assistance.

Ohio Revised Code § 149.45 – Internet access to social security numbers

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Personal information" means any of the following:

APPENDIX A

- (a) An individual's social security number;
 - (b) An individual's state or federal tax identification number;
 - (c) An individual's driver's license number or state identification number;
 - (d) An individual's checking account number, savings account number, credit card number, or debit card number;
 - (e) An individual's demand deposit account number, money market account number, mutual fund account number, or any other financial or medical account number.
- (2) "Public record" and "peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer residential and familial information" have the same meanings as in section 149.43 of the Revised Code.
- (3) "Truncate" means to redact all but the last four digits of an individual's social security number.
- (B) (1) No public office or person responsible for a public office's public records shall make available to the general public on the internet any document that contains an individual's social security number without otherwise redacting, encrypting, or truncating the social security number.
- (2) A public office or person responsible for a public office's public records that prior to October 17, 2011, made available to the general public on the internet any document that contains an individual's social security number shall redact, encrypt, or truncate the social security number from that document.
- (3) Divisions (B)(1) and (2) of this section do not apply to the documents that are only accessible through the internet with a password.
- (C) (1) An individual may request that a public office or a person responsible for a public office's public records redact personal information of that individual from any record made available to the general public on the internet. An individual who makes a request for redaction pursuant to this division shall make the request in writing on a form developed by the attorney general and shall specify the person information to be redacted and provide any information that identifies the location of that person information within a document that contains that person information.
- (2) Upon receiving a request for a redaction pursuant to division (C)(1) of this section, a public office or a person responsible for a public office's public records shall act within five business days in accordance with the request to redact the personal information of the individual from any record made available to the general public on the internet, if practicable. If a redaction is not practicable, the public office or person responsible for the public office's public records shall verbally or in writing within five business days after receiving the written request explain to the individual why the redaction is impracticable.

APPENDIX A

(3) The attorney general shall develop a form to be used by an individual to request a redaction pursuant to division (C)(1) of this section. The form shall include a place to provide any information that identifies the location of the person information to be redacted.

(D) (1) A peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, of federal law enforcement officer may request that a public office other than a county auditor or a person responsible for the public records of a public office other than a county auditor redact the address of the person making the request from any record made available to the general public on the internet that includes peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer residential and familial information of the person making the request. A person who makes a request for a redaction pursuant to this division shall make the request in writing and on a form developed by the attorney general.

(2) Upon receiving a written request for a redaction pursuant to division (D)(1) of this section, a public office other than a county auditor or a person responsible for the public records of a public office other than a county auditor shall act within five business days in accordance with the request to redact the address of the peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer making the request from any record made available to the general public on the internet that includes peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer residential and familial information of the person making the request, if practicable. If a redaction is not practicable, the public office or person responsible for the public office's public records shall verbally or in writing within five business days after receiving the written request explain to the peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer why the redaction is impracticable.

(3) Except as provided in this section and section 319.28 of the Revised Code, a public office other than an employer of a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or a federal law enforcement officer or a person responsible for the public records of the employer is not required to redact the residential and familial information of the peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer from other records maintained by the public office.

APPENDIX A

(4) The attorney general shall develop a form to be used by a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer to request a redaction pursuant to division (D)(1) of this section. The form shall include a place to provide any information that identifies the location of the address of a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer to be redacted.

(E) (1) If a public office or person responsible for a public office's public records becomes aware that an electronic record of that public office that is made available to the general public on the internet contains an individual's social security number that was mistakenly not redacted, encrypted, or truncated as required by division (B)(1) or (2) of this section, the public office or person responsible for the public office's public records shall redact, encrypt, or truncate the individual's social security number within a reasonable period of time.

(2) A public office or a person responsible for a public office's public records is not liable in damages in a civil action for any harm an individual allegedly sustains as a result of the inclusion of that individual's personal information on any record made available to the general public on the internet or any harm a peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer sustains as a result of the inclusion of the address of the peace officer, parole officer, probation officer, bailiff, prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, correctional employee, youth services employee, firefighter, EMT, investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, or federal law enforcement officer on any record made available to the general public on the internet in violation of this section unless the public office or person responsible for the public office's public records acted with malicious purpose, in bad faith, or in a wanton or reckless manner or division (A)(6)(a) or (c) of section 2744.03 of the Revised Code applies.

Ohio Revised Code § 319.28 – General tax list and general duplicate of real and public utility property compiled – parcel numbering system

(A) Except as otherwise provided in division (B) of this section, on or before the first Monday of August, annually, the county auditor shall compile and make up a general tax list of real and public utility property in the county, either in tabular form and alphabetical order, or, with the consent of the county treasurer, by listing all parcel in a permanent parcel number sequence to which a separate alphabetical index is keyed, containing the names of the several persons, companies, firms, partnerships, associations, and corporations in whose names real property has been listed in each township, municipal corporation, special district, or separate school district, or part of either in the auditor's county, placing separately, in appropriate columns opposite each name, the description of each tract, lot, or parcel of real estate, the value of each tract, lot, or parcel, the value of the improvements thereon, and of the names of the several public utilities whose property, subject to taxation on the general tax list and duplicate, has been apportioned by the department of taxation to the county, and the amount so apportioned to each township, municipal corporation, special district, or separate school district or part of either in the auditor's county, as shown by the certificates of apportionment of public utility property. If the name of the owner of any tract, lot, or parcel of real estate is unknown to the auditor, "unknown" shall be entered in the column of names opposite said tract, lot, or parcel. Such lists shall be prepared in duplicate. On or before the first Monday of September in each year, the auditor shall correct such lists in accordance with the additions and deductions ordered by the tax commissioner and by the county board of revision, and shall certify and on the first day of October deliver one copy thereof to the county treasurer. The copies prepared by the auditor shall constitute the auditor's general tax list and treasurer's general duplicate of real and public utility property for the current year.

APPENDIX A

Once a permanent parcel numbering system has been established in any county as provided by the preceding paragraph, such system shall remain in effect until otherwise agreed upon by the county auditor and county treasurer.

(B) (1) A person whose residential and familial information is exempt from the definition of a public record under division (A)(l)(p) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code may submit a written request by affidavit to the county auditor requesting the county auditor to remove the name of the person from any record made available to the general public on the internet or a publicly accessible database and the general tax list of real and public utility property and the general duplicate of real and public utility property and insert the initials of the person on any record made available to the general public on the internet or a publicly accessible database and the general tax list of real and public utility property and the general duplicate of real and public utility property as the name of the person that appears on the deed.

(2) Upon receiving a written request by affidavit described in division (B)(1) of this section, the county auditor shall act within five business days in accordance with the request to remove the name of the person from any record made available to the general public on the internet or a publicly accessible database and the general tax list of real and public utility property and the general duplicate of real and public utility property and insert initials of the person on any record made available to the general public on the internet or a publicly accessible database and the general tax list of real and public utility property and the general duplicate of real and public utility property, if practicable. If the removal and insertion is not practicable, the county auditor shall verbally or in writing within five business days after receiving the written request explain to the person why the removal and insertion is impracticable.

APPENDIX A

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.01 – Personal information systems definitions

As used in this chapter, except as otherwise provided:

(A) “State agency” means the office of any elected state officer and any agency, board, commission, department, division, or educational institution of the state.

(B) “Local agency” means any municipal corporation, school district, special purpose district, or township of the state or any elected officer or board, bureau, commission, department, division, institution, or instrumentality of a county.

(C) “Special purpose district” means any geographic or political jurisdiction that is created by statute to perform a limited and specific function, and includes, but is not limited to, library districts, conservancy districts, metropolitan housing authorities, park districts, port authorities, regional airport authorities, regional transit authorities, regional water and sewer districts, sanitary districts, soil and water conservation districts, and regional planning agencies.

(D) “Maintains” means state or local agency ownership of, control over, responsibility for, or accountability for systems and includes, but is not limited to, state or local agency depositing or information with a data processing center for storage, processing, or dissemination. An agency “maintains” all systems of records that are required by law to be kept by the agency.

(E) “Personal information” means any information that describes anything about a person, or that indicates actions done by or to a person, or that indicates that a person possesses certain personal characteristics, and that contains, and can be retrieved from a system by, a name, identifying number, symbol, or other identifier assigned to a person.

(F) “System” means any collection or group of related records that are kept in an organized manner and that are maintained by a state or local agency, and from which personal information is retrieved by the name of the person or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifier assigned to the person. “System” includes both records that are manually stored and records that are stored using electronic data processing equipment. “System” does not include collected archival records in the custody of or administered under the authority of the Ohio history connection, published directories, reference materials or newsletters, or routine information that is maintained for the purpose of internal office administration, the use of which would not adversely affect a person.

(G) “Interconnection of systems” means a linking of systems that belong to more than one agency or to an agency and other organizations, which linking of systems results in a system that permits each agency or organization involved in the linking to have unrestricted access to the systems of the other agencies and organizations.

(H) “Combination of systems” means a unification of systems that belong to more than one agency, or to an agency and another organization, into a single system in which the records that belong to each agency or organization may or may not be obtainable by the others.

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.04 – Exemptions from chapter

(A) (1) Except as provided in division (A)(2) of this section or division (C)(2) of section 1347.08 of the Revised Code, the following are exempt from the provisions of this chapter:

(a) Any state or local agency, or part of a state or local agency, that performs as its principal function any activity relating to the enforcement of the criminal laws, including police efforts to prevent, control, or reduce crime or to apprehend criminals;

(b) The criminal courts;

(c) Prosecutors;

(d) Any state or local agency or part of any state or local agency that is a correction, probation, pardon, or parole authority;

(e) Personal information systems that are comprised of investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes by agencies that are not described in divisions (A)(1)(a) and (d) of this section.

(2) A part of a state or local agency that does not perform, as its principal function, an activity relating to the enforcement of the criminal laws is not exempt under this section.

(B) The provisions of this chapter shall not be construed to prohibit the release of public records, or the disclosure of personal information in public records, as defined in section 149.43 of the Revised Code, or to authorize a public body to hold an executive session for the discussion of personal information if the executive session is not authorized under division (G) of section 121.22 of the Revised Code.

The disclosure to members of the general public of personal information contained in a public record, as defined in section 149.43 of the Revised Code, is not an improper use of personal information under this chapter.

(C) The provisions of this chapter shall not be construed to prohibit, and do not prohibit, compliance with any order issued pursuant to division (D)(1) of section 2151.14 of the Revised Code, any request for records that is properly made pursuant to division (D)(3)(a) of section 2151.14 or division (A) of section 2151.141 of the Revised Code, or any determination that is made by a court pursuant to division (D)(3)(b) of section 2151.14 or division (B)(1) of section 2151.141 of the Revised Code.

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.05 – Duties of state and local agencies maintaining personal information systems

Every state or local agency that maintains a personal information system shall:

- (A) Appoint one individual to be directly responsible for the system;
- (B) Adopt and implement rules that provide for the operation of the system in accordance with the provisions of this chapter that, in the case of state agencies, apply to state agencies or, in the case of local agencies, apply to local agencies;
- (C) Inform each of its employees who has any responsibility for the operation or maintenance of the system, or for the use of personal information maintained in the system, of the applicable provisions of this chapter and of all rules adopted in accordance with this section;
- (D) Specify disciplinary measures to be applied to any employee who initiates or otherwise contributes to any disciplinary or other punitive action against any individual who brings to the attention of appropriate authorities, the press, or any member of the public, evidence of unauthorized use of information contained in the system;
- (E) Inform a person who is asked to supply personal information for a system whether the person is legally required to, or may refuse to, supply the information;
- (F) Develop procedures for purposes of monitoring the accuracy, relevance, timeliness, and completeness of the personal information in this system, and in accordance with the procedures, maintain the personal information in the system with the accuracy, relevance, timeliness, and completeness that is necessary to assure fairness in any determination made with respect to a person on the basis of the information;
- (G) Take reasonable precautions to protect personal information in the system from unauthorized modification, destruction, use, or disclosure;
- (H) Collect, maintain, and use only personal information that is necessary and relevant to the functions that the agency is required or authorized to perform by statute, ordinance, code, or rule, and eliminate personal information from the system when it is no longer necessary and relevant to those functions.

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.08 – Rights of persons who are subject of personal information

(A) Every state or local agency that maintains a personal information system, upon the request and the proper identification of any person who is the subject of personal information in the system, shall:

- (1) Inform the person of the existence of any personal information in the system of which the person is the subject;

APPENDIX A

(2) Except as provided in divisions (C) and (E)(2) of this section, permit the person, the person's legal guardian, or an attorney who presents a signed written authorization made by the person, to inspect all personal information in the system of which the person is the subject;

(3) Inform the person about the types of uses made of the person information, including the identity of any users usually granted access to the system.

(B) Any person who wishes to exercise a right provided by this section may be accompanied by another individual of the person's choice.

(C) (1) A state or local agency, upon request, shall disclose medical, psychiatric, or psychological information to a person who is the subject of the information or to the person's legal guardian, unless a physician, psychiatrist, or psychologist determines for the agency that the disclosure of the information is likely to have an adverse effect on the person, in which case the information shall be released to a physician, psychiatrist, or psychologist who is designated by the person or by the person's legal guardian.

(2) Upon the signed written request of either a licensed attorney at law or a licensed physician designated by the inmate, together with the signed written request of an inmate of a correctional institution under the administration of the department of rehabilitation and correction, the department shall disclose medical information to the designated attorney or physician as provided in division (C) of section 5120.21 of the Revised Code.

(D) If an individual who is authorized to inspect personal information that is maintained in a personal information system requests the state or local agency that maintains the system to provide a copy of any personal information that the individual is authorized to inspect, the agency shall provide a copy of the personal information to the individual. Each state and local agency may establish reasonable fees for the service of copying, upon request, personal information that is maintained by the agency.

(E) (1) This section regulates access to personal information that is maintained in a personal information system by persons who are the subject of the information, but does not limit the authority of any person, including a person who is the subject of personal information maintained in a personal information system, to inspect or have copied, pursuant to section 149.43 of the Revised Code, a public record as defined in that section.

(2) This section does not provide a person who is the subject of personal information maintained in a personal information system, the person's legal guardian, or any attorney authorized by the person, with a right to inspect or have copied, or require an agency that maintains a personal information system to permit the inspection of or to copy, a confidential law enforcement investigatory record or trial preparation record, as defined in divisions (A)(2) and (4) of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

(F) This section does not apply to any of the following:

(1) The contents of an adoption file maintained by the department of health under sections 3705.12 to 3705.124 of the Revised Code;

APPENDIX A

(2) Information contained in the putative father registry established by section 3107.062 of the Revised Code, regardless of whether the information is held by the department of job and family services or, pursuant to section 3111.69 of the Revised Code, the office of child support in the department or a child support enforcement agency;

(3) Papers, records, and books that pertain to an adoption and that are subject to inspection in accordance with section 3107.17 of the Revised Code;

(4) Records specified in division (A) of section 3107.52 of the Revised Code;

(5) Records that identify an individual described in division (A)(1) of section 3721.031 of the Revised Code, or that would tend to identify such an individual;

(6) Files and records that have been expunged under division (D)(1) or (2) of section 3721.23 of the Revised Code;

(7) Records that identify an individual described in division (A)(1) of section 3721.25 of the Revised Code, or that would tend to identify such an individual;

(8) Records that identify an individual described in division (A)(1) of section 5165.88 of the Revised Code, or that would tend to identify such an individual;

(9) Test materials, examinations, or evaluation tools used in an examination for licensure as a nursing home administrator that the board of executives of long-term services and supports administers under section 4751.04 of the Revised Code or contracts under that section with a private government entity to administer;

(10) Information contained in a database established and maintained pursuant to section 5101.13 of the Revised Code.

(11) Information contained in a database established and maintained pursuant to section 5101.612 of the Revised Code.

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.09 – Disputing information

(A) (1) If any person disputes the accuracy, relevance, timeliness, or completeness of personal information that pertains to him and that is maintained by any state or local agency in a personal information system, he may request the agency to investigate the current status of the information. The agency shall, within a reasonable time after, but not later than ninety days after, receiving the request from the disputant, make a reasonable investigation to determine whether the disputed information is accurate, relevant, timely, and complete, and shall notify the disputant of the results of the investigation and of the action that the agency plans to take with respect to the disputed information. The agency shall delete any information that it cannot verify or that it finds to be inaccurate.

(2) If after an agency's determination, the disputant is not satisfied, the agency shall do either of the following:

(a) Permit the disputant to include within the system a brief statement of his position on the disputed information. The agency may limit the statement to not more than one hundred words if the agency assists the disputant to write a clear summary of the dispute.

(b) Permit the disputant to include within the system a notation that the disputant protests that the information is inaccurate, irrelevant, outdated, or incomplete. The agency shall maintain a copy of the disputant's statement of the dispute. The agency may limit the statement to not more than one hundred words if the agency assists the disputant to write a clear summary of the dispute.

(3) The agency shall include the statement or notation in any subsequent transfer, report, or dissemination of the disputed information and may include with the statement or notation of the disputant a statement by the agency that it has reasonable grounds to believe that the dispute is frivolous or irrelevant, and of the reasons for its belief.

(B) The presence of contradictory information in the disputant's file does not alone constitute reasonable grounds to believe that the dispute is frivolous or irrelevant.

(C) Following any deletion of information that is found to be inaccurate or the accuracy of which can no longer be verified, or if a statement of dispute was filed by the disputant, the agency shall, at the written request of the disputant, furnish notification that the information has been deleted, or furnish a copy of the disputant's statement of the dispute, to any person specifically designated by the person. The agency shall clearly and conspicuously disclose to the disputant that he has the right to make such a request to the agency.

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.10 – Wrongful disclosure

(A) A person who is harmed by the use of personal information that relates to him and that is maintained in a personal information system may recover damages in civil action from any person who directly and proximately caused the harm by doing any of the following:

(1) Intentionally maintaining personal information that he knows, or has reason to know, is inaccurate, irrelevant, no longer timely, or incomplete and may result in such harm;

(2) Intentionally using or disclosing the personal information in a manner prohibited by law;

APPENDIX A

(3) Intentionally supplying personal information for storage in, or using or disclosing personal information maintained in, a personal information system, that he knows, or has reason to know, is false;

(4) Intentionally denying to the person the right to inspect and dispute the personal information at a time when inspection or correction might have prevented the harm.

An action under this division shall be brought within two years after the cause of action accrued or within six months after the wrongdoing is discovered, whichever is later; provided that no action shall be brought later than six years after the cause of action accrued. The cause of action accrues at the time that the wrongdoing occurs.

(B) Any person who, or any state or local agency that, violates or proposes to violate any provision of this chapter may be enjoined by any court of competent jurisdiction. The court may issue an order or enter a judgment that is necessary to ensure compliance with the applicable provisions of this chapter or to prevent the use of any practice that violates this chapter. An action for an injunction may be prosecuted by the person who is the subject of the violation, by the attorney general, or by any prosecuting attorney.

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.12 – Agency disclosure of security breach of computerized personal information data

(A) As used in this section:

(1) “Agency of a political subdivision” means each organized body, office, or agency established by a political subdivision for the exercise of any function of the political subdivision, except that “agency of a political subdivision” does not include an agency that is a covered entity as defined in 45 C.F.R. 160.103, as amended.

(2) (a) “Breach of the security system” means unauthorized access to an acquisition of computerized data that compromises the security or confidentiality of personal information owned or licensed by a state agency or an agency of a political subdivision and that causes, reasonably is believed to have caused, or reasonably is believed will cause a material risk of identity theft or other fraud to the person or property of a resident of this state.

(b) For purposes of division (A)(2)(a) of this section:

(i) Good faith acquisition of personal information by an employee or agent of the state agency or agency of the political subdivision for the purposes of the agency is not a breach of the security of the system, provided that the personal information is not used for unlawful purpose or subject to further unauthorized disclosure.

APPENDIX A

- (ii) Acquisition of personal information pursuant to a search warrant, subpoena, or other court order, or pursuant to a subpoena, order, or duty of a regulatory state agency, is not a breach of the security of the system.
- (3) “Consumer reporting agency that compiles and maintains files on consumers on a nationwide basis” means a consumer reporting agency that regularly engages in the practice of assembling or evaluating, and maintaining, for the purpose of furnishing consumer reports to third parties bearing on a consumer’s creditworthiness, credit standing, or credit capacity, each of the following regarding consumers residing nationwide:
- (a) Public record information;
 - (b) Credit account information from persons who furnish that information regularly and in the ordinary course of business.
- (4) “Encryption” means the use of an algorithmic process to transform data into a form in which there is a low probability of assigning meaning without use of a confidential process or key.
- (5) “Individual” means a natural person.
- (6) (a) “Personal information” means, notwithstanding section 1347.01 of the Revised Code, an individual’s name, consisting of the individual’s first name or first initial and last name, in combination with and linked to any one or more of the following data elements, when the data elements are not encrypted, redacted, or altered by any method or technology in such a manner that the data elements are unreadable:
- (i) Social security number;
 - (ii) Driver’s license number or state identification card number;
 - (iii) Account number or credit or debit card number, in combination with and linked to any required security code, access code, or password that would permit access to an individual’s financial account.
- (b) “Personal information” does not include publicly available information that is lawfully made available to the general public from federal, state, or local government records or any of the following media that are widely distributed:
- (i) Any news, editorial, or advertising statement published in any bona fide newspaper, journal, or magazine, or broadcast over radio or television;
 - (ii) Any gathering or furnishing of information or news by any bona fide reporter, correspondent, or news bureau to news media described in division (A)(6)(b)(i) of this section;

APPENDIX A

(iii) Any publication designed for and distributed to members of any bona fide association or charitable or fraternal nonprofit corporation;

(iv) Any type of media similar in nature to any item, entity, or activity identified in division (A)(6)(b)(i), (ii), or (iii) of this section.

(7) “Political subdivision” has the same meaning as in section 2744.01 of the Revised Code.

(8) “Record” means any information that is stored in an electronic medium and is retrievable in perceivable form. “Record” does not include any publicly available directory containing information an individual voluntarily has consented to have publicly disseminated or listed, such as name, address, or telephone number.

(9) “Redacted” means altered or truncated so that no more than the last four digits of a social security number, driver’s license number, state identification card number, account number, or credit or debit card number is accessible as part of the data.

(10) “State agency” has the same meaning as in section 1.60 of the Revised Code, except that “state agency” does not include an agency that is a covered entity as defined in 45 C.F.R. 160.103, as amended.

(11) “System” means, notwithstanding section 1347.01 of the Revised Code, any collection or group of related records that are kept in an organized manner, that are maintained by a state agency or an agency of a political subdivision, and from which personal information is retrieved by the name of the individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifier assigned to the individual. “System” does not include any collected archival records in the custody of or administered under the authority of the Ohio history connection, any published directory, any reference material or newsletter, or any routine information that is maintained for the purpose of internal office administration of the agency, if the use of the directory, material, newsletter, or information would not adversely affect an individual and if there has been no unauthorized external breach of the directory, material, newsletter, or information.

(B) (1) Any state agency or agency of a political subdivision that owns or licenses computerized data that includes personal information shall disclose any breach of the security of the system following its discovery or notification of the breach of the security of the system, to any resident of this state whose personal information was, or reasonably is believed to have been, accessed and acquired by an unauthorized person if the access and acquisition by the unauthorized person causes or reasonably is believed will cause a material risk of identity theft or other fraud to the resident. The disclosure described in this division may be made pursuant to any provision of a contract entered into by the state agency or agency of a political subdivision with any person or another state agency or agency of a political subdivision prior to the date the breach of the security of the system occurred if that contract does not conflict with any provision of this section. For purposes of this section, a resident of this state is an individual whose principal mailing address as reflected in the records of the state agency or agency of a political subdivision is in this state.

APPENDIX A

(2) The state agency or agency of a political subdivision shall make the disclosure described in division (B)(1) of this section in the most expedient time possible but not later than forty-five days following its discovery or notification of the breach in the security of the system, subject to the legitimate needs of law enforcement activities described in division (D) of this section and consistent with any measures necessary to determine the scope of the breach, including which residents' personal information was accessed and acquired, and to restore the reasonable integrity of the data system.

(C) Any state agency or agency of a political subdivision that, on behalf of or at the direction of another state agency or agency of a political subdivision, is the custodian of or stores computerized data that includes personal information shall notify that other state agency or agency of a political subdivision of any breach of the security of the system in an expeditious manner, if the personal information was, or reasonably is believed to have been, accessed and acquired by an unauthorized person and if the access and acquisition by the unauthorized person causes or reasonably is believed will cause a material risk of identity theft or other fraud to a resident of this state.

(D) The state agency or agency of a political subdivision may delay the disclosure or notification required by division (B), (C), or (F) of this section if a law enforcement agency determines that the disclosure or notification will impede a criminal investigation or jeopardize homeland or national security, in which case, the state agency or agency of a political subdivision shall make the disclosure or notification after the law enforcement agency determines that disclosure or notification will not compromise the investigation or jeopardize homeland or national security.

(E) For purposes of this section, a state agency or agency of a political subdivision may disclose or make a notification by any of the following methods:

(1) Written notice;

(2) Electronic notice, if the state agency's or agency of a political subdivision's primary method of communication with the resident to whom the disclosure must be made is by electronic means;

(3) Telephone notice;

(4) Substitute notice in accordance with this division, if the state agency or agency of a political subdivision required to disclose demonstrates that the agency does not have sufficient contact information to provide notice in a manner described in division (E)(1), (2), or (3) of this section, or that the cost of providing disclosure or notice to residents to whom disclosure or notification is required would exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars, or that the affected class of subject residents to whom disclosure or notification is required exceeds five hundred thousand persons. Substitute notice under this division shall consist of all of the following:

(a) Electronic mail notice if the state agency or agency of a political subdivision has an electronic mail address for the resident to whom the disclosure must be made;

(b) Conspicuous posting of the disclosure or notice on the state agency's or agency of a political subdivision's web site, if the agency maintains one;

APPENDIX A

(c) Notification to major media outlet, to the extent that the cumulative total of the readership, viewing audience, or listening audience of all of the outlets so notified equals or exceeds seventy-five per cent of the population of this state.

(5) Substitute notice in accordance with this division, if the state agency or agency of a political subdivision required to disclose demonstrates that the agency has ten employees or fewer and that the cost of providing the disclosures or notices to residents to whom disclosure or notification is required will exceed ten thousand dollars. Substitute notice under this division shall consist of all of the following:

(a) Notification by a paid advertisement in a local newspaper that is distributed in the geographic area in which the state agency or agency of a political subdivision is located, which advertisement shall be of sufficient size that it covers at least one-quarter of a page in the newspaper and shall be published in the newspaper at least once a week for three consecutive weeks;

(b) Conspicuous posting of the disclosure or notice on the state agency's or agency of a political subdivision's web site, if the agency maintains one;

(c) Notification to major media outlets in the geographic area in which the state agency or agency of a political subdivision is located.

(F) If a state agency or agency of a political subdivision discovers circumstances that require disclosure under this section to more than one thousand residents of this state involved in a single occurrence of a breach of the security of the system, the state agency or agency of a political subdivision shall notify, without unreasonable delay, all consumer reporting agencies that compile and maintain files on consumers on a nationwide basis of the timing, distribution, and content of the disclosure given by the state agency or agency of a political subdivision to the residents of this state. In no case shall a state agency or agency of a political subdivision that is required to make a notification required by this division delay any disclosure or notification required by division (B) or (C) of this section in order to make the notification required by this division.

(G) The attorney general, pursuant to sections 1349.191 and 1349.192 of the Revised Code, may conduct an investigation and bring a civil action upon an alleged failure by a state agency or agency of a political subdivision to comply with the requirements of this section.

Ohio Revised Code § 1347.15 – Access rules for confidential personal information

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Confidential personal information" means personal information that is not a public record for purposes of section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

APPENDIX A

(2) “State agency” does not include the courts or any judicial agency, any state-assisted institution of higher education, or any local agency.

(B) Each state agency shall adopt rules under Chapter 119. of the Revised Code regulating access to the confidential personal information the agency keeps, whether electronically or on paper. The rules shall include all of the following:

(1) Criteria for determining which employees of the state agency may access, and which supervisory employees of the state agency may authorize those employees to access, confidential personal information;

(2) A list of the valid reasons, directly related to the state agency’s exercise of its powers or duties, for which only employees of the state agency may access confidential personal information;

(3) References to the applicable federal or state statutes or administrative rules that make the confidential personal information confidential;

(4) A procedure that requires the state agency to do all of the following:

(a) Provide that any upgrades to an existing computer system, or the acquisition of any new computer system, that stores, manages, or contains confidential personal information include a mechanism for recording specific access by employees of the state agency to confidential personal information;

(b) Until an upgrade or new acquisition of the type described in division (B)(4)(a) of this section occurs, except as otherwise provided in division (C)(1) of this section, keep a log that records specific access by employees of the state agency to confidential personal information;

(5) A procedure that requires the state agency to comply with a written request from an individual for a list of confidential personal information about the individual that the state agency keeps, unless the confidential personal information relates to an investigation about the individual based upon specific statutory authority by the state agency;

(6) A procedure that requires the state agency to notify each person whose confidential personal information has been accessed for an invalid reason by employees of the state agency of that specific access;

(7) A requirement that the director of the state agency designate an employee of the state agency to serve as the data privacy point of contact within the state agency to work with the chief privacy officer within the office of information technology to ensure that confidential personal information is properly protected and that the state agency complies with this section and rules adopted thereunder;

(8) A requirement that the data privacy point of contact for the state agency complete a privacy impact assessment form; and

APPENDIX A

(9) A requirement that a password or other authentication measure be used to access confidential personal information that is kept electronically.

(C) (1) A procedure adopted pursuant to division (B)(4) of this section shall not require a state agency to record in the log it keeps under division (B)(4)(b) of this section any specific access by any employee of the agency to confidential personal information in any of the following circumstances:

(a) The access occurs as a result of research performed for official agency purposes, routine office procedures, or incidental contact with the information, unless the conduct resulting in the access is specifically directed toward a specifically named individual or a group of specifically named individuals.

(b) The access is to confidential personal information about an individual, and the access occurs as a result of a request by that individual for confidential personal information about that individual.

(2) Each state agency shall establish a training program for all employees of the state agency described in division (B)(1) of this section so that these employees are made aware of all applicable statutes, rules, and policies governing their access to confidential personal information.

The office of information technology shall develop the privacy impact assessment form and post the form on its internet web site by the first day of December each year. The form shall assist each state agency in complying with the rules it adopted under this section, in assessing the risks and effects of collecting, maintaining, and disseminating confidential personal information, and in adopting privacy protection processes designed to mitigate potential risks to privacy.

(D) Each state agency shall distribute the policies included in the rules adopted under division (B) of this section to each employee of the agency described in division (B)(1) of this section and shall require that the employee acknowledge receipt of the copy of the policies. The state agency shall create a poster that describes these policies and post it in a conspicuous place in the main office of the state agency and in all locations where the state agency has branch offices. The state agency shall post the policies on the internet web site of the agency if it maintains such an internet web site. A state agency that has established a manual or handbook of its general policies and procedures shall include these policies in the manual or handbook.

(E) No collective bargaining agreement entered into under Chapter 4117 of the Revised Code on or after the effective date of this section shall prohibit disciplinary action against or termination of an employee of a state agency who is found to have accessed, disclosed, or used personal confidential information in violation of a rule adopted under division (B) of this section or as otherwise prohibited by law.

(F) The auditor of state shall obtain evidence that state agencies adopted the required procedures and policies in a rule under division (B) of this section, shall obtain evidence supporting whether the state agency is complying with those policies and procedures, and may include citations or recommendations relating to this section in any audit report issued under section 117.11 of the Revised Code.

APPENDIX A

(G) A person who is harmed by a violation of a rule of a state agency described in division (B) of this section may bring an action in the court of claims, as described in division (F) of section 2743.02 of the Revised Code, against any person who directly and proximately caused the harm.

(H) (1) No person shall knowingly access confidential personal information in violation of a rule of a state agency described in division (B) of this section.

(2) No person shall knowingly use or disclose confidential personal information in a manner prohibited by law.

(3) No state agency shall employ a person who has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of division (H)(1) or (2) of this section.

(4) A violation of division (H)(1) or (2) of this section is a violation of a state statute for purposes of division (A) of section 124.341 of the Revised Code.

Statutory Provisions Exempting Records from the Ohio Public Records Act or Declaring Records Confidential

This chart is based on one previously created by the Ohio Legislative Service Commission, which was current through October 23, 2008. The editors of this publication searched for amendments to the existing list and any new statutes, but do not represent this to be an exhaustive list. Independent legal research to determine whether there are additional applicable exemptions elsewhere in Ohio or Federal law that may apply to records being requested is still recommended.

The exemptions listed in this Appendix include those addressed in R.C. 149.43 itself. If an exemption is contained in both R.C. 149.43 and a specific area of law, the specific area of law is cited first, with the R.C. 149.43 citation following. Some of the listed exemptions are qualified exemptions. The statutes enumerated in the first column should be examined to determine whether there are qualifications that operate to remove or qualify any confidentiality provision or other exemption from the topical description in the second column.

5735.33	For purposes of the Motor Vehicle Fuel Tax Law, information the Tax Commissioner acquires by examination of records, books, and papers, and information acquired by Department of Taxation employees in an investigation.
5739.35, 5741.24, 5743.45, and 5747.60	Information acquired by Department of Taxation employees in an investigation under the Sales Tax Law, the Use Tax Law, the Cigarette Tax Law, or the Personal Income Tax Law.
5747.18	Information from a return, investigation, hearing, or verification associated with the Personal Income Tax Law.
5751.12	Any information required by the Tax Commissioner under the Gross Receipts Tax Law.
5740.08	For purposes of the Interstate Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Law, personally identifiable information of consumers who buy, lease, or rent tangible personal property or services from a certified service provider as required by the Department of Taxation for taxpayer information.
5901.09(A), (B), and (C), and 5902.04(B) and (C)	Certain documents and information relative to applications for financial assistance to a county veterans service commission and, generally, commission documents that the Director of Veterans Services obtains that identify applicants for or recipients of financial assistance.
6111.05	Records, reports, or information accessible under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act by the Director of Environmental Protection that constitutes trade secrets.
6121.21 and 6123.20	Records or information relating to secret processes or secret methods of manufacture or production the Ohio Water Development Authority obtains.

Ohio Attorney General Opinions Interpreting Ohio’s Public Records Act

The following are summaries of selected Opinions of the Ohio Attorney General that have addressed or interpreted the Public Records Act. Be aware that the validity of any one opinion may have been affected by a subsequent court opinion or statutory change. The full text of these opinions can be found at <http://www.ohioattorneygeneral.gov/opinions>.¹

2014-030

When a county law library resources board deems it necessary, and subject to the approval of the board of county commissioners, a county law library resources board may contract with and pay a vendor to digitize public records of the county recorder, and to post those records and the public records of the clerk of court on a third-party website. A county law library resources board may also purchase a public access computer for placement in the county law library.

Whether personal email addresses that are contained in a public record are themselves public records is a fact-specific inquiry that must be determined on a case-by-case basis. Personal email addresses that are contained in an email sent by a township fiscal officer that do not document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations or other activities of the township do not constitute “records,” as defined in R.C. 149.011(G), and are not required to be disclosed by R.C. 149.43.

To determine whether personal email addresses document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the township, the township must determine whether disclosure of the email addresses would facilitate the public’s ability to monitor the functions of the township in performing its statutory duties, and whether the township actually used the email addresses in making decisions or in performing its functions.

A law enforcement agency’s access to information about a public assistance recipient that is found within the records of a county department of job and family services, including by public records request, is limited by the statutes controlling the release of such information.

2014-009

For purposes of R.C. 149.43, a county auditor makes a public record available for inspection when he provides access to the public records online through the county’s website. A county auditor may not charge and collect a fee for making public records available for inspection on a county website.

If using another search method (such as LexisNexis or Westlaw), the citation format will be different. For example, to locate the first opinion listed on this page, the format would be: 2014 Ohio Op. Att’y Gen. No. 2014-030.

APPENDIX C

2014-007

A social security number, driver's license number, name (first, middle, and last), street name, city and state received by the Secretary of State from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles are personal information as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2725(3) and R.C. 4501.27(F)(3). Other information that the Bureau of Motor Vehicles provides to the Secretary of State is personal information for purposes of 18 U.S.C. § 2725(3) and R.C. 4501.27(F)(3) if the information identifies an individual. The Secretary of State is an authorized recipient of personal information under 18 U.S.C. § 2721(c) and R.C. 4501.27(C), and may disclose personal information for the permissible uses set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 2721(b)(1)-(10) and (13)-(14) and R.C. 4501.27(B)(2)(a)-(k) and (n)-(o).

The Secretary of State may disclose personal information to a member of the General Assembly pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2721(b)(1) and R.C. 4501.27(B)(2)(a), provided the information is sought for use in carrying out the functions of the General Assembly. The Secretary of State may disclose personal information to a journalist pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2721(b)(5) and R.C. 4501.27(B)(2)(f), provided the journalist intends to use the information for research activities and does not publish or re-disclose the information or use the information to contact the individuals to whom the information pertains.

The term "special taxing district," as used in R.C. 149.412, means a separate and distinct territorial division of government throughout which a tax may be levied to promote or achieve a public purpose. A county veterans service commission and a county board of developmental disabilities are subject to the jurisdiction of a county records commission under R.C. 149.38. The entities subject to the jurisdiction of a special taxing district records commission under R.C. 149.412 include, but are not limited to: (1) a county soil and water conservation district; (2) a single county alcohol, drug addiction, and mental health service district; (3) a general health district; and (4) a combined general health district.

Pursuant to R.C. 307.862(C), information in a competitive sealed proposal submitted to a county contracting authority pursuant to R.C. 307.862 becomes a public record that must be made available for public inspection and copying under R.C. 149.43 after the contract is awarded, unless the information falls within one of the exceptions to the definition of the term "public record" set forth in R.C. 149.43(A)(1) and is redacted from the proposal by the contracting authority.

Pursuant to R.C. 307.87 and R.C. 307.88, information in a competitive bid submitted to a county contracting authority under R.C. 307.86-.92 becomes a public record that must be made available for public inspection and copying under R.C. 149.43 after the bid is opened by the contracting authority, unless the information falls within one of the exceptions to the definition of the term "public record" set forth in R.C. 149.43(A)(1) and is redacted from the bid by the contracting authority.

APPENDIX C

2012-032

The Ohio Vendors Representative Committee is a public office subject to the requirements of R.C. 149.43. The Committee is responsible for maintaining the public records of the Committee. The chairperson of the Committee is responsible for developing a records retention schedule for the Committee.

2012-028

Pursuant to R.C. 4141.22, information that is (1) maintained by the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services and provided to the Unemployment Compensation Review Commission by the Department and (2) placed in a director's file, review file, or decision of the Commission is not a public record that must be made available for inspection and copying under R.C. 149.43. Information in a director's file, review file, or decision of the Commission that is not subject to the confidentiality provision of R.C. 4141.22 is a public record for purposes of R.C. 149.43, unless the information is not a "record," as defined in R.C. 149.011(G), or the information falls within one of the exceptions to the definition of the term "public record" set forth in R.C. 149.43(A)(1).

2011-012

A provisional ballot envelope is subject to state elections laws mandating the seal and preservation of ballots until any possible recount or election contest is completed; state law, within the meaning of R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(v) and R.C. 3501.13(C), prohibits the release of provisional ballot envelopes during the time a board of elections is required to preserve ballots under seal. A provisional ballot envelope is a "public record" subject to release once the time has passed during which a board of elections is required to preserve ballots under seal. R.C. 3505.181(B)(5)(b) does not prohibit the release of provisional ballot envelopes. Rather, R.C. 3505.181(B)(5)(b) prohibits the release of particular voter information through the free access system to anyone other than the voter to whom that information pertains. The free access system established pursuant to R.C. 3505.181(B)(5)(b) may be used only by a voter to gain access to information about his individual provisional ballot.

The Ohio Department of Job and Family Services, in support of civil or criminal prosecutions arising out of investigations by the Bureau of Workers' Compensation, may provide certified copies of employer payroll records to the Bureau or the appropriate prosecuting authority and may allow a Department representative to testify regarding those records at trial.

APPENDIX C

2010-016

R.C. 1347.15 requires every state agency to adopt rules regulating access to its confidential personal information systems, but exempts any judicial agency from such requirements. A judicial agency is part of the judicial branch of government or renders judgments in quasi-judicial proceedings. The Board of Tax Appeals renders judgments to resolve justiciable disputes arising under Ohio's tax laws and its proceedings are quasi-judicial in nature. The BTA is therefore not subject to the requirements of R.C. 1347.15.

2008-019

An audio tape recording of a meeting of a board of township trustees that is created by the township fiscal officer for the purpose of taking notes to create an accurate record of the meeting, as required by R.C. 507.04(A), is a public record for purposes of R.C. 149.43. The audio tape recording must be made available for public inspection and copying, and retained in accordance with the terms of the township records retention schedule for such a record.

2008-003

Depending on the manner in which it is formed and operated, a non-profit corporation formed under R.C. 183.061 might be subject to the public records law in R.C. 149.43, the open meetings law in R.C. 121.22, or particular contracting controls governing state agencies.

A county coroner who performs an autopsy and forensic examination, pursuant to contract with the coroner who has jurisdiction over the case, is not required by R.C. 313.09 to keep the autopsy and examination reports he prepares, but he must keep copies of the reports in conformance with his office's records retention schedule, as filed and approved in accordance with R.C. 149.38.

A county coroner who performs an autopsy and forensic examination, pursuant to contract with the coroner who has jurisdiction over the case, is required by R.C. 149.43 to make available to any person for inspection and copying the copies of the autopsy and forensic examination reports that he prepared for constitutionally mandated exception.

A county corner who performs an autopsy and forensic examination, pursuant to contract with the coroner who has jurisdiction over the case, has no duty under R.C. 313.10(D) or (E), or R.C. 149.43, to make available to journalists or insurers copies of any records that his office has retained in connection with performance of the contract if the records are not public records.

APPENDIX C

2007-039

In the context of R.C. 2923.129, which concerns the powers and duties of a county sheriff with respect to information kept pertaining to licenses to carry concealed handguns, a journalist is prohibited from making a reproduction by any means, other than through his own mental processes, of the information the journalist is permitted to view under that statute. A sheriff may exercise his discretion in determining a reasonable manner by which a journalist may view, but not copy, that information so long as the confidentiality of other information relative to licenses to carry concealed handguns is maintained. Subject to the journalist exception, revealing, disclosing, or otherwise making known any of the information made confidential by the statute is prohibited except as required by a court order, or unless a statute specifically authorizes or requires other uses of such information. R.C. 2923.129(B)(1) does not prohibit a newspaper from publishing information that a journalist has viewed in accordance with the statute.

2007-034

A piece of physical evidence collected by law enforcement in connection with a criminal investigation and held by a county prosecuting attorney following conclusion of the trial, appeals, and post-conviction proceedings to which the evidence pertains is not a public records for purposes of R.C. 149.43.

2007-026

Article II, Section 34a of the Ohio Constitution and Am.Sub. HB690, 126th Gen. A. (2006) (eff. April 4, 2007) do not render confidential information about a public employee's rate of pay, the number of hours worked by the employee, or the amount of compensation paid to the employee, nor do they otherwise exempt this information from inspection and copying under R.C. 149.43. Therefore, any person, including any co-worker of the public employee, has the right under R.C. 149.43 to inspect and copy information about a public employee's pay rate, hours worked, and amounts paid.

The "good cause" standard described in 1991 Ohio Op. Att'y Gen. No. 003, under which the executive director of a public children services agency (PCSA) determines whether to grant access to child abuse or neglect investigation records included as confidential records under R.C. 5153.17, is applicable to all PCSA records described in R.C. 5153.17, including records pertaining to matters other than child abuse or neglect investigations. (1991 Ohio Op. Att'y Gen. No. 003, approved and clarified).

A PCSA is responsible for keeping records described in R.C. 5153.17 confidential and may disclose them only as authorized by statute, in accordance with the "good cause" standard described in 1991 Ohio Op. Att'y Gen. No. 003. If, in conjunction with a criminal proceeding or investigation or a civil proceeding, a PCSA received a subpoena requesting the disclosure of information that is confidential under R.C. 5153.17, the PCSA, in order to preserve the confidentiality prescribed by statute, may file a motion to quash the subpoena, thereby seeking from the court an in camera review of the PCSA's records and a determination as to whether and to what extent the information may be disclosed.

APPENDIX C

2006-038

In the absence of a statute to the contrary, foreign individuals and entities domiciled in a foreign country are “persons” who are entitled to inspect and copy public records pursuant to R.C. 149.43.

2006-037

Except as provided in R.C. 149.43 (A)(1)(a)-(y) and R.C. 1724.11, information kept in the records of a community improvement corporation designated as an agency of a county under R.C. 1724.10 is a public records for purposes of R.C. 149.43.

2005-047

Because individuals possess a constitutionally protected privacy right in their social security numbers, such numbers when contained in a court’s civil case are not public records for purposes of R.C. 149.43. Prior to releasing information from a court’s civil case files, the clerk of court has a duty to redact social security numbers included in those files. An individual’s personal financial information contained in a court’s civil case files is a public record for purposes of R.C. 149.43 unless the information is not a “record” of the court or the information falls within one of the exceptions to the definition of the term “public record” set forth in R.C. 149.43(A)(1).

2005-039

R.C. 3701.741(C)(1)(c) requires a health care provider or a medical records company to provide one free copy of an individual’s medical records only to the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services, not to the various county departments of job and family services. A county department of job and family services is not included within the language “[t]he department of job and family services, in accordance with [R.C. Chapter 5101] and the rules adopted under those chapters,” as used in R.C. 3701.741(C)(1)(c).

Under Ohio law, a board of elections has a duty to preserve ballots in sealed containers until any possible recount or election contest is completed. Ballots are therefore not “public records” for purposes of R.C. 149.43 while they remain under seal or where they are subject to a court order prohibiting their release. In addition, they are not subject to inspection under R.C. 3501.13 during such time.

However, once the time within which a possible recount or election contest may occur has passed, pursuant to R.C. 3501.13, such ballots are subject to public inspection “under such reasonable regulations as shall be established by the board.” Nonetheless, the board of elections remains under a duty to “carefully preserve” ballots used in an election for the remainder of the preservation period prescribed by R.C. 3505.31.

In addition, upon completion of the canvass of election returns under R.C. 3505.32, poll books used in an election are public records of a board of elections and are subject to public inspection in accordance with any reasonable regulations the custodian board of elections has established under R.C. 3505.13.

APPENDIX C

2004-045

Information within a criminal case file is subject both to Ohio's public records law and a constitutional right of access. Therefore, whether information within a criminal case file may be withheld depends on whether the information meets or is exempt from the definition of a "public record" under the Public Records Act, R.C. 149.43(A)(1), and whether the qualified constitutional right has been overridden.

2004-033

A county recorder who makes available in her office a photocopying machine for use by the public may not charge the two-dollar per page fee set forth in R.C. 317.32(l) where the public without the assistance of the recorder or her staff operates the photocopier. The recorder is, instead, subject to R.C. 149.43(B), which requires a public office to provide copies of public records "at cost."

2004-011

A county recorder may not impose a fee upon a requester to inspect records or make copies using their own equipment. However, the county recorder may impose reasonable rules governing the use and operation of such equipment.

2003-030

R.C. 2303.26 requires the clerk of courts to carry out her duties "under the direction of [her] court." Once the judges of a court of common pleas have delegated to the judges of a division of that court authority to determine whether to make that division's records available to the public through the Internet, and the judges of that division have ordered that its records are not to be accessible to the public through the Internet, the clerk of courts must obey that order, unless a court of competent jurisdiction reverses that order or prohibits its enforcement.

Pursuant to R.C. 2953.321, R.C. 2953.54, and R.C. 2151.358, a county sheriff may not disclose to the public information in an investigatory work product report that pertains to a case the records of which have been ordered sealed or expunged pursuant to R.C. 2953.31-.61 or R.C. 2151.358, But the sheriff must disclose information in the report that relates to a defendant, suspect, or juvenile offender who has not had this information ordered sealed or expunged, unless one of the exceptions set forth in R.C. 149.43(A) applies to the information.

2002-040

Except as provided in R.C. 149.43(A)(1) and R.C. 2950.081(B), sex offender registration information submitted to a county sheriff by a sex offender who is required to register with the sheriff under R.C. Chapter 2950 may be made available to the general public on the Internet through the sheriff's website, provided such access to the public records does not endanger the safety and integrity of the records or interfere with the discharge of the sheriff's duties.

A county sheriff that provides sex offender registration information to the general public on the Internet through a website must provide a written notice containing the information set forth in R.C. 2950.11(B) to all the persons listed in R.C. 2950.11(A). Except for the persons listed in R.C. 2950.11(A)(1) and Ohio Admin. Code 109:5-2-03(A)(1)(c), a county sheriff may use email to electronically transmit the written notice required by R.C. 2950.11(A). The persons listed in R.C. 2950.11(A)(1) and Rule 109:5-2-03(A)(1)(c) must receive the written notice required by R.C. 2950.11(A) by regular mail or by personal delivery to their residences.

In the absence of facts indicating that the names and addresses of a county sewer district's customers fall within one of the exceptions to the definition of "[p]ublic record" contained in R.C. 149.43(A)(1), such names and addresses are public records that are subject to disclosure by the sewer district in accordance with R.C. 149.43.

2002-014

Transcripts prepared pursuant to R.C. 2301.23 by a court reporter of the court of common pleas are public records under R.C. 149.43, unless the transcripts include or comprise a record that is exempt from the definition of "public record" in R.C. 149.43(A)(1). (1989 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 073, syllabus, paragraph two, approved and followed.) A party in a trial of a civil action in the court of common pleas that requests a photocopy of a transcript previously prepared pursuant to R.C. 2301.23 in the action is required to pay the compensation fixed by the judges of the court of common pleas under R.C. 2301.24 in order to obtain the photocopy of the transcript from the court.

Each party in a trial of a civil or criminal action in the court of common pleas that requests a transcript pursuant to R.C. 2301.23 is required to pay the court reporter of the court of common pleas who prepares the transcript the compensation fixed by the judges of the court of common pleas in accordance with R.C. 2301.24.

Each time that a party in a trial of a civil or criminal action in the court of common pleas requests a transcript pursuant to R.C. 2301.23, the court reporter of the court of common pleas who prepares the transcript is entitled to the entire compensation fixed by the judges of the court of common pleas in accordance with R.C. 2301.24, unless the party requests at the same time more than one transcript of the same testimony or proceeding. In such a situation, pursuant to R.C. 2301.25, the court reporter is entitled to the entire compensation fixed by the judges of the court of common pleas in accordance with R.C. 2301.24 for the first copy and to one-half the compensation allowed for the first copy for each additional copy.

A prosecuting attorney in a trial of a civil or criminal action in the court of common pleas or the court of appeals may not obtain a photocopy of a transcript previously prepared in the action from the court's file without paying the court reporter of the court of common pleas or the court of appeals, respectively, the compensation fixed by the judges of the court of common pleas in accordance with R.C. 2301.24 or the judges of the court of appeals in accordance with R.C. 2501.17, R.C. 9.92(E) and 2933.41(G).

Information on a run sheet created and maintained by a county emergency medical services (EMS) organization that documents medication or other treatment administered to a patient by an EMS unit, diagnostic procedures performed by an EMS unit, or the vital signs and other indicia of the patient's condition or diagnosis satisfied the "medical records" exception of R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(a), and thus, is not a "public record" that must be released to the public pursuant to R.C. 149.43(B). (1999 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 006, approved and followed.)

Information on a run sheet created and maintained by a county emergency medical services organization that documents medication or other treatment administered to a patient by an EMS unit, diagnostic procedures performed by an EMS unit, or the vital signs and other indicia of the patient's condition or diagnosis, and is relied upon by a physician for diagnostic or treatment purposes, is a communication covered by the physician-patient testimonial privilege of R.C. 2317.02(B), and thus, is confidential information, the release of which is prohibited by law for purposes of R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(v). (1996 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 005 and 1999 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 006, approved and followed.) If a physician authorizes an emergency medical technician (EMT) to administer a drug or perform other emergency medical services, documentation of the physician's authorization and administration of the treatment or procedure by the EMS unit may also fall within the physician-patient testimonial privilege.

A written protocol, developed pursuant to R.C. 4765.41, without reference to a particular patient, for use by emergency squad personnel in cases where communication with a physician is not possible and the patient's life is in danger, does not establish, for purposes of R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(v), a physician-patient testimonial privilege between the physician who prepared the protocol and a patient who is treated by an EMS unit pursuant to that protocol, where there is no further communication by the EMS unit with the physician about the condition or treatment of the patient.

If an EMS unit administers a controlled substance to a patient, the patient's name and address documented on the run sheet will, pursuant to Ohio Admin. Code 4729-9-14(A)(3) (Supp. 2000-2001), be deemed to meet a portion of the record keeping requirements of R.C. 3719.07, and thus, will be confidential under the terms of R.C. 3719.13, if the run sheet becomes a permanent part of the patient's medical record. However, information on the run sheet that pertains to the administration of a drug that is not a controlled substance is not required by R.C. 3719.07 or other provision of R.C. Chapter 3719, and thus, does not fall within the confidentiality requirements of R.C. 3719.13.

2001-012

Data, photographs, maps, and other information created, collected, prepared, maintained, and published pursuant to R.C. 1504.02(A)(6) by the Department of Natural Resources' Division of Real Estate and Lane Management are public records for purposes of R.C. 149.43. If the Department of Natural Resources stores, produces, organizes, or compiles public records in such a manner that enhances the value of data or information included therein, it may charge for copies an amount that includes the additional costs of copying the information in such enhanced or "value-added" format. R.C. 1501.01, which authorizes the director of the Department of Natural Resources to "public and sell" data, reports and information, does not authorize the director to charge an amount in excess of its actual cost for providing copies of the records created and maintained pursuant to R.C. 1504.02(A)(6).

2000-046

A county recorder may make indexed public records available through the Internet, provided this does not endanger the records or interfere with the recorder's duties. A fee cannot be charged or collected to inspect or copy records from the Internet when a person does not use equipment maintained by the recorder. Internet access cannot be limited to real estate companies.

2000-036

Governor's Office of Veterans Affairs is prohibited by 32 C.F.R. § 45.3(e)(4) from releasing a copy of a Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty (DD Form 214) without the written consent of the service member who is the subject of the DD Form 214.

R.C. 149.43, as amended by Am. Sub. S.B. 78, 123rd Gen. A. (1999) (eff. Dec. 16, 1999), imposes no duty upon any particular individual or office to notify public offices of a peace officer's residential and familial information or to update the database. For purposes of R.C. 149.43, a child of a peace officer includes a natural or adopted child, a stepchild, and a minor or adult child.

Under the definition in R.C. 149.43(A)(7), peace officer residential and familial information encompasses only records that both contain the information listed in the statute and disclose the relationship of the information to a peace officer or a spouse, former spouse, or child of the peace officer, and those are the only records that come within the statutory exception to mandatory disclosure provided by R.C. 149.43(A)(1)(p). The exception for peace officer residential and familial information applies only to information contained in a record that presents a reasonable expectation of privacy, and does not extend to records kept by a county recorder or other public official for general public access. The general provisions of R.C. 149.43 excluding peace officer residential and familial information from mandatory disclosure do not operate to impose requirements or limitations on systems of public records that have been designed and established for general public access, where there is no reasonable basis for asserting a privacy interest and no expectation that the information will be identifiable as peace officer residential and familial information.

APPENDIX C

R.C. 149.43 provides no liability for disclosing information that comes within an exception to the definition of “public record.” Liability may result, however, from disclosing a record that is made confidential by a provision of law other than R.C. 149.43.

1999-012

When county office chooses to create customized document from an existing public record it may only charge its actual cost, which does not include employee time or computer programming fees.

1999-006

Information on a county EMS run sheet that does not satisfy either the medical records exception or the “catch-all” exception is a public record and must be disclosed pursuant to R.C. 149.43(B). HIV testing information contained in run sheets must not be disclosed.

1997-038

Information submitted to county sheriff pursuant to R.C. Chapter 2950 by an individual who has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a sexually oriented offense is a public record that must be made available for inspection to any person, except to the extent that such information comprises “records the release of which is prohibited by state or federal law.”

1997-010

Information within a workers’ compensation claim file that does not fall within one of the exceptions listed in R.C. 149.43(A)(1) is a public record which must be disclosed to the public pursuant to R.C. 149.43(B) when the Bureau of Workers’ Compensation, a member of the Industrial Commission, the claimant, or the employer has authorized the examination of the claim file as required by R.C. 4123.88. (1975 Op. Att’y Gen. No. 75-062 (syllabus, paragraph one), overruled.)

Information in a workers’ compensation claim file that indicates that an individual has been diagnosed as having AIDS or an AIDS-related condition is not a public record that the Bureau of Workers’ Compensation must disclose to the public.

1996-034

A county recorder is not required to remove or obliterate social security numbers from documents before recording those instruments.

APPENDIX C

1996-005

Records collected for trauma system registry or emergency medical services incidence reporting systems that constitute medical records or physician/patient privilege do not constitute public records. The State Board of Emergency Medical Services is not required to disclose such records, and the Board is required to maintain confidentiality of any patient identifying information contained therein.

1995-001

PASSPORT administrative agency operated by a private non-profit agency is a public office for purposes of Ohio Public Records Act and public body for purposes of Ohio Open Meetings Act.

1994-089

A clerk of court may not remove from a pleading that is stricken from the record unless removal is permitted by law or by the appropriate records commission.

1994-084

A county human services department may release the address of a current recipient of aid to dependent children, general assistance, or disability assistance to a law enforcement agency that has authority to apprehend an individual under an outstanding felony warrant.

1994-058

A township clerk is authorized to have access to estate tax returns or other records or information made confidential by R.C. 5731.90 in connection with the duties and responsibilities of the clerk. A county treasurer who reports collection of estate tax to a township clerk is permitted to reveal the identity of taxpayer to the township clerk in the course of making the report.

1994-046

All information pertaining to LEADS is not public record subject to disclosure.

1994-006

If a person requesting copies of public records stored by the county recorder on microfiche or film presents a legitimate reason why paper copies are insufficient or impracticable and assumes the expense of making the copies in that medium, the county recorder is required to make available in the same medium a copy of the portions of the microfiche or film containing the public records.

APPENDIX C

1993-038

When a court orders official records of a case sealed and such order does not require sealing of the pertinent official records of an administrative licensing agency, the agency is not required to seal its records. The agency may seal its records containing information prohibited from disclosure pursuant to R.C. 2953.35(A).

Pursuant to R.C. 5715.07, all documents relating to the assessment of real property that are in the office of a county board of revision or in the official custody or possession of the board of revision are required to be open to public inspection.

A member or an employee of a county board of revision who, pursuant to R.C. 5715.07, makes available for public inspection documents concerning the transactions, property, or business of any person, company, firm, corporation, association, or partnership that are in the office of the county auditor or county board of revision or in the official custody or possession of such officer or board, does not violate R.C. 5715.49 or R.C. 5715.50.

Blueprints submitted to a county building inspection department for approval under R.C. 3791.04 are public records while in possession of the department.

1992-076

Estate tax returns and other tax returns filed pursuant to R.C. Chapter 5731 are confidential and may be inspected or copied only as provided in R.C. 5731.90. A township clerk has no authority to inspect or copy estate tax materials that are made confidential by R.C. 5731.90 except pursuant to court order for good cause shown.

1992-071

A county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities may not disclose to a parent organization the names of the board's clients or the names, addresses, and phone numbers of the parents of the board's clients unless proper consent is obtained.

1992-046

Reports and investigations pursuant to R.C. 2151.421 are confidential and dissemination of such information to an agency or organization is permitted only if the agency or organization has rules or policies governing the dissemination of confidential information consistent with Ohio Admin. Code 5101:2-34-38. Ohio Admin. Code 5101:2-34-38(F) permits disclosure of child abuse and neglect investigation information when the dissemination of information is believed to be in the best interest of an alleged child victim, his family, or caretaker, a child residing, or participating in an activity at an out-of-home care setting where alleged abuse or neglect has been reported, or a child who is an alleged perpetrator.

1992-005

A copy of a federal income tax Form W-2 prepared and maintained by a township as an employer is subject to inspection as a public record.

1991-053

Federal tax return information filed by an individual pursuant to R.C. 3113.215(B)(5) and a local rule of court is a public record. Confidentiality of federal income tax returns is inapplicable to income tax returns submitted to a court of common pleas by a litigant in connection with a child support determination or modification proceeding in that court.

1991-003

A county prosecuting attorney may release children services agency's child abuse or neglect investigation file only with written permission of agency executive secretary. The executive secretary may only grant permission for good cause. Child abuse or neglect investigation records are not public records.

1990-103

Absent statutory authority, a county recorder is without authority to delete documents from the records of the county recorder.

1990-102

Ohio Public Records Act does not make confidential all records filed with Ohio taxation authorities. Specific revised code sections make particular information confidential.

APPENDIX C

1990-101

Records of juvenile offenders are not public records to the extent they are law enforcement investigatory records. Sealed or expunged juvenile records are not public records.

1990-099

Public school officials may not release information concerning illegal drug or alcohol use by students to law enforcement agencies where such information is personally identifiable information, other than directory information concerning any student attending a public school.

1990-057

Subject to the provisions of R.C. 149.351(A), a county official may, pursuant to a valid contract, temporarily transfer physical custody of the records of his office to a private contractor to microfilm such records at the facilities of the contractor. A contract must incorporate sufficient safeguards to prevent loss, damage, mutilation, or destruction of the records.

1990-050

Names, addresses, and telephone numbers of employees of a public school district are public records open to inspection by any person. Motive is irrelevant even if for commercial purposes.

1990-007

Unless state or federal law prohibits disclosure to a person who is the subject of information kept by an Ohio public office, R.C. Chapter 1347 permits the person to inspect and copy such information. Chapter 1347 is not a provision of state law prohibiting the release of information under R. C. 149.43.

1989-084

Records that do not constitute personal information systems as used in R.C. Chapter 1347 are not subject to the disclosure provision of Chapter 1347. Child abuse and neglect investigatory records maintained by public children services agency constitute investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes within the meaning of R.C. 1347(A)(1)(e).

APPENDIX C

1989-073

Shorthand notes taken pursuant to R.C. 2301.20 and transcripts prepared pursuant to R.C. 2301.23 are public records unless they include or comprise a record excepted from the definition of public record.

1989-055

A judicial determination that a particular entity is a public office under R.C. 149.011(A) is not determinative of the question whether that entity is a public office under R.C. 117.01(D) for purposes of audit and regulation by the Auditor of State.

1989-042

Providing that properly approved record retention schedules under R.C. 149.333 permit disposal of paper or other original documents after recording by optical disk process, original documents may be destroyed and the recorded information stored on optical disks becomes the original of the public record.

1988-103

An application to the County Veterans Service Commission for assistance under R.C. Chapter 5901 is a public record (now exempt, R.C. 121.22 and 149.43).

1987-024

1987-010

A public school may not forward personal information regarding the first-time use of drugs or alcohol by a student on school property to local law enforcement agencies without the consent of the student's parent or guardian, or the student, where appropriate.

1986-096

Disclosure of the number of persons employed by an applicant at the time of application for a loan is prohibited where such information is submitted to the Director of Development, the Controlling Board, or the Minority Development Financing Commission in connection with a loan application.

APPENDIX C

1986-089

A personnel file maintained by an exempted village school district is a public record except to the extent such file may include records that are exempt from the definition of the term public record.

1986-069

A letter requesting an advisory opinion from the Ohio Ethics Commission under R.C. 102-08 and the documents held by the commission concerning such advisory opinion are public records.

1986-033

The Unemployment Compensation Board of Review may, in accordance with the specific terms of the schedule of retention pertaining thereto and approved by the State Records Commission, destroy or dispose of its hearing records six months after a decision by the Board of Review becomes final. The hearing records shall be destroyed or disposed of within 60 days after the expiration of the six-month retention period, unless, in the opinion of the Board of Review, they pertain to any pending case, claim or action.

1985-087

Appraisal cards that are kept by the office of the county auditor and that contain information used in the evaluation and assessment of real property for purposes of taxation are subject to public inspection and disclosure of such documents does not violate either R.C. 5715.49 or R.C. 5715.50.

1984-084

Client records held by the Rehabilitation Services Commission in connection with the state vocational rehabilitation services program are not public records and cannot be disclosed without the consent of the person to whom the records relate.

1984-079

Grand jury subpoenas while in possession of the clerk of courts prior to issuance in accordance with R.C. 2939.12 are not public records.

1984-077

Under R.C. 1347.08, a juvenile court must permit a juvenile or a duly-authorized attorney who represents the juvenile to inspect court records pertaining to the juvenile unless the records are exempted under R.C. 1347.04(A)(1)(e), 1347.08(C) or (E)(2). Under Juv. R. 37(B), the records may not be put to any public use except in the course of an appeal or as authorized by order of the court.

1984-015

The director of the Ohio Department of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities may make available to persons approved by the director the medical, psychological, social, and educational records of persons who have been nominated for protective services pursuant to R.C. 5123.58.

1983-100

The Ohio State Board of Psychology does not have the authority to expunge or actually destroy its official records except as provided by law. It is not required to seal any of its official records unless an order sealing the same specifically directs the Board to do so by the court. The Board may seal information or data contained in its official records that are not public records within meaning of R.C. 149.43(A)(1).

1983-099

Since the examinations administered by the State Board of Examiners of Architects are records under R.C. 149.40 and there is no law prohibiting the destruction of such examinations or requiring the retention of such examinations for a specified period of time, such examinations may be disposed of in accordance with a schedule of records retention or an application for records disposal approved by the State Records Commission pursuant to R.C. 149.32.

1983-071

A county department of welfare is prohibited from disclosing to law enforcement personnel personal information about applicants for or recipients of aid to Families with Dependent Children or poor relief unless such law enforcement personnel are prosecuting fraud or seeking child support and are directly connected with the enforcement of the Food Stamp Act or regulations, other federal assistance programs or general relief programs, or the applicant or recipient has consented in writing.

APPENDIX C

1983-003

Materials of all varieties (including but not limited to, correspondence, memorandums, notes, reports, audio and video recordings, motion picture films, and photographs) that are received by public officials and employees, or created and maintained by them at public expense, are considered records if they serve to document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the public office.

Ohio Attorney General Opinions Interpreting Ohio’s Open Meetings Act

The following are summaries of selected Opinions of the Ohio Attorney General that have addressed or interpreted the Ohio Open Meetings Act. Be aware that the validity of any one opinion may have been affected by a subsequent court opinion or statutory change. The full text of these opinions can be found at <http://www.ohioattorneygeneral.gov/opinions>.¹

2012-032

The Ohio Vendors Representative Committee is a public body subject to the requirements of R.C. 121.22. A subcommittee of the Committee is a public body subject to the requirements of R.C. 121.22 when the subcommittee provides advice and recommendations to the Committee.

To hold an executive session pursuant to R.C. 121.22(G)(1), a person must, in the motion and vote to hold that executive session, state which one or more of the approved purposes listed in R.C. 121.22(G)(1) are the purposes for which the executive session is to be held. This requirement is not satisfied if the motion and vote state, without further explanation, that the session is to discuss a “personnel matter.”

Any vote or action by a county children services board officially placing its executive director on administrative leave is a formal action under R.C. 121.22(H) that must occur in a meeting open to the public. The failure to comply with this requirement renders the vote or action invalid.

A public body that is subject to the requirements of the Open Meetings Act may not vote in an open meeting by secret ballot. R.C. 121.22 is intended to ensure openness and accountability in government. Voting by secret ballot is inconsistent with the purpose of the open meetings law and denies the people their right to view and evaluate the workings of their government. A meeting is not “open” to the public where members of a public body vote by way of secret ballot. (1980 Ohio Op. Att’y Gen. No. 083 (syllabus, paragraph 4), overruled).

2009-034

During a declared emergency, R.C. 5502.24(B) provides a limited exception to fulfilling the requirements of the Open Meetings Act. A public body may meet at an alternative location, and exercise their powers and functions “in the light of the exigencies of the emergency without regard to or compliance with time-consuming procedures and formalities prescribed by law pertaining thereto.” However, this is not an exception to the “in person” meeting requirement of R.C. 121.22(C) and does not permit the public body to meet by teleconference.

2008-003

Depending on the manner in which it is formed and operated, a non-profit corporation formed under R.C. 183.061 might be subject to the public records law in R.C. 149.43, the open meetings law in R.C. 121.22, or particular contracting controls governing state agencies.

2007-019

A board of township trustees has authority to maintain order at, approve the minutes of, and provide and distribute a written agenda for its regular meetings.

2000-035

Public hearings conducted by a township board of zoning appeals to consider the matters described in R.C. 519.14(A)-(C) are not “meetings” for purposes of R.C. 121.22, but rather, are quasi-judicial proceedings. (1985 Ohio Op. Att’y. Gen. No. 044 (syllabus, paragraph two, overruled); followed by Groff-Knight v. Bd. of Zoning Appeals of Liberty Twp., 5th Dist. No. 03CAH08042 (2004).

1996-046

The health care quality advisory council created by R.C. 4121.442 is without authority to permit a member who is appointed by the Governor to designate an alternate to vote on such member’s behalf at council meetings.

Pursuant to R.C. 121.05, the Administrator of Workers’ Compensation may designate his assistant or a deputy to serve in his place as a member and chairman of the health care quality advisory council.

1996-010

Absent adoption of a rule by a county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities specifying the day on which its annual organizational meeting is to be held, the board's annual organizational meeting is not one of the regularly scheduled meetings for purposes of the removal provision of R.C. 5126.04.

1995-030

A district advisory council, established pursuant to R.C. 3709.03 has inherent authority to call special meetings of the council by acting through the concurrence of a majority of its members with respect to a particular meeting or by promulgating a procedural rule authorizing specified officers or members of the council to call special meetings; the board of health of a general health district and the state director of health, as expressly provided in R.C. 3709.03, are the only other public authorities with power to call a special meeting of the district advisory council.

1995-001

A PASSPORT administrative agency that is operated by a private not-for-profit agency pursuant to Ohio Admin. Code 5101:3-31-03(A)(1) is a public office as defined at R.C. 149.011(A) for purposes of the public records law and a public body as defined at R.C. 121.22 for purposes of the open meetings law.

1994-096

A committee of private citizens and various public officers or employees that is established by the board of health of a general health district for the purpose of advising the board on matters pertaining to the administration of a state or federal grant program is a public body; where the establishment of the committee is not required or authorized by the terms of the grant or any action of the general health district board, such committee is not a public body.

1994-014

The panel created by the Erie County Court of Common Pleas in Local Rule 17.08(F) is not subject to the open meeting requirements of R.C. 121.22.

1993-033

Pursuant to R.C. 5715.07, all documents relating to the assessment of real property that are in the office of a county board of revision or in the official custody or possession of the board of revision are required to be open to public inspection.

1993-012

The Industrial Commission is a “public body,” as defined in R.C. 121.22(B)(1), and is, therefore, subject to the open meeting requirements of R.C. 121.22. R.C. 4121.36 provides that orders, rules, memoranda, and decisions of the Industrial Commission with respect to hearings conducted under R.C. 4121.36 may be adopted either in a meeting of the Commission or “by circulation to individual commissioners,” and thereby establishes an exception to the requirement of R.C. 121.22 that the Industrial Commission adopt all resolutions, rules, or formal actions in an open meeting.

1992-078

1992-077

An advisory committee legislatively created by a board of county commissioners to make recommendations to the board on matters relating to a proposed county jail is a public body subject to the provisions of R.C. 121.22.

1992-065

A housing advisory board created by a county under R.C. 176.01 is a public body for purposes of R.C. 121.22.

1992-032

A board of township trustees must conduct its open meetings in a public meeting place, as determined in its fair and impartial discretion; board of township trustees may not conduct an executive session from which the public is excluded in order to deliberate about a proposed zoning change, even if the board ultimately votes on that matter in an open meeting, unless the deliberations were solely for the purpose of discussing one or more of the six subject areas listed in R.C. 121.22(G).

1990-028

Unless a statutory or constitutional provision expressly grants a specific officer of a public body the power to make the decision to call a meeting of such body, the power to make the decision is vested in the body itself and not inherently in an individual officer; the decision that a meeting is necessary requires a concurrence of a majority of the body; pursuant to R.C. 5715.09, the secretary of the board of revision has the power to call a meeting of the board as necessary.

1988-087

A board of township trustees has authority to adopt reasonable rules for the conduct of its meetings; such rules may not prohibit audio and video recording of township proceedings, but may regulate such recording to promote the orderly transaction of business without unreasonably interfering with the rights of those present.

1988-029

The Public Utilities Commission Nominating Council is a public body as defined in R.C. 121.22.

1988-003

The word “property,” as used in R.C. 121.22(G)(2), means real and personal property, which includes both tangible and intangible property; the PERS may discuss in executive session the purchase or sale of tangible or intangible property authorized under R.C. 145.11, including but not limited to such items as bonds, notes, stocks, shares, securities, commercial paper, and debt or equity interests.

1985-046

In its development of amendments to the state health plan, the Statewide Health Coordinating Council (SHCC) must, pursuant to R.C. 3702.56(C), follow the procedures set forth in R.C. 119.03(A), (B), (C) and (H), with the exception of requirements imposed pursuant to R.C. 119.03 (D), (E), (F), (G) and (I); in particular, the SHCC must follow the public notice and hearing procedures of R.C. 119.03(A) and (C) and must file proposals with the Secretary of State, the Director of the Legislative Service Commission, and the Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review under R.C. 119.03(B) and (H); but proposed amendments to the state health plan are not subject to invalidation by the General Assembly pursuant to R.C. 119.03(I).

1985-044

A township board of zoning appeals is a public body for purposes of R.C. 121.22; a township board of zoning appeals may not conduct, in an executive session, deliberations concerning zoning appeal heard pursuant to R.C. 519.14(A) or (B). (Syllabus, paragraph two, overruled by 2000 Ohio Op. Att’y Gen. No. 035).

1982-081

A soldiers’ relief commission established pursuant to R.C. 5901.02 is a public body for the purposes of R.C. 121.22.

1981-005

Because the superintendent’s offices are, pursuant to R.C. 3319.19, to be used by the county board of education when it is in session, and because the board’s meetings are required by R.C. 121.22 to be open to the public, the duty of the board of county commissioners to provide and equip offices includes the duty to provide some type of conference facility.

1980-083

A county central committee of a political party is a public body and its members are public officials for purposes of R.C. 121.22; convening the committee pursuant to R.C. 305.02 is a meeting as defined by R.C. 121.22(B)(2), even when the number of members present is fewer than the majority of the total membership; the committee may discuss appointment of a person pursuant to its duties under R.C. 305.02 in executive session under R.C. 121.22(G), however, final voting on such appointment must be held in a public meeting; convening the committee for conducting purely internal party affairs unrelated to the committee’s duties of making appointments to vacant public offices is not a meeting as defined by R.C. 121.22(B)(2). (Syllabus, paragraph four, overruled by 2011 Ohio Op. Att’y Gen. No. 038).

The Safety Codes Committee, created by resolution of the Industrial Commission for the purpose of reviewing safety code requirements and drafting revisions for consideration by the Industrial Commission, is not a public body for the purposes of R.C. 121.22.

1979-061

The governing board of a community improvement corporation, organized in the manner provided in R.C. 1702.04 and R.C. 1724.01 to R.C. 1724.09, inclusive, does not constitute a public body for the purposes of R.C. 121.22 unless it has been designated an agency of a county, municipal corporation, or any combination thereof, pursuant to R.C. 1724.10.

1978-059

The Internal Security Committee, established by the Industrial Commission and the Bureau of Workers' Compensation pursuant to R.C. 4121.22(D), is a public body for purposes of R.C. 121.22.

1977-075

Pursuant to R.C. 4112.05(B), the Ohio Civil Rights Commission may not reveal the final terms of conciliation, written or unwritten, to members of the general public who are not parties to the matters conciliated.
